Making Our Place Growing Up Pi In New Zealand:

Making Our Place Peggy Fairbairn-Dunlop, Gabrielle Sisifo Makisi, 2003 Stories from New Zealand born Pacific Island people who speak of their experiences growing up in this country their personal journeys changes they have seen their pride in their Pacific Island ethnicity and the struggles they had to form their bi cultural identity Ideal reading for all New Zealanders especially those who value a strong and harmonious multicultural society Foreword The Pacific Festivals of Aotearoa New Zealand Jared Mackley-Crump, 2015-04-30 With a history now stretching back four decades Pacific festivals of Aotearoa assert a multicultural identity of New Zealand and situate the country squarely within a sea of islands In this volume Jared Mackley Crump gives a provocative look at the changing demographics and cultural landscape of a place frequently viewed through a bicultural lens P keh and M ori Taking the post World War II migrations of Pacific peoples to New Zealand as its starting point the story begins in 1972 with the inaugural Polynesian Festival an event that was primarily designed as a M ori festival now known as Te Matatini the largest M ori performing arts event in the world Two major moments of festivalization are considered the birth of Polyfest in 1976 and the inaugural Pasifika Festival of 1993 Both began in Auckland the home of the largest Pacific communities in New Zealand and both have spawned a series of events that follow the models they successfully established While Polyfests focus primarily on the transmission of performance traditions from culture bearers to the young largely New Zealand born generations Pasifika festivals are highly public community events in which diverse displays of material culture are offered up for consumption by both cultural tourists and Pacific communities alike Both models have experienced a significant period of growth since 1993 and here the author presents a thought provoking and wide ranging analysis to explain the phenomenon that has been called a Pacific renaissance Written from an ethnomusicological perspective The Pacific Festivals of Aotearoa New Zealand incorporates lively first person observations as well as interviews with festival organizers performers and other important historical figures The second half of the book delves into the festival space uncovering new meanings about the function and role of music performance and public festivity The author skillfully challenges accounts that label festivals as inauthentic recreations of culture for tourist audiences and gives both observers and participants an uplifting new approach to understand these events as meaningful and symbolic extensions of the ways diasporic Pacific communities operate in New Zealand Belonging in Oceania Elfriede Hermann, Wolfgang Kempf, Toon van Meijl, 2014-09-01 Ethnographic case studies explore what it means to belong in Oceania as contributors consider ongoing formations of place self and community in connection with travelling internal and international migration The chapters apply the multi dimensional concepts of movement place making and cultural identifications to explain contemporary life in Oceanic societies The volume closes by suggesting that constructions of multiple belongings and with these the relevant forms of mobility place making and identifications are being recontextualized and modified by emerging discourses of climate change and sea level rise Making Music at the Bottom of the World in Southland, Aotearoa/New Zealand Sally Bodkin-Allen, 2020-01-21 This volume brings together a number of perspectives on the musical landscape of Invercargill a city at the bottom of Aotearoa New Zealand Invercargill is in many ways unique it is relatively isolated its access to liquor is controlled by a licensing trust and it is home to the longest serving mayor in Aotearoa The musicking that occurs within Invercargill is surprisingly diverse and wide ranging This book acknowledges and explores many of the South s musical communities and in doing so illustrates the importance of music in local communities It highlights the ways in which social connectedness local identity and individual lives are enriched through musical activities being interwoven through communities

Pacific Identities and Well-being Margaret Nelson Agee, 2013 Filling a significant gap in the cross cultural and cross disciplinary literature within the field of Pasifika Polynesian and Maori identities and mental health this volume focuses on bridging mental health related research and practice within the indigenous communities of the South Pacific Chapters address topics such as research examining traditional and emerging Pasifika identities contemporary research and practice in working with Pasifika youth and adolescents culturally appropriate approaches for working with Pasifika adults and practices in supervision that have been developed by Maori and Pasifika practitioners

Creating a Nation with Cloth Ping-Ann Addo, 2013-06-01 Tongan women living outside of their island homeland create and use hand made sometimes hybridized textiles to maintain and rework their cultural traditions in diaspora Central to these traditions is an ancient concept of homeland or nation fonua which Tongans retain as an anchor for modern nation building Utilizing the concept of the multi territorial nation the author questions the notion that living in diaspora is mutually exclusive with authentic cultural production and identity The globalized nation the women build through gifting their barkcloth and fine mats challenges the normative idea that nations are always geographically bounded or spatially contiguous The work suggests that contrary to prevalent understandings of globalization global resource flows do not always primarily involve commodities Focusing on first generation Tongans in New Zealand and the relationships they forge across generations and throughout the diaspora the book examines how these communities centralize the diaspora by innovating and adapting traditional cultural forms in unprecedented ways

New Zealand Identities James H. Liu, 2006-04-01 Fifteen writers with diverse personal and scholarly backgrounds come together in this collection to examine issues of identity viewing it as both a departing point and end destination for the various peoples who have come to call New Zealand home The essays reflect the diversity of thinking about identity across the social sciences as well as common themes that transcend disciplinary boundaries Their explorations of the process of identity making underscore the historical roots dynamism and plurality of ideas of national identity in New Zealand offering a view not only of what has been but also what might be on the horizon

Sex and Gender in the Pacific Angela Kelly-Hanku, Peter Aggleton, Anne Malcolm, 2023-02-24 This book examines sex sexuality gender and health in the Pacific with a focus on three key sets of issues young people culture and education sexual and reproductive health and well being and belonging connectedness and justice Bringing together the work of scholars from across the Pacific region this innovative volume showcases traditional knowledge and diverse disciplinary scholarship of policy and practice relevance In addition to focusing on relationships health education family and community chapters engage with a number of cross cutting themes including violence justice and rights and sexuality and gender diversity Drawing on the diversity and richness of the Pacific its cultures languages and people the book lays the foundations for future conversations and scholarship for and by those within the Pacific Sex and Gender in the Pacific is an important resource for students researchers and practitioners working in Pacific studies sexuality and gender studies public health nursing public policy sociology education and anthropology

Return Migration of the Next Generations Dennis Conway, 2016-12-05 There is renewed interest in return migration among researchers of global movement patterns Until recently it was overlooked regarded as the result of failure by emigrants or related to the return of retired elderly migrants This important study looks at the one and a half and second generation migrants the youthful contract workers and the prolonged sojourners and the consequences of their return to source communities
