Rogsonian Perspectives Collaborative Rhetoric For Oral And Written Communication Writing Research S:

Rogsonian Perspectives Nathaniel Teich, 1992 Advancing the application of Carl Rogers ideas this book presents new theoretical and practical views of Rogsonian influences on rhetorical theory the teaching of writing and pragmatic discourse Practically the contributors focus on the dynamics of Rogsonian communication in real world contexts extending Rogers person centered principles into classroom interactions peer response groups and other collaborations Theoretically discussions situate Rogsonian principles within the contexts of persuasive and dialogical rhetoric and of psychoanalytic and philosophical intersubjectivity Also included are transcripts of an interview with Rogers and a forum discussion epitomizing Rogsonian principles in action

Language and Image in the Reading-Writing Classroom Kristie S. Fleckenstein, Linda T. Calendrillo, Demetrice A. Worley, 2002-02-01 This volume offers concrete answers to the question of how we can use imagery to enrich the teaching of reading and writing The chapters are organized according to two guiding principles First each addresses specific aspects of the inextricable integration of imagery and language in the teaching of reading and writing Imagery is not privileged over language the fusion of the two is emphasized Second each focuses on a particular kind of imagery mental graphic or verbal describing teaching learning strategies based on the deployment of that kind of imagery in the classroom There is currently a renewed acknowledgment of the importance of imagery in meaning The rapid spread of the World Wide Web computer interfacing and virtual reality further highlights the need to attend to the influence of imagery in a networked world In response to these shifts in scholarly and cultural perspectives NCTE has established a committee on visual literacy and an emphasis on visual literacy has been incorporated into the IRA NCTE Standards for the English Language Arts This book contributes significantly toward filling the need for explicit and specific theory based methods teachers can use to integrate imagery into their pedagogy Accessible and lively chapters include classroom activities and student generated examples Language and Image in the Reading Writing Classroom is an excellent text for preservice and in service pedagogy courses and an important resource for practicing teachers researchers and professionals in the field

Genre in the Classroom Ann M. Johns, 2001-11-01 For the first time the major theoretical and pedagogical approaches to genre and related issues of social construction are presented in a single volume providing an overview of the state of the art for practitioners in applied linguistics ESL EFL pedagogies rhetoric and composition studies around the world Unlike volumes that present one theoretical stance this book attempts to give equal time to all theoretical and pedagogical camps Included are chapters by authors from the Sydney School the New Rhetoric and English for Specific Purposes as well as contributions from other practitioners who pose questions that cross theoretical lines Genre in the Classroom includes all of the major theoretical views of genre that influence pedagogical practice takes an international approach drawing from all parts of the world in which genre theory has been applied in the classroom Australia

Canada Hong Kong the Middle East the United States features contributors who are all both theorists and classroom practitioners lending credibility and authenticity to the arguments combines theory and practice in every chapter showing how particular theoretical views influence classroom practice grounds pedagogical practices in their own regional and theoretical histories openly discusses problems and questions that genre theory raises and presents some of the solutions suggested and offers a concluding chapter that argues for two macro genres and with responses to this argument by noted genre theorists from three theoretical camps

Notes on the Heart Susan H. McLeod, 1997 It has long been recognized that affect that is the noncognitive aspect of mental activity plays a large role in writing and in learning to write According to Susan H McLeod however the model that has been most used for empirical research on the writing process is based on cognitive psychology and does not take into account affective phenomena Nor does the social constructionist view of the writing process acknowledge the affective realm except in a very general way To understand the complete picture McLeod insists we need to explore how cognitive affective and social elements interact as people write In this book McLeod follows a group of students through a semester of writing assignments tracking the students progress and examining the affective elements relevant to their writing To facilitate future discussion of these phenomena McLeod also provides suggested definitions for terms in the affective domain In a very real sense this book is the result of a collaboration of three Susans Susan McLeod who researched and wrote the book Sue Hallett an instructor in Washington State University's composition program whose classes McLeod observed and who helped provide much of the data and Susan Parker a graduate student who observed Hallett's class and who ran a tutorial connected to that class To provide a narrative structure McLeod and her two collaborators have constructed a simulated semester conflating the year and a half of the study into one semester and creating a class that is a composite drawn from seven classrooms over three semesters Although philosophers have had much to say about the affective domain Notes on the Heart is based for the most part on research from the social sciences Discussions of pedagogy while meant to have practical value are suggestive rather than prescriptive The goal is to help teachers see their practice in new way Teachers will be particularly interested in McLeod's discussion of teacher affect effect This section examines both the issue of the Pygmalion effect students becoming better because the teacher believes they are and perhaps the more common opposite the golem effect students becoming less capable because their teachers view them that way

Baumlín, Tita French Baumlín,1994 Features 16 original essays by prominent rhetoricians critical theorists and composition specialists many of which offer alternative histories as well as reinterpretations of classic texts thus expanding the canon and locating and analyzing competing cultural traditions of ethos and ethical argument Lacks an index Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR      CCCC Bibliography of Composition and Rhetoric 1992 Gail E. Hawisher, Cynthia L. Selfe,1994-04 The CCCC Bibliography of Composition and Rhetoric published for the Conference on College Composition and Communication offers teachers and researchers an annual classified listing of scholarship on written English and its teaching at the college level. The 1992 volume lists and annotates 1 656 articles, books, dissertations and papers that with few exceptions were published during the 1992 calendar year. A group of 149 contributing bibliographers prepared the citations and annotations for the entries appearing in this volume. The CCCC Bibliography includes an index of authors and editors, a subject index and entries cross referenced according to subject matter. Considerably more comprehensive than other bibliographies in composition studies, the CCCC Bibliography of Composition and Rhetoric draws upon a large group of experts in the field to aid teachers and researchers in sorting through a vast body of interdisciplinary material, making their work easier and more effective. Further, the range of texts represented in the CCCC Bibliography has been expanded to include a greater number of entries dealing with feminism, critical theory, technology and cultural studies as they relate to composition and rhetoric. Each document is cited and annotated only once under one of the five major sections of the CCCC Bibliography. Each entry, however, receives an entry number so that cross references to other sections are possible. This feature is especially useful because much scholarship in composition and rhetoric is interdisciplinary in nature. Cross references appear as a listing of entry numbers preceded by "See also" found at the ends of subsections. Entries appear under five major categories: bibliographies and checklists; theory and research; teacher education; administration and social roles; curriculum and testing; measurement and evaluation. Although the CCCC Bibliography excludes master's theses, textbooks, computer software and book reviews from its coverage, it furnishes citations to review essays, articles appearing in some 228 journals, scholarly monographs and essay collections, dissertations abstracted in Dissertation Abstracts International and selected documents and conference materials available through ERIC.
