Researching Health Needs A Community Based Approach:

Researching Health Needs Judy Payne,1999-12-21 Researching Health Needs is an easy to use introductory guide to the main social research techniques used to gather evidence about the health needs of local communities The reader is taken through the process of producing evidence from the initial planning stages of research to writing up getting the message across and trying to influence policy and practice All of the methods are described in a simple and as far as possible non technical way and are extensively illustrated with concrete examples from existing studies The author has adopted a comprehensive and at times imaginative approach to applied social research Key features of the text include coverage of both social survey methods Global Handbook of Health Promotion Research, Vol. 1 Louise Potvin,Didier

Jourdan,2022-05-13 While research teams are producing relevant and valid knowledge for health promotion there is not yet a structured manual and distinct field of health promotion research This timely state of the art handbook contributes to the structuring of such a field of research This collection of original contributions explores the major epistemological methodological and ethical challenges facing health promotion research It brings together experts from different research traditions that coexist in the field The handbook covers the existing knowledge production and sharing practices to delineate the discipline and its agenda for future research Ultimately it contributes to the creation of a global community of health promotion researchers The handbook is organized by four types of practices what people actually do studied in health promotion the practices of Individuals and populations in relation to their health and its determinants Professionals who intervene to improve population health Policy makers and institutions involved in the advocacy design and implementation of policies and programs Researchers and innovators academic scholars and global agencies through which investment in research and production of evidence based guidelines are made Global Handbook of Health Promotion Research Vol 1 Mapping Health Promotion Research is a highly relevant reference tool for researchers and graduate students in health promotion public health education and socio health sciences practitioners in health medical and social sectors policy makers and health research administrators Community-Based Health Interventions in an Institutional Context Steven L.

Arxer,John W. Murphy,2019-09-13 Community Based Health Interventions in an Institutional Context examines challenges of institutionalizing community based health care While the community based or localized model is growing in popularity and importance in the United States in practice it must often be brought in to larger institutions in order to grow to scale The typical goals of an institution standardization formalization and control may be seen as antithetical to those of a community based healthcare provider such as spontaneity customization and flexibility The contributions to this work raise questions about how the community based model can be scaled up through institutions and how institutionalization can be rethought from a bottom up approach They provide not only an overview of community based organizations but also delve into practical topics such as establishing budgets training workers incorporating technology as well as more theoretical topics like goal setting policy effects like the ACA and relationships between patient and community This work will be of interest for researchers interested in exploring the community based health care model as well as practitioners in health care and health policy

Handbook of

Community-Based Participatory Research Steven S. Coughlin, Selina A. Smith, Maria E. Fernandez, 2017-01-11 Community based participatory research CBPR emerged in response to the longstanding tradition of top down research studies in which social scientists observe social phenomena and community problems as outsiders separate from the participants daily lives CBPR is more immersive fostering partnerships between academic and community organizations that increase the value and consequence of the research for all partners The current perspectives gleaned from this school of research have been wildly well received in no small part because they address the complexity of the human experience in their conclusions HANDBOOK OF COMMUNITY BASED PARTICIPATORY RESEARCH codifies the methods and theories of this research approach and articulates an expansive vision of health that includes gender equality safe and adequate housing and freedom from violence Topic based chapters apply the theory and methods of CBPR to real world problems affecting women ethnic and racial minorities and immigrant communities such as sexual violence exposure to environmental toxins and lack of access to preventive care as well as suggesting future directions for effective culturally sensitive research HANDBOOK OF COMMUNITY BASED PARTICIPATORY RESEARCH is required reading for academics policy makers and students seeking meaningful social change through scholarship

Community-Based Participatory Research Natalia Deeb-Sossa, 2019-04-16 Members of communities of color in the United States often struggle for equity autonomy survival and justice Community Based Participatory Research is an edited volume from activist scholars who present personal testimonies showcasing how community based participatory research CBPR can lead to sustainable change and empowerment Editor Natalia Deeb Sossa has chosen contributors whose diverse interdisciplinary projects are grounded in politically engaged research in Chicana and Latinx communities The scholars advocacy work is a core component of the research design of their studies challenging the idea that research needs to be neutral or unbiased The testimonies tell of projects that stem from community demands for truly collaborative research addressing locally identified issues and promoting community social change Contributors share their personal experiences in conducting CBPR focusing on the complexities of implementing this method and how it may create sustainable change and community empowerment Along with a retrospective analysis of how CBPR has been at the center of the Chicana o Movement and Chicana o studies the book includes a discussion of consejos y advertencias advice and warnings The most knowledgeable people on community issues are the very members of the communities themselves Recognizing a need to identify the experiences and voices testimonios of communities of color activist scholars showcase how to incorporate the perspectives of the true experts the poor women farmworkers students activists elders and immigrants

