A Palaeographer's View Thomas Julian Brown,1993 Series statement from the Brepols website viewed June 30 2016

The Golden Thread Ewan Clayton,2015-01-20 From the simple representative shapes used to record transactions of goods and services in ancient Mesopotamia to the sophisticated typographical resources available to the twenty first century users of desktop computers the story of writing is the story of human civilization itself Calligraphy expert Ewan Clayton traces the history of an invention which ever since our ancestors made the transition from a nomadic to an agrarian way of life in the eighth century BC has been the method of codification and dissemination of ideas in every field of human endeavour and a motor of cultural scientific and political progress He explores the social and cultural impact of among other stages the invention of the alphabet the replacement of the papyrus scroll with the codex in the late Roman period the perfecting of printing using moveable type in the fifteenth century and the ensuing spread of literacy the industrialization of printing during the Industrial Revolution the impact of artistic Modernism on the written word in the early twentieth century and of the digital switchover at the century s close The Golden Thread also raises issues of urgent interest for a society living in an era of unprecedented change to the tools and technologies of written communication Chief among these is the fundamental question What does it mean to be literate in the early twenty first century The book belongs on the bookshelves of anyone who is inquisitive not just about the centrality of writing in the history of humanity but also about its future it is sure to appeal to lovers of language books and cultural history

The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature Rita Copeland,2016-01-28 The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature OHCREL is designed to offer a comprehensive investigation of the numerous and diverse ways in which literary texts of the classical world have stimulated responses and refashioning by English writers Covering the full range of English literature from the early Middle Ages to the present day OHCREL both synthesizes existing scholarship and presents cutting edge new research employing an international team of expert contributors for each of the five volumes OHCREL endeavours to interrogate rather than inertly reiterate conventional assumptions about literary periods the processes of canon formation and the relations between literary and non literary discourse It conceives of reception as a complex process of dialogic exchange and rather than offering large cultural generalizations it engages in close critical analysis of literary texts It explores in detail the ways in which English writers engagement with classical literature casts as much light on the classical originals as it does on the English writers own cultural context This first volume and fourth to appear in the series covers the years c 800 1558 and surveys the reception and transformation of classical literary culture in England from the Anglo Saxon period up to the Henrician era Chapters on the classics in the medieval curriculum the trivium and quadrivium medieval libraries and medieval mythography provide context for medieval reception The reception of specific classical authors and traditions is represented in chapters on Virgil Ovid Lucan Statius the matter of Troy Boethius moral philosophy historiography biblical epics English learning in the twelfth century and the role of antiquity in medieval alliterative poetry The medieval section includes coverage of Chaucer Gower and Lydgate while the part of the volume dedicated to the later period explores early English humanism humanist education and libraries in the Henrician era and includes chapters that focus on the classicism of Skelton Douglas Wyatt and Surrey The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature David Hopkins, Charles Martindale, Norman Vance, Rita Copeland, Patrick Cheney, Philip R. Hardie, Jennifer Wallace, 2012 The present volume 3 is the first to appear of the five that will comprise The Oxford History of Classical Reception in English Literature henceforth OHCREL Each volume of OHCREL will have its own editor or team of editors Preface The Sense of Quoting David W. Odell-Scott, 2018-07-17 In The Sense of Quoting Odell Scott argues that the neutral continuous script of ancient manuscripts of the Greek New Testament composed with no punctuation and no spacing provided readers discretionary authority to determine and assess the status of phrases as they articulate a cohesive and coherent reading of the script The variety of reading renditions each differently scored with punctuation supported the production of quotations These cultivated and harvested quotes while useful for authorizing sectarian discourse rarely convey the sense of the phrase in the continuous script Augustine's work on punctuating the scriptures in service to the production of plainer quotable passages in support of the rule of faith is addressed Odell Scott's textual analysis of a plainer quotable passage at verse 7 1b concerning male celibacy supports his thesis that plainer passages are the product of interpretative scoring of the script in service to discursive endeavours To quote is often to misquote The Sister Fidelma Mysteries Edward J. Rielly, David Robert Wooten, 2012-08-09 This is a collection of new essays on Peter Tremayne's Sister Fidelma novels which feature Sister Fidelma's attempts to solve a wide range of crimes often murders that occur under especially mysterious conditions The novels set mainly in 7th century Ireland also include a great deal of history which is not surprising given that the author is actually Peter Berresford Ellis a noted Celtic historian Some of the essays analyze aspects of the novels focusing especially on the protagonist and her partner in detection and ultimately husband Brother Eadulf Other essays place Fidelma and the novels within the tradition of detective fiction Still others explore the historical intellectual spiritual and geographical contexts for her labors Also included are accounts of the author's career the International Sister Fidelma Society and the biennial Sister Fidelma conferences held in Cashel Ireland Abbreviating Middle English Justyna Rogos-Hebda, 2025-02-12 Abbreviating Middle English Scribal practices Visual Texts and Medieval Multimodalities investigates the changing dynamics of scribal abbreviating practices in a corpus of late Middle English manuscripts of Richard Rolle's John Lydgate's and John Gower's works and reinterprets these practices from new perspectives of visual pragmatics medieval multimodalities and visual code switching Spanning the boundaries of manuscript studies cultural semiotics and text image approaches to pre modern written sources the book studies scribal abbreviations and medieval visuality and links them with modern practices of textuality by combining tools and methods of traditional disciplines employed in the study of historical texts as well as those developed for the analyses of modern discourse Justyna Rogos Hebda outlines the main directions in abbreviation studies describes research methods and considers the broader developments in manuscript studies integrating aspects of materialist philology multimodality theory visual pragmatics and visual and code switching into descriptive analytical models of medieval textualities Rogos Hebda aims to problematize abbreviation within the socio cultural contexts of medieval mentalities Christian hermeneutics and Middle English multilingualism to unpack the multilayered motivations for the practices of scribal communities
