Robinson for the Defence Larry Robinson, Chrys Goyens, 1988 General Defences in Criminal Law Alan Reed, Michael Bohlander, 2016-04-15 The law relating to general defences is one of the most important areas in the criminal law yet the current state of the law in the United Kingdom reveals significant problems in the adoption of a consistent approach to their doctrinal and theoretical underpinnings as exemplified by a number of recent developments in legislation and case law A coherent and joined up approach is still missing This volume provides an analysis of the main contentious areas in British law and proposes ways forward for reform The collection includes contributions from leading experts across various jurisdictions Part I examines the law in the United Kingdom with specialist contributions on Irish and Scottish law Part II consists of contributions by authors from a number of foreign jurisdictions all written to a common research grid for maximum comparability which provide a wider background of how other legal systems treat problems relating to general defences in the context of the criminal law and which may serve as points of reference for domestic law reform

Zeppelin vs British Home Defence 1915-18 Jon Guttman, 2018-03-09 When Ferdinand Graf von Zeppelin's rigid airship LZ 1 flew over Lake Constance in 1900 it was the most advanced and impressive flying machine in the world a colossal lighter than air craft capable of controlled flight In World War I Zeppelins were first used in a reconnaissance role but on 19 January 1915 Kaiser Wilhelm II authorised their use in bombing strategic targets in England From then on Zeppelin became synonymous with terror to the British and indeed the airship's effectiveness was more psychological than material Still their raids compelled the Royal Flying Corps and Royal Naval Air Service to embark on a program of modernising their aerial defences accelerating a process that would ultimately make the aeroplane rather than the airship the paramount flying machine of the war Using specially commissioned artwork contemporary photographs and first hand accounts this book tells the fascinating story of Britain's first Blitz from the airships who terrorised the public to the men who sought to defend the skies John Robinson and the English Separatist Tradition Timothy George, 1982 This study was undertaken with the belief that a careful reading of Robinson's works would yield a more accurate assessment of his

Index to Military Periodicals ,1998 Mental State Defences in Criminal Law Steven Yannoulidis,2016-04-22 By defining appropriate boundaries for the defence of insanity and the doctrine of automatism this book presents a consistent and principled approach to the reform of mental state defences In particular by undertaking an interdisciplinary analysis of the various factors that inform these defences the book concludes with several practical and robust reform proposals There are three objectives that underpin the suggested reform proposals First to ensure that an accused will be able to raise a defence of insanity for involuntary conduct arising from mental disorder even where he or she is aware of the nature and quality of such conduct Second to provide principled means by which to establish the criminal responsibility of an accused for conduct performed in a state of drug induced psychosis Third to ensure that criminal conduct arising from a state of impaired consciousness does not automatically result in the outright acquittal of an accused In articulating the competing demands
