

Fire Risk Assessment

Fire risk assessment is a legal requirement for every workplace. Even a small fire could have fatal consequences and will have serious financial implications for any business.

Safety point	Why?	How do you do this?
By law a competent person must carry out a fire risk assessment of the premises.	A competent person will have the knowledge to identify the risks and suggest practical precautions you can take.	By developing your own knowledge, training a suitable, interested member of staff, or employing a qualified advisor. Ask for information from your Fire Authority.

Use the blank fire assessment form provided on the last page to go through this process and do a fire risk assessment of your premises. Photocopy the form for additional areas if required.

Fire safety risk assessment

1	Identify fire hazards Identify: • sources of ignition such as naked flames • sources of fuel such as flammable liquids • sources of oxygen such as the air around us
2	Identify people at risk Identify: • people in and around the premises and • people who are especially at risk
3	Evaluate, remove or reduce, and protect from risk • Evaluate the risk of a fire starting • Evaluate the risk to people from a fire • Remove or reduce fire hazards • Remove or reduce the risks to people from a fire • Protect people by providing fire precautions
4	Record, plan, inform, instruct and train • Record any major findings and action you have taken • Discuss and work with other responsible people • Prepare an emergency plan • Inform and instruct relevant people • Provide training
5	Review • Review your fire-risk assessment regularly • Make changes where necessary

Remember to review your fire-risk assessment regularly