The Morehouse Model Ronald L. Braithwaite, Tabia Henry Akintobi, Daniel S. Blumenthal, W. Mary Langley, 2020-06-16 How can the example of Morehouse School of Medicine help other health oriented universities create ideal collaborations between faculty and community based organizations Among the 154 medical schools in the United States Morehouse School of Medicine stands out for its formidable success in improving its surrounding communities Over its history Morehouse has become known as an institution committed to community engagement with an interest in closing the health equity gap between people of color and the white majority population In The Morehouse Model Ronald L Braithwaite and his coauthors reveal the lessons learned over the decades since the school's founding lessons that other medical schools and health systems will be eager to learn in the hope of replicating Morehouse's success Describing the philosophical cultural and contextual grounding of the Morehouse Model they give concrete examples of it in action before explaining how to foster the collaboration between community based organizations and university faculty that is essential to making this model of care and research work Arguing that establishing ongoing collaborative projects requires genuineness transparency and trust from everyone involved the authors offer a theory of citizen participation as a critical element for facilitating behavioral change Drawing on case studies exploratory research surveys interventions and secondary analysis they extrapolate lessons to advance the field of community based participatory research alongside community health Written by well respected leaders in the effort to reduce health inequities The Morehouse Model is rooted in social action and social justice constructs It will be a touchstone for anyone conducting community based participatory research as well as any institution that wants to have a positive effect on its local community

The Handbook of Systemic Family Therapy, The Profession of Systemic Family Therapy Richard B. Miller, Ryan B. Seedall, 2020-10-19. This first volume of the The Handbook of Systemic Family Therapy includes extensive work on the theory, practice, research and policy foundations of the profession of CMFT and its roles in an integrated health care system. Developed in partnership with the American Association for Marriage and Family Therapy (AAMFT), it will appeal to clinicians such as couple, marital and family therapists, counselors, psychologists, social workers and psychiatrists. It will also benefit researchers, educators and graduate students involved in CMFT.

Researching Health Together Emily B. Zimmerman, 2020-03-02. Researching Health Together brings together authors who have produced innovative methods or implemented projects focused on different stages of the research process from question development to evaluation and translation. Editor Emily B. Zimmerman gathers exemplary new methods and projects into one place for the benefit of students designing research projects and proposals, those learning stakeholder engaged methods and those involved in implementing and funding stakeholder engaged projects. Each chapter addresses how engagement was conceptualized, organized and implemented, how engagement was evaluated, impacts on processes and outcomes of the project, and facilitators, barriers and lessons learned. The book serves as a core textbook for courses in community based health research at the graduate level.

Implementation Science to Address Health Disparities and Improve the Equitable Implementation of Proven Interventions Mechelle Sanders, Karla Galaviz, Oscar Gil, 2024-02-08. As health research moves through the translation pipeline, some minoritized groups have been left behind. This gap in translation has worsened and/or become more apparent for many during the COVID-19 pandemic. Implementation science can help address this gap by guiding the equitable dissemination and implementation of health interventions, healthcare policies and practices. With significant research focus on implementation of proven health interventions, there is a tremendous opportunity to ensure all individuals have access to and benefit from lifesaving healthcare and health interventions.

Ethical Issues in Community-based Research with Children and Youth Bonnie J. Ross Leadbeater, Elizabeth Bannister, Cecilia Benoit, Anne Marshall, Mikael Jansson, Ted Riecken, 2006-01-01 Efforts to apply ethical guidelines and regulations to vulnerable populations are often problematic Consequently health and social scientists sometimes shy away from the challenges of research particularly when it means addressing value laden social problems such as sexuality drugs and racism Ethical Issues in Community Based Research with Children and Youth is a collection of essays that describe the uniqueness of community based research outlining several of the ethical concerns that it engenders The contributors examine such issues as the scope of informed consent to multiple stakeholders determining competence to give consent in marginalized populations and managing dual roles as participant researchers The collection suggests that a more collaborative ongoing and discursive approach is needed by researchers and by ethical review boards to ensure that research on sensitive social problems with high risk populations is supported and also conducted with a clear understanding of the highest ethical standards possible
