A. Lee, G. Venkat Raman, 2013-11-11 Total parenteral nutrition TPN is now an everyday occurrence in most general hospitals Over the last two decades this therapeutic modality has been made so simple that it is no longer the province of the specialized surgeon or physician Indeed as with the management of chronic renal failure so now with short bowel disease home parenteral nutrition has become a reality though this still requires a specialist team dedicated to its management Furthermore as more patients will become suitable for home TPN treatment either long term or short term so better rationalization of a cost b delivery systems and c patient training will be necessary Lessons can be learnt from the somewhat diverse development of regular dialysis treatment in the early 1960s compared with the situation today Here is a golden opportunity with the UK National Registry to rationalize on home TPN costs and to make sure the treatment is simplified and available to all those who may require this treatment This book is not designed to be an overall comprehensive review of parenteral nutrition It is meant to set out simple guidelines and the requirements for effective TPN both in hospital and at home It is aimed at doctors in training interested physicians and surgeons nurses dietitians and pharmacists The purpose is to stimulate interest and aware ness rather than to provide detailed small print information For the person seeking greater knowledge there are several excellent monographs on the subject

Outpatient Nutrition Care and Home Nutrition Support Carol Ireton-Jones, 2016-08-05 Nutrition defined by Merriam Webster is the process of eating the right kind of food so you can grow properly and be healthy However making the right food and nutrition choices and finding the best and most accurate nutrition information can be a challenge especially when a disease or injury is present There are a wide range of ways that nutrition can be healing from a simple broth that provides fluids and electrolytes to therapeutic nutrition for diabetes irritable bowel syndrome or osteoporosis Registered Dietitian Nutritionists RDN have expertise in disease management and translation of nutrition requirements to foods to consume However nutrition care often does not receive the attention in the out patient setting that is needed to achieve nutrition goals The purpose of this book is to provide pertinent and concise nutrition care information for Registered Dietitian Nutritionists and other professionals working with individuals outside of the hospital including nurses pharmacists and physicians This book covers screening assessing and treating malnutrition out patient nutrition care in diabetes cardiovascular disease gastrointestinal disease osteoporosis and home enteral and parenteral nutrition In each chapter the reader will learn more about the disease process as well as the management of the disease or therapy As the number of patients receiving home care nutrition support increases proper assessment and management of this therapy is crucial and clinicians need to practice at an advanced level This book presents advanced and readily applicable information on proper nutrition care of individuals in the outpatient setting and those receiving home nutrition support
