Making Of The X Feature Film:

Making Asian American Film and Video Jun Okada, 2015-03-06 The words Asian American film might evoke a painfully earnest low budget documentary or family drama destined to be seen only in small film festivals or on PBS Public Broadcasting Service In her groundbreaking study of the past fifty years of Asian American film and video Jun Okada demonstrates that although this stereotype is not entirely unfounded a remarkably diverse range of Asian American filmmaking has emerged Yet Okada also reveals how the legacy of institutional funding and the PBS style unites these filmmakers whether they are working within that system or setting themselves in opposition to its conventions Making Asian American Film and Video explores how the genre has served as a flashpoint for debates about what constitutes Asian American identity Tracing a history of how Asian American film was initially conceived as a form of public interest media part of a broader effort to give voice to underrepresented American minorities Okada shows why this seemingly well intentioned project inspired deeply ambivalent responses In addition she considers a number of Asian American filmmakers who have opted out of producing state funded films from Wayne Wang to Gregg Araki to Justin Lin Okada gives us a unique behind the scenes look at the various institutions that have bankrolled and distributed Asian American films revealing the dynamic interplay between commercial and state run media More than just a history of Asian Americans in film Making Asian American Film and Video is an insightful meditation on both the achievements and the limitations of institutionalized multiculturalism

Sex, Class and Realism John Hill, 2019-07-25 Hugely impressive in its scope with introductory chapters on social history the film industry and theories of realism this indispensable history of these vital years contains unusually fresh discussions of films justly regarded as important alongside those unjustly ignored The extensive filmography which accompanies Sex Class and Realism will also prove to be an invaluable reference source in the teaching of British cinema history

The Making of Horror Movies Jennifer Selway, 2021-06-09 A fascinating journey through society's changing preoccupations as reflected in horror films plus profiles of the genre's top actors and directors It wasn't until 1973 that a horror film The Exorcist was nominated for an Oscar for Best Picture and critics are still divided today many regarding them with amused condescension The public's view is also sharply divided Some cinema goers revel in the thought of being made very very afraid while others avoid horror films because they don't want to be frightened This guide which is for both the fan and the more fainthearted steers an illuminating path through a genre that has since the early days of cinema split off into many subdivisions folk horror slasher movies Hammer sci fi horror psychological thrillers zombie movies among others Times change but moviemakers can always find a way to tap into what we fear and dread whether it's blood sucking vampires or radioactive mutations evil children or the living dead This book also gives concise biographies of the many actors and directors who saw their careers for better or worse defined by their association with horror movies and who created a genre that is instantly recognizable in all its forms and continues to find new and ingenious ways of scaring us in the dark

Women and the New German Cinema Julia Knight, 1992-06-17 There were virtually no women film directors in Germany until the 1970s today there are proportionally more than in any other film making country⁶ and their work has been extremely influential Directors like Margarethe von Trotta Helma Sanders Brahm Ulrike Ottinger and Helke Sander have made a huge contribution to feminist film culture but until now critical consideration of New German Cinema in Britain and the United States has focused almost exclusively on male directors such as Rainer Werner Fassbinder and Wim Wenders In Women and the New German Cinema Julia Knight examines how restrictive social economic and institutional conditions have compounded the neglect of the new women directors Rejecting the traditional auteur approach she explores the principal characteristics of women's film making in the 1970s and 1980s in particular the role of the women's movement the concern with the notion of a feminine aesthetic women's entry into the mainstream and the emergence of a so called post feminist cinema This timely and comprehensive study will be essential reading for everyone concerned with contemporary cinema and feminism

Science Fiction Film Directors, 1895-1998 Dennis Fischer, 2011-07-01 This enormous and exhaustive reference book has entries on every major and minor director of science fiction films from the inception of cinema circa 1895 through 1998 For each director there is a complete filmography including television work a career summary a critical assessment and behind the scenes production information Seventy nine directors are covered in especially lengthy entries and a short history of the science fiction film genre is also included

Filming Difference Daniel Bernardi, 2009-05-01 Addressing representation and identity in a variety of production styles and genres including experimental film and documentary independent and mainstream film and television drama Filming Difference poses fundamental questions about the ways in which the art and craft of filmmaking force creative people to confront stereotypes and examine their own identities while representing the complexities of their subjects Selections range from C A Griffith's Del Otro Lado Border Crossings Disappearing Souls and Other Transgressions and Celine Perre as Shimizu's Pain and Pleasure in the Flesh of Machiko Saito's Experimental Movies to Christopher Bradley's I Saw You Naked Hard Acting in Gay Movies along with Kevin Sandler's interview with Paris Barclay Yuri Makino's interview with Chris Eyre and many other perspectives on the implications of film production writing producing and acting Technical aspects of the craft are considered as well including how contributors to filmmaking plan and design films and episodic television that feature difference and how the tools of cinema such as cinematography and lighting influence portrayals of gender race and sexuality The struggle between economic pressures and the desire to produce thought provoking socially conscious stories forms another core issue raised in Filming Difference Speaking with critical rigor and creative experience the contributors to this collection communicate the power of their media
