Protestantism In Contemporary China:

Protestantism in Contemporary China Allan Hunter, Kim-kwong Chan, 1993 The Politics of Protestantism in Contemporary China Jason Kindopp, 2004 Christianity in Contemporary China Francis Khek Gee Lim, 2013-05-07 Christianity is one of the fastest growing religions in China Despite its long history in China and its significant indigenization or intertwinement with Chinese society and culture Christianity continues to generate suspicion among political elites and intense debates among broader communities within China This unique book applies socio cultural methods in the study of contemporary Christianity Through a wide range of empirical analyses of the complex and highly diverse experience of Christianity in contemporary China it examines the fraught processes by which various forms and practices of Christianity interact with the Chinese social political and cultural spheres Contributions by top scholars in the field are structured in the following sections Enchantment Nation and History Civil Society and Negotiating Boundaries This book offers a major contribution to the field and provides a timely wide ranging assessment of Christianity in Contemporary China Lightning from the East Emily Dunn, 2015-09-01 The Church of Almighty God also known as Eastern Lightning teaches that Jesus Christ has returned to earth as a Chinese woman to judge humankind The Chinese government has banned it and similar groups and targeted them in its campaign against cults such as Falun Gong Based on the Church s own texts and exogenous reports Emily Dunn offers the first comprehensive account of what the Church of Almighty God teaches how Chinese Christians and the government have responded to new religious movements related to Protestantism and how it all fits with global Christianity and the history of Chinese religion Christianity, Femininity and Social Change in Contemporary China Li Ma, 2021-01-02 Women make up the vast majority of Protestant Christians in China a largely faceless majority as their stories too often go untold in scholarly research as well as popular media This book writes Protestant Chinese women into the history of twenty first century China It features the oral histories of over a dozen women highlighting themes of spiritual transformation politicized culture social mobility urbanization and family life Each subject narrates not only her own story but that of her mother as well revealing a deeply personal dimension to the dramatic social change that has occurred in a matter of decades By uncovering the stories of Christian women in China Li Ma offers a unique window onto the interactions between femininity and Christianity and onto the socioeconomic upheavals that mark recent Chinese history A Protestant Church in Communist China John Craig William Keating, 2012-02-16 Freedom of religious belief is guaranteed under the constitution of the People s Republic of China but the degree to which this freedom is able to be exercised remains a highly controversial issue Much scholarly attention has been given to persecuted underground groups such as Falun but one area that remains largely unexplored is the relationship between officially registered churches and the communist government This study investigates the history of one such official church Moore Memorial Church in Shanghai This church was founded by American Methodist missionaries By the time of the 1949 revolution it was the largest Protestant church in East Asia running seven day a week programs As a case study of one individual church operating from an historical rather than theological perspective this study examines the experience of people at this church against the backdrop of the turbulent politics of the Mao and Deng eras It asks and seeks to answer questions such as were the people at the church pleased to see the foreign missionaries leave Were people forced to sign the so called Christian manifesto Once the church doors were closed in 1966 did worshipers go underground Why was this particular church especially chosen to be the first re opened in Shanghai in 1979 What explanations are there for its phenomenal growth since then A considerable proportion of the data for this study is drawn from Chinese language sources including interviews personal correspondence statistics internal church documents and archives many of which have never previously been published or accessed by foreign researchers The main focus of this study is on the period from 1949 to 1989 a period in which the church experienced many ups and downs restrictions and limitations The Mao era in particular remains one of the least understood and seldom written about periods in the history of Christianity in China This study therefore makes a significant contribution to our evolving understanding of the delicate balancing act between compromise co operation and compliance that categorizes church state relations in modern China

God and Caesar in China Jason Kindopp, Carol Lee Hamrin, 2004-04-21 In the late 1970s when Mao's Cultural Revolution ushered in China's reform era religion played a small role in the changes the country was undergoing There were few symbols of religious observance and the practice of religion seemed a forgotten art Yet by the new millennium China's government reported that more than 200 million religious believers worshiped in 85 000 authorized venues and estimates by outside observers continue to rise The numbers tell the story Buddhists as in the past are most numerous with more than 100 million adherents Muslims number 18 million with the majority concentrated in the northwest region of Xinjiang By 2000 China's Catholic population had swelled from 3 million in 1949 to more than 12 million surpassing the number of Catholics in Ireland Protestantism in China has grown at an even faster pace during the same period multiplying from 1 million to at least 30 million followers China now has the world's second largest evangelical Christian population behind only the United States In addition a host of religious and quasi spiritual groups and sects has also sprouted up in virtually every corner of Chinese society Religion's dramatic revival in post Mao China has generated tensions between the ruling Communist Party state and China's increasingly diverse population of religious adherents Such tensions are rooted in centuries old governing practices and reflect the pressures of rapid modernization The state's response has been a mixture of accommodation and repression with the aim of preserving monopoly control over religious organization Its inability to do so effectively has led to cycles of persecution of religious groups that resist the party's efforts American concern over official acts of religious persecution has become a leading issue in U S policy toward China The passage of the 1998 International Religious Freedom Act which institutionalized concern over religious freedom abroad in U S foreign policy cemented this issue as an item on the agenda of U S China relations God and Caesar in China examines China's religion policy the history and growth of Catholic and Protestant churches in China and the implications of church state friction for relations between the United States and China concluding with recommendations for U S policy Contributors include Jason Kindopp George Washington University Daniel H Bays Calvin College Mickey Spiegel Human Rights Watch Chan Kim kwong Hong Kong Christian Council Jean Paul Wiest Chinese University of Hong Kong Richard Madsen University of California San Diego Xu Yihua Fudan University Liu Peng Chinese Academy of Social Sciences and Carol Lee Hamrin George Mason University
