Paleoanthropology and Paleolithic Archaeology in the People's Republic of China Wu Rukang, John W

Olsen, 2016-09-16 This book represents the first comprehensive attempt to bring to western scholarship the great advances made in Paleolithic archaeology and palaeoanthropology in the People's Republic of China. The 15 chapters are devoted to a historical overview of past and recent studies, the development of chronological frameworks, the composition and stratigraphy of vertebrate fauna, the pongid and hominid palaeontological records, and Pleistocene prehistoric archaeology. Maps, illustrations, and tables illustrate the materials presented here.

The Paleoanthropology of Eastern Asia Christopher J.

Bae, 2024-09-30 Research in human evolution in Asia has long been thought to lag far behind similar research in Africa and Europe. However, the limited dissemination of findings is often to blame rather than a lack of scholarship. The Paleoanthropology of Eastern Asia attempts to rectify this misconception by synthesizing research on human evolution in eastern Asia into a single authoritative and definitive text. Covering the span of time from more than two million years ago to the end of the last Ice Age 15,000 years ago, this book examines key events such as the arrival of the earliest hominins in eastern Asia and the evolution and interaction of various hominin species including Homo erectus, Homo sapiens, and a few more in between. While fossils reveal what these hominins may have looked like, the rich Paleolithic archaeological record yields insights into their behavior. Hand axes have been found in eastern Asia where they were previously believed to have been absent. Watercraft was used by foragers as early as 40,000 years ago to voyage to the Japanese archipelago. In Indonesia, cave art paintings older than those from the Lascaux caves in France have been reported. Such new and important discoveries continue to emerge. Providing comprehensive coverage of paleoanthropological research in eastern Asia from the groundbreaking finds in a cave near Beijing in the early twentieth century to the discovery and identification of new human species during the twenty-first century, this book will captivate anyone interested in the human evolutionary record.

Human Evolution John H. Langdon,2023-01-01 This is an introductory textbook for the study of human evolution and covers all major topics of human origins taught under paleoanthropology anthropology archaeology and evolutionary biology courses This book differs from the existing selection of textbooks in the following ways It incorporates the most recent fossil discoveries and interpretations It balances the discussion between descriptions of fossils and interpretations of behavior of hominins in different time periods It includes current findings of genomics into understanding the more recent stages of human evolution This important subdiscipline is badly underserved by current texts It consistently addresses the relationship of evidence to our current hypotheses and interpretations The book has an engaging and lucid style suitable for those entering the field Students will find ample case studies illustrations and examples helpful in understanding difficult concepts Tables timelines and maps in every chapter include data summaries and key points The book highlights peripheral points and background concepts in side boxes for easy reference and lists key ideas at the end of each chapter This up to date and easy to read text is suitable for both classroom study and self learning Late Cenozoic Yushe Basin, Shanxi Province, China: Geology and Fossil Mammals Lawrence J. Flynn,Wen-Yu Wu,2017-05-20 This volume focuses on small mammal fossils from extinct Asian faunas of about 1 to 7 million years ago in North China These played a role in the emergence of vertebrate paleontology as a modern science in that country This second volume of the sub series Late Cenozoic Yushe Basin Shanxi Province China Geology and Fossil Mammals in the Vertebrate Paleobiology and Paleoanthropology book series deals with a rich microfauna fossil record megafauna follow in subsequent volumes This research on Yushe Basin fossils provides a view of changes in northeast Asian terrestrial faunas during the Late Neogene and therefore is a key to the biochronology for a vast part of the continent. The faunas recovered by the multinational team working in this region represent changes in small mammal communities of the Yushe Basin revealed on a finer time scale that has not been achieved previously. Detailed systematic studies on small mammal groups proceeded under the care of specialists are outlined in the chapters of this volume. Paleontologists, ecologists, and evolutionary biologists will find this book appealing.
