Sasanian And Post Sasanian Glass In The Corning Museum Of Glass:

Sasanian and Post-Sasanian Glass in the Corning Museum of Glass David Whitehouse, Robert H. Brill, 2005 No Sasanian glass collection of comparable size and variety has yet been published and thus the objects at Corning provide a starting point for anyone who wishes to study the glass made in the Sasanian Empire Neighbours and Successors of Rome Daniel Keller, Jennifer Price, Caroline Jackson, 2014-05-30 Presented through 20 case studies covering Europe and the Near East Neighbours and Successors of Rome investigates development in the production of glass and the mechanisms of the wider glass economy as part of a wider material culture in Europe and the Near East around the later first millennium AD Though highlighting and solidifying chronology patterns of distribution and typology the primary aims of the collection are to present a new methodology that emphasises regional workshops scientific data and the wider trade culture This methodology embraces a shift in conceptual approach to the study of glass by explaining typological change through the existence of a thriving supra national commercial network that responded to market demands and combines the results of a range of new scientific techniques into a framework that stresses co dependence and similarities between the various sites considered Such an approach particularly within Byzantine and Early Islamic glass production is a pioneering concept that contextualises individual sites within the wider region By twinning a critique of archaeometric methods with the latest archaeological research the contributors present a foundation for glass research seen through the lens of consumption demands and geographical necessity that analyses production centres and traditional typological knowledge In so doing they bridge an important divide by demonstrating the co habitability of diverse approaches and disciplines linking for example the production of Campanulate bowls from Gallaecia with the burgeoning international late antique style Equally the particular details of those pieces allow us to identify a regional style as well as local production As such this compilation provides a highly valuable resource for archaeologists anthropologists and art historians Sasanian Archaeology: Settlements, Environment and Material Culture St John Simpson, 2022-12-22 This collection of essays offers an examination of the Sasanian empire based almost entirely on archaeological and scientific research much presented here for the first time The book is divided into three parts examining Sasanian sites settlements and landscapes their complex agricultural resources and their crafts and industries Islamic Glass in the Making Nadine Schibille, 2022-03-31 New insights into the history of Islamic glassmaking The ancient glass industry changed dramatically towards the end of the first millennium The Roman glassmaking tradition of mineral soda glass was increasingly supplanted by the use of plant ash as the main fluxing agent at the turn of the ninth century CE Defining primary production groups of plant ash glass has been a challenge due to the high variability of raw materials and the smaller scale of production Islamic Glass in the Making advocates a large scale archaeometric approach to the history of Islamic glassmaking to trace the developments in the production trade and consumption of vitreous materials between the eighth and twelfth centuries and to separate the norm from the exception It proposes compositional discriminants to distinguish regional production groups and provides insights into the organisation of the glass industry and commerce during the early Islamic period The interdisciplinary approach leads to a holistic understanding of the development of Islamic glass assemblages from the early Islamic period in Mesopotamia Central Asia Egypt Greater Syria and Iberia are evaluated and placed in the larger geopolitical context In doing so this book fills a gap in the present literature and advances a large scale approach to the history of Islamic glass

Ancient Arms Race: Antiquity's Largest Fortresses and Sasanian Military Networks of Northern Iran Eberhard Sauer, Jebrael Nokandeh, Hamid Omrani Rekavandi, 2023-02-16 Which ancient army boasted the largest fortifications and how did the competitive build up of military capabilities shape world history Few realise that imperial Rome had a serious competitor in Late Antiquity Late Roman legionary bases normally no larger than 5ha were dwarfed by Sasanian fortresses often covering 40ha sometimes even 125 175ha The latter did not necessarily house permanent garrisons but sheltered large armies temporarily perhaps numbering 10 50 000 men each Even Roman camps and fortresses of the Early and High Empire did not reach the dimensions of their later Persian counterparts The longest fort lined wall of the late antique world was also Persian Persia built up between the fourth and sixth centuries AD the most massive military infrastructure of any ancient or medieval Near Eastern empire if not the ancient and medieval world Much of the known defensive network was directed against Persia s powerful neighbours in the north rather than the west This may reflect differences in archaeological visibility more than troop numbers Urban garrisons in the Romano Persian frontier zone are much harder to identify than vast geometric compounds in marginal northern lands Recent excavations in Iran have enabled us to precision date two of the largest fortresses of Southwest Asia both larger than any in the Roman world Excavations in a Gorgan Wall fort have shed much new light on frontier life and we have unearthed a massive bridge nearby A sonar survey has traced the terminal of the Tammisheh Wall now submerged under the waters of the Caspian Sea Further work has focused on a vast city and settlements in the hinterland Persia s Imperial Power our previous project had already shed much light on the Great Wall of Gorgan but it was our recent fieldwork that has thrown the sheer magnitude of Sasanian military infrastructure into sharp relief were found during the excavations The volume also reports on five lead seals dating from the late 9th to the 10th century an uncommon find but one which when considered with the contemporary coins suggests that for 100 years the Vrina Plain was Butrint Exploring urbanism in ancient North Syria Michael Blömer, Engelbert Winter, 2022-07-18 This book accounts for the results of fieldwork in Doliche located in Gaziantep South East Turkey Doliche was an important city of ancient North Syria which continued to thrive into the Middle Ages For the first time an international research project started to explore the site in 2015 The chapters collected in this volume discuss the main discoveries of the first seasons It is divided in two parts The first part considers the main excavation results with a particular emphasis on a newly discovered early Christian basilica and its decoration This section also contains the first comprehensive discussion of a newly discovered Roman Imperial hypogeum from the city necropolis The chapters of the second part deal with the preliminary findings from an intra urban intensive survey Between 2017 and 2019 a significant portion of the city area has been investigated and the results of the survey offer new insights in the spatial and chronological of the city The chapters consider methodological questions but also discuss artefact groups In general the results presented in this volume add to the knowledge of urbanism in Roman and Late antique North Syria A Cultural History of Chemistry in the Middle Ages Charles Burnett, Sébastien

Persia, Rise and Legacy: The Unity of the Ancient World Learn Alchemical, 2025-08-05

The story of Persia is not born in isolation It emerges like a shard of pottery found layered deep beneath more familiar ruins from a broader older and more entangled world Long before the name Persia echoed in the courts of Babylon the valleys of the Zagros Mountains and the plains of Khuzistan pulsed with the rhythms of older civilizations Elamites Assyrians Babylonians and Medes To truly understand the rise of Persia is to first understand the world that surrounded it and in many ways made it possible The earliest glimpses of the people we now call Persians appear not in their own voices but in the accounts of others The first written records mentioning the Persians date to the ninth century BCE when Assyrian King Shalmaneser III waged campaigns through the rugged lands of the central Zagros These Assyrian records describe a region populated by Iranian speaking peoples scattered semi nomadic loosely federated who offered tribute or more often resistance to Assyrian expansion The term Parsua applied by the Assyrians to one such area gives us the first linguistic seed of what would later blossom into Parsa or Persia But the voice of the Persians themselves their inner world remains mute in this early era
