50 Simple Steps to Save the World's Rainforests Kim Henderson, The Green Patriot Working Group, 2012-03-12

Despite the very best conservation and environmental policy making efforts at least 80 000 acres of tropical rainforest disappear each day If action is not taken now experts estimate that the world s rainforests will mostly disappear within 50 years Currently the destruction of tropical forests is responsible for 17 percent of man made carbon emissions more than what comes from all the world s cars airplanes and ships combined Tropical rainforests need our help and that s where 50 Simple Steps to Save the World s Rainforests comes in The future of the world s rainforests lies to a large extent in the collective hands of consumers and how they shop since demand is what fuels the forces driving deforestation agriculture logging and resource extraction Through the 50 step journey you will learn how as a consumer you may unwittingly support rainforest destruction and more importantly precisely how you can make different choices that help save rainforests For example you will learn how your paper use and purchases of rayon clothing affect Indonesian rainforests where Sumatran tigers are critically endangered or how simply eating Brazil nuts helps save the Amazon rainforest You will discover how the cultivation of palm oil a common ingredient in confections baked goods soaps and biofuels is fueling rampant deforestation in Malaysia Indonesia and Papua New Guinea and how you can avoid it 50 Simple Steps to Save the Rainforests is the ultimate primer for anyone wanting to take action to help save this ecosystem which is so critical to the future of mankind Saving a Rainforest and Losing the World Gregory M. Thaler, 2024-02-27 An unflinching investigation of the false promises of land sparing exposing how its illusory successes mask the failures of green capitalism For two decades the concept of land sparing the claim that agricultural intensification can spare land by preventing forest clearing for agricultural expansion has dominated tropical forest conservation Land sparing policies transform landscapes and livelihoods with the promise of reconciling agricultural development with environmental conservation But that land sparing promise is false Based on six years of research on agrarian frontiers in Indonesia Brazil and Bolivia this book traces where and how land sparing becomes policy and charts the social and ecological effects of these political contests Gregory M Thaler explains why land sparing appears successful in some places but not in others and reveals that success as an illusion achieved by displacing deforestation to new frontiers The failure of land sparing exposes a harsh truth behind assurances of green capitalism capitalist development is ecocide Saving the Rainforest Tisha Hamilton, 2006 What is a rain forest How can people save it

Rights and Religious Law Fareda Banda, Lisa Fishbayn Joffe, 2016-02-12 The three Abrahamic faiths have dominated religious conversations for millennia but the relations between state and religion are in a constant state of flux This relationship may be configured in a number of ways Religious norms may be enforced by the state as part of a regime of personal law or conversely religious norms may be formally relegated to the private sphere but can be brought into the legal realm through the private acts of individuals Enhanced recognition of religious tribunals or religious doctrines by civil courts may create a hybrid of these two models One of the major issues in the reconciliation of changing civic ideals with religious tenets is gender equality and this is an ongoing challenge in both domestic and international affairs Examining this conflict within the context of a range of issues including marriage and divorce violence against women and children and women s political participation this collection brings together a discussion of the Abrahamic religions to examine the role of religion in the struggle for women s equality around the world The book encompasses both theory and practical examples of how law can be used to negotiate between claims for gender equality and the right to religion It engages with international and regional human rights norms and also national considerations within countries This book will be of great relevance to scholars and policy makers with an interest in law and religion gender studies and human rights law
