Making Economic Policy:

The Making of Economic Policy Avinash K. Dixit, 1998-09-01 The Making of Economic Policy begins by observing that most countries trade policies are so blatantly contrary to all the prescriptions of the economist that there is no way to understand this discrepancy except by delving into the politics The same is true for many other dimensions of economic policy Avinash Dixit looks for an improved understanding of the politics of economic policy making from a transaction cost perspective Such costs of planning implementing and monitoring an exchange have proved critical to explaining many phenomena in industrial organization Dixit discusses the variety of similar transaction costs encountered in the political process of making economic policy and how these costs affect the operation of different institutions and policies Dixit organizes a burgeoning body of research in political economy in this framework He uses U S fiscal policy and the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade GATT as two examples that illustrate the framework and show how policy often deviates from the economist's ideal of efficiency The approach reveals however that some seemingly inefficient practices are quite creditable attempts to cope with transaction costs such as opportunism and asymmetric information Copublished with the Center for Economic Studies and the Ifo Institute A Year Inside the Beltway Sue Headlee, 2002-07-30 American domestic and international economic policymaking is a sometimes bewildering mixture of economic expertise and political interests Headlee elucidates the pivotal debates of the 2000 2001 economic policymaking cycle by walking readers through the major institutions and introducing the key actors involved A section on domestic policy starts with a chapter on the state of the U S economy followed by chapters on making fiscal policy monetary policy and labor policy Each of these chapters on making policy is illustrated by case studies on Social Security reform the Federal Reserve as financial crisis manager and women and the economy The international policy section starts with a chapter on the state of the global economy followed by chapters on making trade policy international monetary and financial policy at the U S Treasury reforming the IMF and the economic development of China A useful introduction to the ins and outs of beltway policymaking for students of economics politics and policymaking The Politics of American Economic Policy Making Paul Peretz, 2016-09-16 A reader on American government and the economy It contains wide ranging articles by people such as Richard Musgrave Milton Friedman James Buchanan and Alan Greenspan The Making of United States International Economic Policy Stephen D. Cohen, 1988 United States Foreign Economic Policy-making Kenneth A. Gold, 2019-07-19 This book develops an analytical framework for understanding United States foreign agricultural policy through a state interest approach and describes and analyses seven cases of food policy decisions through this perspective which shows that decision makers sought on most occasions to utilise US food resources to accomplish foreign policy objectives A fundamental aspect of the statist approach is the recognition that those sectors representing the interest of the state will inevitably confront other actors in the policy process who are likely pursuing conflicting objectives This book looks at contemporary circumstances in the formulation of US agricultural policy in particular those alterations that occurred beginning in 1972 It offers an analysis of the nature of foreign economic policy and outlines the re emergence of economics as an important component of US foreign policy and an analysis of the concept of food power Economic Policy-making Rosalind Levačić,1987 U.S. Economic Policymaking
