Encyclopedia of Modern Coral Reefs David Hopley, 2010-11-26 Coral reefs are the largest landforms built by plants and animals Their study therefore incorporates a wide range of disciplines This encyclopedia approaches coral reefs from an earth science perspective concentrating especially on modern reefs Currently coral reefs are under high stress most prominently from climate change with changes to water temperature sea level and ocean acidification particularly damaging Modern reefs have evolved through the massive environmental changes of the Quaternary with long periods of exposure during glacially lowered sea level periods and short periods of interglacial growth The entries in this encyclopedia condense the large amount of work carried out since Charles Darwin first attempted to understand reef evolution Leading authorities from many countries have contributed to the entries covering areas of geology geography and ecology providing comprehensive access to the most up to date research on the structure form and processes operating on Quaternary coral reefs

Handbook of Business Discourse Francesca Bargiela-Chiappini, 2009-05-12 The Handbook of Business Discourse is the most comprehensive overview of the field to date It offers an accessible and authoritative introduction to a range of historical disciplinary methodological and cultural perspectives on business discourse and addresses many of the pressing issues facing a growing varied and increasingly international field of research The collection also illustrates some of the challenges of defining and delimiting a relatively recent and eclectic field of studies including debates on the very definition of business discourse Part

One includes chapters on the origins advances and features of business discourse in Europe North America Australia and New Zealand Part Two covers methodological approaches such as mediated communication corpus linguistics organisational discourse multimodality race and management communication and rhetorical analysis Part Three moves on to look at disciplinary perspectives such as sociology pragmatics gender studies intercultural communication linguistic anthropology and business communication Part Four looks at cultural perspectives across a range of geographical areas including Spain Brazil Japan Korea China and Vietnam The concluding section reflects on future developments in Europe North America and Asia

Crafting Minoanisation Joanne Elizabeth Cutler, 2021-10-31 The mid second millennium BC material record of the southern Aegean shows evidence of strong Cretan influence This phenomenon has traditionally been seen in terms of Minoanisation but the nature and degree of Cretan influence and the process processes by which it was spread and adopted have been widely debated This new study addresses the question of Minoanisation through a study of the adoption of Cretan technologies in the wider southern Aegean principally weaving technology By the early Late Bronze Age Cretan style discoid loom weights had appeared at a number of settlements across the southern Aegean In most cases this represents not only the adoption of a particular type of loom weight but also the introduction of a new weaving technology the use of the warp weighted loom The evidence for and the implications of the adoption of this new technology is examined Drawing upon recent advances in textile experimental archaeology the types of textiles that are likely to have been produced at a range of sites both on Crete itself and in the wider southern Aegean are discussed and the likely nature and scale of textile production at the various settlements is assessed A consideration of the evidence for the timing and extent of the adoption of Cretan weaving technology in the light of additional evidence for the adoption of other Cretan technologies is used to gain insight into the potential social and economic strategies engaged in by various groups across the southern Aegean as well as the motivations that may have driven the adoption and adaptation of Cretan cultural traits and accompanying behaviors By examining how technological skills and techniques are learned and considering possible mechanisms for the transmission of such technical knowledge and know how new perspectives can be proposed concerning the processes through which Cretan techniques were taken up and imitated abroad
