Rise Of The Asian Superpowers:

Rise of the Asian Superpowers from 1945 Nigel De Lee, 1987-01-01 Surveys the modern history of countries such as Japan China and India and discusses the conflicts between Asian nations Central Asia and the Rise of Normative Powers Emilian Kavalski, 2012-10-15 This book offers a unique analytical investigation of the international politics of the EU China and India in the context of their security strategies in Central Asia It shows how the interaction between these three actors is likely to change the frameworks and practices of international relations This is studied through their interactions with central Asia using the framework of normative powers and the concept of regional security governance Briefly a normative power shapes a target state s attitudes and perceptions as it internalizes and adopts the perspectives of the normative power as the norm The work comparatively studies the dynamics that have allowed Beijing Brussels and New Delhi to articulate security mechanisms in Central Asia and become rising normative powers This innovative study does not aim to catalog foreign policies but to uncover the dominant perceptions cognitive structures and practices that guide these actors regional agency as exemplified through the context of Central Asia It will be an essential resource for anyone studying international relations international relations theory and foreign policy analysis Leadership and the Rise of Great Powers Xuetong Yan, 2020-12-22 A leading foreign policy thinker uses Chinese political theory to explain why some powers rise as others decline and what this means for the international order Why has China grown increasingly important in the world arena while lagging behind the United States and its allies across certain sectors Using the lens of classical Chinese political theory Leadership and the Rise of Great Powers explains China s expanding influence by presenting a moral realist theory that attributes the rise and fall of great powers to political leadership Yan Xuetong shows that the stronger a rising state s political leadership the more likely it is to displace a prevailing state in the international system Yan shows how rising states like China transform the international order by reshaping power distribution and norms and he considers America s relative decline in international stature even as its economy education system military political institutions and technology hold steady Leadership and the Rise of Great Powers offers a provocative alternative perspective on the changing dominance of states Strategic Asia 2010-11: Asia's Rising Power and America's Continued Purpose Ashley J. Tellis, Andrew Marble, Travis Tanner, 2010-09-29 Strategic Asia 2010 11 Asia s Rising Power and America s Continued Purpose marks the tenth anniversary edition of NBR s Strategic Asia series and takes stock of the Strategic Asia region by providing an integrated perspective on the major issues that influence stability in the region In this volume leading experts examine Asia s performance in nine key functional areas to provide a continent wide net assessment of the core trends and issues affecting the region Power Transition in Asia David Walton, Emilian Kavalski, 2016-08-12 Current preoccupations with the rise of Asia attest to the nascent contestation of the very idea of what the pattern of international politics should look like and how it should be practiced In this respect the growing reference to a shift to the East in global politics has become a popular shorthand for the nascent power transition in world affairs This volume offers a detailed conceptual and empirical investigation of the dynamics of power transition in Asia and details the accommodation strategies and coping mechanisms of different small and middle powers in Asia and importantly China's responses to these approaches The Impact of Asian Powers on Global Developments Erich Reiter, Peter Hazdra, 2004-01-12 The international political and military strategic importance of the Asian continent has dramatically increased in recent years and it is conceivable that world affairs in this century will be significantly influenced by developments in Asia This volume examines on the one hand the strategic goals of the most influential powers in the Eurasian region in particular India Pakistan China Russia and Japan but also the USA that is strongly involved in the region and on the other the relations that these states have with each other Special attention is paid to the subjective perceptions and thought patterns of the different players for the perception that international political players have of the outside world is an important element that is frequently neglected in political and military analyses

Superpower, China? Historicizing Beijing's New Narratives Of Leadership And East Asia's Response Thereto

Niv Horesh, Hyun Jin Kim, Peter Mauch, 2014-10-27 This book sets out to answer how China's rise can best be understood from both East Asian and Western perspectives It also assesses the prospect of realignment away from the US hegemony in East Asia in light of persistent regional rivalries Throughout the book the authors show that for China's neighbours as well as for its own intellectuals historicizing the country's rise provides one way of understanding its current ascendant trajectory on the one hand and acute social problems on the other To which historical precedent should one turn Did Japanese Prime Minister Abe Shinzo get it right when he recently likened the contemporary Sino Japanese relationship to that of Germany and Britain on the eve of World War I Is Harvard Law School's Noah Feldman correct in his assertion that China and the United States are on the verge not of a Cold War but of a Cool War in which a classic struggle for power is unfolding at the same time as economic cooperation is becoming deeper The authors examine these questions and also focus on other observations that becloud China's rise

Shifting Power in Asia-Pacific? Enrico Fels, 2016-11-03 This book investigates whether a power shift has taken place in the Asia Pacific region since the end of the Cold War By systematically examining the development of power dynamics in Asia Pacific it challenges the notion that a wealthier and militarily more powerful China is automatically turning the regional tides in its favour With a special emphasis on Sino US competition the book explores the alleged linkage between the regional distribution of relevant material and immaterial capabilities national power and the much cited regional power shift The book presents a novel concept for measuring power in international relations by outlining a composite index on aggregated power CIAP that includes 55 variables for 44 regional countries and covers a period of twenty years Moreover it develops a middle power theory that outlines the significance of middle powers in times of major power shifts By addressing political military and economic cooperation via a structured focused comparison and by applying a comparative historical analysis the book analyses in depth the bilateral relations of six regional middle powers to

Washington and Beijing Southeast Asia and the Rise of Chinese and Indian Naval Power Sam Bateman, Joshua Ho, 2014-06-03 This book examines the emerging maritime security scene in Southeast Asia It considers highly topical implications for the region of possible strategic competition between China and India the rising naval powers of Asia with a possible naval arms race emerging between these countries both with naval force development and operations As part of its Look East policy India has deployed naval units to the Pacific Ocean for port visits and exercises both with East Asian navies and the US Navy but India is also concerned about the possibility of the Chinese Navy operating in the Indian Ocean Even as the US India defence relationship continues to deepen the US and China are struggling to build a closer links China s and India s strategic interests overlap in this region both in maritime strategic competition or conflict which might be played out in the Bay of Bengal the Malacca and Singapore Straits and the South China Sea The sea lines of communication SLOCs through Southeast Asian waters constitute vital choke points between the Indian and Pacific Oceans carrying essential energy supplies for China and other Northeast Asian countries Any strategic competition between China and India has implications for other major maritime players in the Pacific and Indian Oceans especially Australia the Republic of Korea and Japan as well as the US This book identifies possible cooperative and confidence building measures that may contribute to enhanced relations between these two major powers and dampen down the risks associated with their strategic competition
