Hinkelman, 2022-02-04 The years following the signing of the Armistice saw a transformation of traditional attitudes regarding military conflict as America attempted to digest the enormity and futility of the First World War During these years popular film culture in the United States created new ways of addressing the impact of the war on both individuals and society Filmmakers with direct experience of combat created works that promoted their own ideas about the depiction of wartime service ideas that frequently conflicted with established heroic tropes for the portrayal of warfare on film Those filmmakers spent years modifying existing standards and working through a variety of storytelling options before achieving a consensus regarding the fitting method for rendering war on screen That consensus incorporated facets of the experience of Great War veterans and these countered and undermined previously accepted narrative strategies This process reached its peak during the Pre Code Era of the early 1930s when the initially prevailing narrative would be briefly supplanted by an entirely new approach that questioned the very premises of wartime service Even more significantly the rhetoric of these films argued strongly for an antiwar stance that questioned every aspect of the wartime experience For No Reason at All The Changing Narrative of the First World War in American Film discusses a variety of Great War themed films made from 1915 to the present tracing the changing approaches to the conflict over time Individual chapters focus on movie antecedents animated films and comedies the influence of literary precursors the African American film industry women centered films and the effect of the Second World War on depictions of the First Films discussed include Hearts of the World The Cradle of Courage Birthright The Big Parade She Goes to War Doughboys Young Eagles The Last Flight Broken Lullaby Lafayette Escadrille and Wonder Woman among many others An Officer and a Lady Cynthia Toman, 2008-05-20 During the urgent medical care and as non combatants were forbidden from carrying weapons Their role in the war effort was quite unique and warranting of further study Structured both chronologically and thematically An Equal Burden examines the work that RAMC rankers undertook and its importance to the running of the chain of medical evacuation It additionally explores the gendered status of these men within the medical military and cultural hierarchies of a society engaged in total war Through close readings of official documents personal papers and cultural representations Meyer argues that the ranks of the RAMC formed a space in which non commissioned servicemen through their many roles defined and redefined medical caregiving as men s work in wartime

Before My Helpless Sight Leo van Bergen,2016-04-15 Despite the numerous vicious conflicts that scarred the twentieth century the horrors of the Western Front continue to exercise a particularly strong hold on the modern imagination The unprecedented scale and mechanization of the war changed forever the way suffering and dying were perceived and challenged notions of what the nations could reasonably expect of their military Examining experiences of the Western Front this book looks at the life of a soldier from the moment he marched into battle until he was buried In five chapters Battle Body Mind Aid Death it describes and analyzes the physical and mental hardship of the men who fought on a front that stretched from the Belgian coast to the Swiss border Beginning with a broad description of the war it then analyzes the medical aid the Tommies Bonhommes and Frontschweine received or all too often did not receive revealing how this aid was often given for military and political rather than humanitarian reasons getting the men back to the front or munitions factory and trying to spare the state as many war pensions as possible It concludes with a chapter on the many ways death presented itself on or around the battlefield and sets out in detail the problems that arise when more people are killed than can possibly be buried properly In contrast to most books in the field this study does not focus on one single issue such as venereal disease plastic surgery shell shock or the military medical service but takes a broad view on wounds and illnesses across both sides of the conflict Drawing on British French German Belgian and Dutch sources it shows the consequences of modern warfare on the human individuals caught up in it and the way it influences our thinking on humanitarian activities The Health Humanities in German Studies Stephanie M. Hilger,2024-05-16 The first full length study to bring together the fields of Health Humanities and German studies this book features contributions from a range of key scholars and provides an overview of the latest work being done at the intersection of these two disciplines In addition to surveying the current critical terrain in unparalleled depth it also explores future directions that these fields may take Organized around seven sections representing key areas of focus for both disciplines this book provides important new insights into the intersections between Health Humanities German Studies and other fields of inquiry that have been gaining prominence over the past decade in academic and public discourse In their contributions the authors engage with disability studies critical race studies gender embodiment studies trauma studies as well as animal environmental studies Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative Angela Laflen,2010-06-09 Gender is an exciting area of current research in the medical humanities and by combining the study of medical narratives with theories of gender and sexuality the essays in Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative illustrate the power of gender stereotypes to shape the way medicine is practiced and perceived The chapters of Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative investigate gendered perceptions and representations of healers and patients in fiction memoir popular literature poetry film television the history of science new media and visual art The fourteen chapters of Gender Scripts in Medicine and Narrative are organized into four cohesive sections These chapters investigate the impact of gender stereotypes on medical narratives from a variety of points of view considering narratives from diverse languages time periods genres and media Each section addresses some of the most pressing and provocative issues in theories of gender and the medical humanities I Gendering the Medical Gaze and Pathology II Monitoring Race through Reproduction III Rescripting Trauma and Healing and IV Medical Masculinities Along with these sections Gender Scripts Medicine and Narrative features a preface by Rita Charon MD PhD Director and Founder The Program in Narrative Medicine Columbia University a foreword by Marcelline Block and an introduction by Angela Laflen This collection takes a truly interdisciplinary look at the topic of gender and medicine and the impressive group of contributors to the anthology represent a wide range of academic fields of inquiry including medical humanities bioethics English modern languages women s studies film theory postcolonial theory art history the history of science and medicine new media studies theories of trauma among others This approach of crossing boundaries of genre and discipline makes the volume accessible to scholars who are concerned with narrative gender and or medical ethics Click here for a recent review of this title
