Separation of Powers, the Judiciary and the Politics of Constitutional Adjudication Sanele Sibanda, 2022-12-26 Over the last 25 years the doctrine of separation of powers has been established as both a foundational value and a structural principle applied by the courts in interpreting the relationship between South Africa's constitutional structures Jurisprudentially the practicalities and contours of how when and by whom the separation of powers should be determined has proven to be controversial Therefore the past decade has been characterised by heightened political contestation often resulting in extensive litigation posing thorny political issues This has had profound implications for the judiciary and raised difficult questions on the very nature of South African constitutionalism These political contestations gathered even greater momentum and urgency during the early days of COVID 19 in 2020 when the first iteration of this book was produced as a special issue of the South African Journal on Human Rights This timely volume brings together critical reflections on developments in South Africa's separation of powers jurisprudence and theory the role and function of the judiciary through its judgments in shaping the landscape of constitutional politics as well the implications of this for the consolidation of South Africa's democratic constitutional project It makes an important contribution to the debate on the politics of constitutional adjudication in light of the doctrine of separation of powers This book will be of interest to researchers and advanced students of politics history law and legal theory human rights and African studies

Courts, Law, and Politics in Comparative Perspective Herbert Jacob, Erhard Blankenburg, Herbert M. Kritzer, Doris Marie Provine, Joseph Sanders, 1996-01-01 This comprehensive book compares the intersection of political forces and legal practices in five industrial nations the United States England France Germany and Japan The authors eminent political scientists and legal scholars investigate how constitutional courts function in each country how the adjudication of criminal justice and the processing of civil disputes connect legal systems to politics and how both ordinary citizens and large corporations use the courts For each of the five countries the authors discuss the structure of courts and access to them the manner in which politics and law are differentiated or amalgamated whether judicial posts are political prizes or bureaucratic positions the ways in which courts are perceived as legitimate forms for addressing political conflicts the degree of legal consciousness among citizens the kinds of work lawyers do and the manner in which law and courts are used as social control mechanisms

The authors find that although the extent to which courts participate in policymaking varies dramatically from country to country judicial responsiveness to perceived public problems is not a uniquely American phenomenon Inclusive

Governance in South Asia Nizam Ahmed, 2017-10-04 This edited volume explores the state of inclusive governance in South Asia It particularly examines the nature and scope of inclusiveness noticed in the parliament and civil service in Bangladesh India and Nepal and the judiciary in Bangladesh Where previous literature has stressed the need for the inclusion of external stakeholders this volume highlights the importance of the involvement of internal stakeholders This includes insiders such as opposition members and government backbenchers in parliament and specialists in the civil service The main emphasis is on identifying the extent to which insiders in different institutions have the scope to participate in the governing process Furthermore this volume also seeks to assess the implications of inclusiveness exclusiveness for democratic governance By exploring the link between inclusiveness and accountability its contributors are able to draw out the strengths and weaknesses of the existing mechanisms of accountability particularly social accountability This innovative collection will appeal to students and scholars of gender and development studies public policy and administration international relations law and political science Judicial Independence in Transitional Democracies Nauman

Reayat, Rhona K. M. Smith, Moohyung Cho, 2024-12-31 This book presents interdisciplinary and comparative analyses of judicial independence in transitional democracies across Asia Latin America Eastern Europe the Middle East and Africa Although judicial empowerment and independence in transitional democracies have gained both academic and real world prominence in recent decades an ongoing debate persists regarding the nature scope and determinants of judicial independence in transitional settings Some transitional democracies successfully develop democracy and the rule of law with the sustained growth of judicial independence whereas others grapple with substantial challenges and move more towards authoritarianism This book examines factors that drive de jure and de facto judicial independence in transitional democracies and evaluates their relationship In doing so it identifies challenges and opportunities associated with developing judicial independence in transitional democracies At the intersection of political science and law the work will be a valuable resource for academics researchers and policymakers in constitutional law constitutional politics and human rights law

