False Positions Julie Rivkin,1996 Representation is the subject of this book representation taken in a series of senses from the formal and linguistic to the social and political Representation poses a theoretical problem that can be located in the inconsistency between two vocabularies for compositional method one positing a centre of consciousness James s term the other being a story of displaced agency and intermediaries of deputies delegates and substitutes What the center promises that consciousness can be fully incarnated in a given character who will then constitute a foundation for meaning and truth in the novel is exactly what the delegate acknowledges as an impossibility Drawing largely on the theory of representation of Jacques Derrida this book examines the interplay between the two contradictory positions in detailed readings of James s stories of writers and artists and his novels The Ambassadors The Wings of the Dove What Maisie Knew and The Awkward Age Throughout the readings are organized by the supplementary logic of representation a logic that understands that a thing standing for another thing both completes it and suggests a lack or limitation in that which it completes and hence ultimately in itself

Fleissner, 2024-05-31 An examination of the nineteenth century American novel that argues for a new genealogy of the concept of the will What if the modern person were defined not by reason or sentiment as Enlightenment thinkers hoped but by will Western modernity rests on the ideal of the autonomous subject charting a path toward self-determination Yet novelists have portrayed the will as prone to insufficiency or excess from indecision to obsession wild impulse to melancholic inertia Jennifer Fleissner's ambitious book shows how the novel's attention to the will's maladies enables an ongoing interrogation of modern premises from within Maladies of the Will reveals the nineteenth century American novel's relation to a wide-ranging philosophical tradition highly relevant to our own tumultuous present In works from Moby Dick and The Scarlet Letter to Elizabeth Stoddard's The Morgesons and Charles W. Chesnutt's The Marrow of Tradition the will's grandeur and its perversity emerge as it alternately aligns itself with and pits itself against a bigger Will whether of God the state society history or life itself Today when invocations of autonomy appear beside the medicalization of many behaviors and democracy's tenet of popular will has come into doubt Maladies of the Will provides a map to how we got here and how we might think these vital dilemmas anew      Unfitting Stories Valerie Raoul, 2007-03-30 Unfitting Stories Narrative Approaches to Disease Disability and Trauma illustrates how stories about ill health and suffering have been produced and received from a variety of perspectives Bringing together the work of Canadian researchers health professionals and people with lived experiences of disease disability or trauma it addresses central issues about authority in medical and personal narratives and the value of cross or interdisciplinary research in understanding such experiences The book considers the aesthetic dimensions of health-related stories with literary readings that look at how personal accounts of disease disability and trauma are crafted by writers and filmmakers into published works Topics range from psychiatric hospitalization and aestheticizing cancer to father-daughter incest in film The collection also deals with the therapeutic or transformative effect of stories with essays about men sport and spinal cord injury narrative teaching at L'Arche a faith-based network of communities inclusive of people with developmental disabilities and the construction of a schizophrenic identity A final section examines the polemical functions of Consumer's Guide to a Brave New World Wesley J. Smith, 2004-01-01. Scare headlines about the first human clones appear in our newspapers. Biotech companies brag about manufacturing human embryos as products for use in medical treatments. Events are moving so fast and biotechnology seems so complicated that many of us worry we can't keep up. But now Wesley J. Smith provides us with a guide to the brave new world that is no longer a figment of our imagination but a reality just around the corner of our lives. Smith unravels the mystery of stem cells and shows what's at stake in the controversy over using them for research. He describes the emerging science of human cloning, the most radical technology in history, and shows how it moves forward inexorably against the moral consensus of the world. But at the core of this highly readable and carefully researched book is a report on the gargantuan Big Biotech industry and its supporters in the universities and the science and bioethics establishments. Smith reveals how the lure of huge riches mixed with the ideology of scientism threatens to impose on society a new eugenics that would dismantle ethical norms and call into question the uniqueness and importance of all human life. At stake, he warns, is whether science will continue to serve society or instead dominate it. In Consumer's Guide to a Brave New World, Smith presents a clear-eyed vision of two potential futures. In one, we will use biotechnology as a powerful tool to treat disease and improve the quality of our lives. But in another, darker scenario, we will be steered onto the antihuman path that Aldous Huxley and other prophetic writers warned against half a century ago.

Movies Made for Television Alvin H. Marill, 2010-10-11. In 2005, Scarecrow published Movies Made for Television 1964-2004, a five-volume reference set commemorating 40 years of every made-for-TV film since See How They Run debuted in 1964. These books provided a comprehensive listing of every television film and mini-series, detailing each film's original network, airdate, and length of broadcast. In this latest volume, Marill adds another five years of television films, providing information for an additional 400 works produced between 2005 and 2009. Along with a brief summary, entries also include extensive production credits: director, writer, producer, composer, director of photography, and editor, and a complete cast and character listing. With a chronology of the films, an appendix of movies adapted from other sources, and separate indexes for actors and directors, Movies Made for Television 2005-2009 is a welcome addition to a resource highly regarded by scholars and historians of television and popular culture.
