100 American Crime Writers S. Powell, 2012-08-07 100 American Crime Writers features discussion and analysis of the lives of crime writers and their key works examining the developments in American crime writing from the Golden Age to hardboiled detective fiction This study is essential to scholars and an ideal introduction to crime fiction for anyone who enjoys this fascinating genre

Detours and Lost Highways Foster Hirsch, 1999 Detours and Lost Highways begins with the Orson Welles film Touch of Evil 1958 which featured Welles both behind and in front of the camera That movie is often cited as the end of the line noir s rococo tombstone the film after which noir could no longer be made or at least could no longer be made in the same way It is my belief Hirsch writes that neo noir does exist and that noir is entitled to full generic status Over the past forty years since noir s often claimed expiration it has flourished under various labels Among the movies he discusses as evidence Chinatown 1974 Body Heat 1981 John Woo s Hong Kong blood ballets e g The Killer 1989 and the pulpy oeuvre of Quentin Tarantino Washington Post Book World

On Kubrick James Naremore, 2019-07-25 On Kubrick provides an illuminating critical account of the films of Stanley Kubrick from his earliest feature Fear and Desire 1953 to the posthumously produced A I Artificial Intelligence Steven Spielberg 2001 The book offers provocative analysis of each of Kubrick's films together with new information about their production histories and cultural contexts. Its ultimate aim is to provide a concise yet thorough discussion that will be useful as both an academic text and a trade publication. James Naremore argues that in several respects Kubrick was one of the cinema's last modernists: his taste and sensibility were shaped by the artistic culture of New York in the 1950s; he became a celebrated auteur who forged a distinctive style; he used art cinema conventions in commercial productions; he challenged censorship regulations; and throughout his career he was preoccupied with one of the central themes of modernist art: the conflict between rationality and its ever-present shadow, the unconscious. War and science are key concerns in Kubrick's oeuvre, and his work has a hyper-masculine quality. Yet no director has more relentlessly emphasized the absurdity of combat as in Paths of Glory (1957) and Full Metal Jacket (1987); the failure of scientific reasoning as in 2001: A Space Odyssey (1968); and the fascistic impulses in masculine sexuality as in Dr. Strangelove (1964) and Eyes Wide Shut (1999). The book also argues that while Kubrick was a voracious intellectual and a life-long autodidact, the fascination of his work has less to do with the ideas it espouses than with the emotions it evokes. Often described as cool or cold, Kubrick is best understood as a skillful practitioner of what might be called the aesthetics of the grotesque: he employs extreme forms of caricature and black comedy to create disgusting, frightening yet also laughable images of the human body, creating a sense of unease that leaves viewers unsure of how to react.

The Red Hot Typewriter

Hugh Merrill, 2000-08-12. Although John D. MacDonald published seventy novels and more than five hundred short stories in his lifetime, he is remembered best for his Travis McGee series. He introduced McGee in 1964 with The Deep Blue Goodbye. With Travis McGee, MacDonald changed the pattern of the hardboiled private detectives who preceded him. McGee has a social conscience, holds thoughtful conversations with his retired economist buddy Meyer, and worries about corporate greed, racism, and the Florida ecology. In a long series whose brand recognition for the series the author cleverly advanced by inserting a color in every title, Merrill carefully builds a picture of a man who in unexpected ways epitomized the Horatio Alger sagas that comprised his strict father's secular bible. From a financially struggling childhood and a succession of drab nine-to-five occupations, MacDonald settled down to writing for a living, a lifestyle that would have horrified his father. He worked very hard and was rewarded with a more than decent livelihood. But unlike Alger's heroes, MacDonald had a lot of fun doing it.

Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2018-10-08. Film Noir is an overview of an often celebrated but also contested body of films. It discusses film noir as a cultural phenomenon whose history is more extensive and diverse than American black and white crime thrillers of the forties. An extended Background Chapter situates film noir within its cultural context, describing its origin in German Expressionism, French Poetic Realism, and in developments within American genres: the gangster, crime, thriller, horror, and the Gothic romance, and its possible relationship to changes in American society. Five chapters are devoted to classic film noir (1940-59); chapters explore its contexts of production and reception, its visual style, and its narrative patterns and themes; chapters on character types and star performances elucidate noir's complex construction of gender with its weak ambivalent males and predatory femmes fatales and also provide a detailed analysis of three noir auteurs Anthony Mann Robert Siodmak and Fritz Lang Three chapters investigate neo noir and British film noir chapters trace the complex evolution of neo noir in American cinema from the modernist critiques of Night Moves and Taxi Driver to the postmodern hybridity of contemporary noir including Seven Pulp Fiction and Memento the final chapter surveys the development of British film noir a significant and virtually unknown cinema stretching from the thirties to Mike Hodges Croupier Films discussed include both little known examples and seminal works such as Double Indemnity Scarlet Street Kiss Me Deadly and Touch of Evil A final section provides a guide to further reading an extensive bibliography and a list of over 500 films referred to in the text Lucidly written Film Noir is an accessible informative and stimulating introduction that will have a broad appeal to undergraduates cin astes film teachers and researchers

