Brauner, 2001-07-18 In this groundbreaking study David Brauner explores the representation of Jewishness in a number of works by postwar British and American Jewish writers identifying a transatlantic sensibility characterised by an insistent compulsion to explain themselves and their Jewishness in ambivalent terms Through detailed readings of novels by famous American authors such as Saul Bellow Philip Roth Bernard Malamud and Arthur Miller alongside those by lesser known British writers such as Frederic Raphael Jonathan Wilson Howard Jacobson and Clive Sinclair certain common preoccupations emerge Gentiles who mistake themselves for Jews Jewish hostility towards Nature writing and not writing about the Holocaust and the relationship between fact and fiction Chasing Lolita Graham Vickers, 2008 In the summer of 1958 a 12 year old girl took the world by storm Lolita was published in the United States and since then her name has been taken in vain to serve a wide range of dubious ventures both artistic and commercial Offering a full consideration of not only the Lolita effect but shifting attitudes toward the mix of sex children and popular entertainment from Victorian times to the present this study explores the movies theatrical shows literary spin offs artifacts fashion art photography and tabloid excesses that have distorted Lolita s identity with an eye toward some real life cases of young girls who became the innocent victims of someone else s obsession unhappy sisters to one of the most affecting heroines in fiction New insight is provided into the brief life of Lolita and into her longer afterlives as well Fictions of America Judie Newman, 2007-12-04 The Internet has had a huge impact on channels of communication and information reaching across time and space to connect the world through globalisation In this Internet led world story links to story windows open on new stories and no overall authority establishes priority This sense of globalisation has raised many questions for contemporary American Novelists primarily the usefulness or redundancy of narrative and its potentially adaptive function What are the right stories for such a broadband world How do contemporary

American novelists respond to issues such as the influence of the multinational corporation and its predecessors human rights Imperialism the literary work as a marketable commodity translation as betrayal data overload and the implosion of the virtual into the biosphere Is globalisation inevitable or is it a fiction which fiction turns into reality Fictions of America explores these questions and looks at the ways in which India China and Africa can be said to have underwritten American culture how literature has been marketed globally and how novelists have answered back to power with resistant fictions Judie Newman examines a wide range of fiction from the mid nineteenth to the twenty first century including the transnational adoption narrative short story historical novel slave narrative international bestseller and Western to illustrate her argument Looking closely at authors such as Bharati Mukherjee John Updike Emily Prager Hannah Crafts Zora Neale Hurston David Bradley Peter Heg and Cormac McCarthy Fictions of America provides a bold response to the crucial questions raised by globalisation

American Fiction of the 1990s Jay Prosser, 2016-04-01 American Fiction of the 1990s: Reflections of History and Culture brings together essays from international experts to examine one of the most vital and energized decades in American literature. This volume reads the rich body of 1990s American fiction in the context of key cultural concerns of the period. The issues that the contributors identify as especially productive include Immigration and America's geographical borders, particularly those with Latin America; Racial tensions, race relations and racial exchanges; Historical memory and the recording of history; Sex scandal and the politicization of sexuality; Postmodern technologies, terrorism and paranoia. American Fiction of the 1990s examines texts by established authors such as Don DeLillo, Toni Morrison, Philip Roth and Thomas Pynchon, who write some of their most ambitious work in the period, but also by emergent writers such as Sherman Alexie, Chang Rae Lee, E. Annie Proulx, David Foster Wallace and Jonathan Franzen. Offering new insight into both the literature and the culture of the period, as well as the interaction between the two in a way that furthers the New American Studies, this volume will be essential reading for students and lecturers of American literature and culture and late twentieth-century fiction. Contributors include Timothy Aubry, Alex Blazer, Kasia Boddy, Stephen J. Burn, Andrew Dix, Brian Jarvis, Suzanne W. Jones, Peter Knight, A. Robert Lee, Stacey Olster, Derek Parker, Royal Krishna Sen, Zoe Trodd, Andrew Warnes and Nahem Yousaf.

The Girl in the Text Ann Smith, 2019-07-16 How are girls represented in written and graphic texts and how do these representations inform our understanding of girlhood? In this volume, contributors examine the girl in the text in order to explore a range of perspectives on girlhood across borders and in relation to their positionality. In literary and transactional texts, girls are presented as heroes who empower themselves and others with lasting effect as figures of liberating pedagogical practice and educational activism and as catalysts for discussions of the relationship between desire and ethics. In these varied chapters, a new notion of transnationalism emerges, one rooted not only in the process through which borders between nation-states become more porous but through which cultural and ethnic imperatives become permeable.

Edinburgh Companion to Modern Jewish Fiction David Brauner, 2015-06-07 Provides critical overviews of the main writers and key themes of Anglophone Jewish fiction. This collection of essays represents a new departure for and a potentially re-defining moment in literary Jewish Studies. It is the first volume to bring together essays covering a wide range of American, British, South African, Canadian and Australian Jewish fiction. Moreover, it complicates all these terms, emphasising the porousness between different national traditions and moving beyond traditional definitions of Jewishness. For the sake of structural clarity, the volume is divided into three parts: American Jewish Fiction, British Jewish Fiction, and International and Transnational Anglophone Jewish Fiction, but many of the essays cross over these boundaries and speak to each other implicitly as well as on occasion explicitly. Extending and redefining the canon of modern Jewish fiction, the volume juxtaposes major authors with more marginal figures revising and recuperating individual reputations rediscovering forgotten and discovering new work and in the process remapping the whole terrain This volume opens windows onto vistas that previously had been obscured and opens doors for the next generation of studies that could not proceed without a wide ranging visionary empiricism grounding their work The Edinburgh Companion is a paradigm changing event and nothing in Jewish literary studies that follows can fail to pay close attention to it Key Features Highlights the rich diversity of the field and identifies its key themes including immigration the Diaspora the Holocaust Judaism assimilation antisemitism and Zionism Analyses the main trends in Anglophone Jewish fiction and situates them in historical context Discusses the place of Anglophone Jewish fiction in relation to critical debates concerning transatlanticism and transnationalism ethnicity and identity politics postcolonial studies feminist studies and Jewish Studies With a preface by Mark Shechner the volume contains 28 essays by contributors including Vicki Aarons Trinity University Texas Debra Shostak Wooster College Ohio Ira Nadel University of British Columbia Efraim Sicher Ben Gurion University Phyllis Lassner Northwestern University Sue Vice University of Sheffield Lori Harrison Kahan Boston College Ruth Gilbert University of Winchester Beate Neumeier University of Cologne and Sandra Singer University of Guelph David Brauner is Professor of Contemporary Literature at The University of Reading Axel Staer is Reader in Comparative Literature at the University of Kent Canterbury

Context David Bethea, Siggy Frank, 2018-05-24 Vladimir Nabokov bilingual writer of dazzling masterpieces is a phenomenon that both resists and requires contextualization This book challenges the myth of Nabokov as a sole genius who worked in isolation from his surroundings as it seeks to anchor his work firmly within the historical cultural intellectual and political contexts of the turbulent twentieth century Vladimir Nabokov in Context maps the ever changing sites people cultures and ideologies of his itinerant life which shaped the production and reception of his work Concise and lively essays by leading scholars reveal a complex relationship of mutual influence between Nabokov's work and his environment Appealing to a wide community of literary scholars this timely companion to Nabokov's writing offers new insights and approaches to one of the most important and yet most elusive writers of modern literature
