, Joan of Arc Robert Southey,1894 Joan of Arc, and minor poems Robert Southey,1854 Minor Poems, Ballads, and Joan of Arc Robert Southey,1858 A Ride on Horseback to Florence Through France and Switzerland Augusta Macgregor Holmes,1842 Joan of Arc, Ballads, Lyrics, and Minor Poems Robert Southey,1857 A Ride On Horseback to Florence Through France and Switzerland Augusta Macgregor Holmes,2024-05-25 Reprint of the original first published in 1842 Joan of Arc, Ballads, Lyrics and Minor Poems by Robert Southey Robert Southey,1857 A ride on horseback to Florence through France and Switzerland, letters by a lady [mrs. D. Holmes]. mrs. Dalkeith Holmes,1842 A Ride on Horseback to Florence Through France and Switzerland Dalkeith Holmes,1842 Race, Romanticism, and the Atlantic Paul Youngquist,2016-05-23 In highlighting the crucial contributions of diasporic people to British cultural production this important collection defamiliarizes prevailing descriptions of Romanticism as the expression of a national character or culture The contributors approach the period from the perspective of the Atlantic maritime economy making a strong case for viewing British Romanticism as the effect of myriad economic and cultural exchanges occurring throughout a circum Atlantic world driven by an insatiable hunger for sugar and slaves Typically taken for granted the material contributions of slaves sailors and servants shaped Romanticism both in spite of and because of the severe conditions they experienced throughout the Atlantic world The essays range from Sierra Leone to Jamaica to Nova Scotia to the metropole examining not only the desperate circumstances of diasporic peoples but also the extraordinary force of their creativity and resistance Of particular importance is the emergence of race as a category of identity class and containment Race Romanticism and the Atlantic explores that process both economically and theoretically showing how race ensures the persistence of servitude after abolition At the same time the collection never loses sight of the extraordinary contributions diasporic peoples made to British culture during the Romantic era Within the Walls Geoff Aird,2021-01-05 Kevin Devine is found dead on the beach Tied to a stake beaten and left to drown as the tide came in even the police are shocked at the savagery of the crime Goagsie Mackay the rookie detective working the case has little evidence and few leads the case is stalling Elijah Bootle a traumatised burnt out criminal Met Police profiler arrives in the town seeking refuge from his demons The murder of a child in London has put him over the edge He is in Berwick for rest and repair Jez Guinness a school teacher from Edinburgh has returned to Berwick for the funeral of his life long friend A chance meeting with Elijah in the chip shop leads to friendship and a growing interest with the crime Behind the facade of sedate tranquillity of this holiday town lies a dark underbelly Amongst the narrow lanes and cobbled streets Elijah Jez and Goagsie learn there are dark secrets and dangerous men A Century of Sonnets Paula R. Feldman,Daniel Robinson,2002-12-20 A Century of Sonnets is a striking reminder that some of the best known and most well respected poems of the Romantic era were sonnets It presents the broad and rich context of such favorites as Percy Bysshe Shelley s Ozymandias John Keats s On First Looking Into Chapman s

Homer and William Wordsworth's Composed Upon Westminster Bridge by tracing the sonnet revival in England from its beginning in the hands of Thomas Edwards and Charlotte Smith to its culmination in the poetry of Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Dante Gabriel Rossetti. Expertly edited by Paula R Feldman and Daniel Robinson, this volume is the first in modern times to collect the sonnets of the Romantic period many never before published in the twentieth century and contains nearly five hundred examples composed between 1750 and 1850 by 81 poets, nearly half of them women. A Century of Sonnets includes in their entirety such important but difficult to find sonnet sequences as William Wordsworth's The River Duddon, Mary Robinson's Sappho and Phaon, and Robert Southey's Poems on the Slave Trade, along with Browning's enduring classic Sonnets from the Portuguese. The poems collected here express the full sweep of human emotion and explore a wide range of themes including love, grief, politics, friendship, nature, art, and the enigmatic character of poetry itself. Indeed, for many poets, the sonnet form elicited their strongest work. A Century of Sonnets shows us that far from disappearing with Shakespeare and the English Renaissance, the sonnet underwent a remarkable rebirth in the Romantic period, giving us a rich body of work that continues to influence poets even today.

Rowing News, 1997-04-27 The Nautical Magazine and Journal of the Royal Naval Reserve, 1891 Porton Audrey Davidson, 2005. After Audrey's visit to Bougainville and the battlefield at Porton Plantation, she met survivors of that battle who gave graphic descriptions of the short and bloody encounter. Biogeography of the West Indies Charles Arthur Woods, 1989 Oceanographical Engineering Robert L. Wiegel, 2013-09-03. As is the case with many modern fields of study, oceanographical engineering cuts across the boundaries of several disciplines. Like other scientific endeavors, it aims to understand the nature of the ocean and to make use of this understanding for the benefit of humanity through better ports, safer and more economical operations at sea, and greater use of the ocean's natural resources: food, raw materials, and recreation. This graduate-level text requires a knowledge of fluid mechanics; a background in the motions of sediments in fluids is advisable, as is a concurrent course in structural dynamics. Topics include the theory of periodic waves, tsunamis, storm surges, and harbor oscillations; the effect of structures on waves; waves in shoaling water; tides and sea level changes; currents, shores, and shore processes; some characteristics of the ocean's waters; moorings and other related subjects. Certain portions of the book, pertaining to the distribution of temperatures and salinities in the ocean, are largely descriptive; other portions, such as the sections on waves, are mathematical. Numerous drawings and photographs supplement the text.