America Noir David Cochran, 2016-06-21 In America Noir David Cochran details how ten writers and filmmakers challenged the social pieties prevalent during the Cold War such as the superiority of the American democracy the benevolence of free enterprise and the sanctity of the suburban family Rod Serling's The Twilight Zone featured victims of vast faceless bureaucratic powers Jim Thompson's noir thrillers such as The Grifters portrayed the ravages of capitalism on those at the bottom of the social ladder Patricia Highsmith in The Talented Mr Ripley placed an amoral con man in an international setting implicitly questioning America's fitness as leader of the free world Charles Willeford's pulp novels such as Wild Wives and Woman Chaser depicted the family as a hotbed of violence and chaos These artists pioneered a detached ironic sensibility that radically juxtaposed cultural references and blurred the distinctions between high and low art Their refusal to surrender to the pressures for political conformity and their unflinching portrayal of the underside of American life paved the way for the emergence of a 1960s counterculture that forever changed the way America views itself

The Encyclopedia of Murder and Mystery B. Murphy, 1999-12-09 Bruce Murphy's Encyclopedia of Murder and Mystery is a comprehensive guide to the genre of the murder mystery that catalogues thousands of items in a broad range of categories authors titles plots characters weapons methods of killing movie and theatrical adaptations What distinguishes this encyclopedia from the others in the field is its critical stance

The Enigma of Good and Evil: The Moral Sentiment in Literature Anna-Teresa Tymieniecka, 2006-08-27 Striking toward peace and harmony the human being is ceaselessly torn apart in personal social national life by wars feuds inequities and intimate personal conflicts for which there seems to be no respite Does the human condition in interaction with others imply a constant adversity Or is this conflict owing to an interior or external factor of evil governing our attitudes and conduct toward the other person To what criteria should I refer for appreciation judgment direction concerning my attitudes and my actions as they bear on the well being of others At the roots of these questions lies human experience which ought to be appropriately clarified before entering into speculative abstractions of the ethical theories and precepts Literature which in its very gist dwells upon disentangling in multiple perspective the peripeteia of our life experience offers us a unique field of source material for moral and ethical investigations Literature brings preeminently to light the Moral Sentiment which pervades our life with others our existence tout court Being modulated through the course of our experiences the Moral Sentiment sustains the very sense of literature and of personal human life Tymieniecka The Post-Utopian Imagination M. Keith Booker, 2002-01-30 In America the long 1950s were marked by an intense skepticism toward utopian alternatives to the existing capitalist order This skepticism was closely related to the climate of the Cold War in which the demonization of socialism contributed to a dismissal of all alternatives to capitalism This book studies how American novels and films of the long 1950s reflect the loss of the utopian imagination and mirror the growing concern that capitalism brought routinization alienation and other dehumanizing consequences The volume relates the decline of the utopian vision to the rise of late capitalism with its expanding globalization and consumerism and to the beginnings of postmodernism In addition to well known literary novels such as Nabokov's Lolita Booker explores a large body of leftist fiction popular novels and the films of Alfred Hitchcock and Walt Disney The book argues that while the canonical novels of the period employ a utopian aesthetic that aesthetic tends to be very weak and is not reinforced by content The leftist novels on the other hand employ a realist aesthetic but are utopian in their exploration of alternatives to capitalism The study concludes that the utopian energies in cultural productions of the long 1950s are very weak and that these works tend to dismiss utopian thinking as naïve or even sinister The weak utopianism in these works tends to be reflected in characteristics associated with postmodernism

Mystery Classics on Film Ron Miller, 2017-02-20 Watching the screen version of a classic mystery novel can be disappointing By necessity or artistic license or possibly just ego changes are often made by the filmmakers many of them ineffective or even detrimental This book focuses on the screen adaptations of 65 famous mysteries and examines how the filmmakers either succeeded or failed in the telling of the story Interviews with several famous mystery writers are included with their comments on how filmmakers treated their work Historical Dictionary of Film Noir Andrew Spicer, 2010-03-19 Film noir literally black cinema is the label customarily given to a group of black and white American films mostly crime thrillers made between 1940 and 1959 Today there is considerable dispute about what are the shared features that classify a noir film and therefore which films should be included in this category These problems are partly caused because film noir is a retrospective label that was not used in the 1940s or 1950s by the film industry as a production category and therefore its existence and features cannot be established through reference to trade documents The Historical Dictionary of Film Noir is a comprehensive guide that ranges from 1940 to present day neo noir It consists of a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography a filmography and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries on every aspect of film noir and neo noir including key films personnel actors cinematographers composers directors producers set designers and writers themes issues influences visual style cycles of films e.g. amnesiac noirs the representation of the city and gender other forms comics graphic novels television and videogames and noir's presence in world cinema It is an essential reference work for all