Democratic Consolidation and Constitutional Endurance in Asia and Africa Tom Gerald Daly, Dinesha Samararatne, 2024-02-15 A well articulated response to the growing scholarly conversation on democratic backsliding and resilience this essay collection considers recent democratising events in Ethiopia The Gambia Malaysia Maldives Myanmar Sri Lanka and Thailand Role of Judiciary in Plural Societies nt;coomaraswamy coomaraswamy (r, (editors)),

Constitutional Resilience in South Asia Swati Jhaveri, Tarunabh Khaitan, Dinesha Samararatne, 2023-06-01 South Asia has had a tumultuous and varied experience with constitutional democracy that predates the recent rise in populism and its study in established democracies And yet this region has remained largely ignored by constitutional studies and democracy scholars This book addresses this gap and presents a contribution to the South Asia centric literature on the topic of the stability and resilience of constitutional democracies Chapters deal not only with relatively well known South Asian countries such as India Bangladesh Pakistan and Sri Lanka but also with countries often ignored by scholars such as Bhutan Nepal Maldives and Afghanistan The contributions consider the design and functioning of an array of institutions and actors including political parties legislatures the political executive the bureaucracy courts fourth branch guarantor institutions such as electoral commissions the people and the military to examine their roles in strengthening or undermining constitutional democracy across South Asia Each chapter offers a contextual and jurisdictionally tethered account of the causes behind the erosion of constitutional democracy and some examine the resilience of constitutional institutions against democratic erosion

Rights in Divided Societies Colin Harvey, Alex Schwartz, 2012-07-20 This collection examines the role and value of rights in divided and post conflict societies approaching the subject from a comparative and theoretical perspective Societies emerging from violent conflict often opt for a bill of rights as part of a wider package of constitutional reform Where conflict is fuelled by longstanding ethno national divisions these divisions are often addressed through group differentiated rights Recent constitutional settlements have highlighted the difficulties in drafting a bill of rights in divided post conflict societies where the aim of promoting unity is frequently in tension with the need to accommodate difference In such cases a bill of rights might be a rallying point around which both minorities and the majority can articulate a common vision for a shared society Conversely a bill of rights might provide merely another venue in which to play out familiar conflicts further dividing an already divided society The central questions that animate the collection are 1 Can constitutional rights provide a basis for unity and a common human rights culture in divided societies If so how 2 To what extent should divided societies opt for a universalistic package of rights protections or should the rights be tailored to the specific circumstances of a divided society providing for special group sensitive protections for minorities 3 Is a divided society more or less likely to adopt a bill of rights 4 How does the judiciary figure in the management or resolution of ethno national conflict 5 What are the general theoretical and philosophical issues at stake in a rights based approach to the management or resolution of ethno national divisions or other conflicts

Building the Constitution James Fowkes, 2016-12-15 A revisionary account of the South African Constitutional Court its working method and the neglected political underpinnings of its success

The Use of Foreign Precedents by Constitutional Judges Tania Groppi, Marie-Claire Ponthoreau, 2013-03-28 In 2007 the International Association of Constitutional Law established an Interest Group on The Use of Foreign Precedents by Constitutional Judges to conduct a survey of the use of foreign precedents by Supreme and Constitutional Courts in deciding constitutional cases Its purpose was to determine through empirical analysis employing both quantitative and qualitative indicators the extent to which foreign case law is cited The survey aimed to test the reliability of studies describing and reporting instances of transjudicial communication between Courts The research also provides useful insights into the extent to which a progressive constitutional convergence may be taking place between common law and civil law traditions The present work includes studies by scholars from African American Asian European Latin American and Oceania countries representing jurisdictions belonging to both common law and civil law traditions and countries employing both centralised and decentralised systems of judicial review The results published here for the first time give us the best evidence yet of the existence and limits of a transnational constitutional communication between courts A Bibliography on Foreign and Comparative Law ,1992 Ibss: Political Science: 1987 British Library of Political and Economic Science,1991 IBSS is the essential tool for librarians university departments research institutions and any public or private institutions whose work requires access to up to date and comprehensive knowledge of the social sciences
