Reshaping World Politics Ngos The Internet And Global Civil Society:

Reshaping World Politics Craig Warkentin, 2001 This text examines the ways in which non governmental organizations NGOs contribute to the development and maintenance of global civil society The author investigates eight NGOs and connects their organizational activities to global civil society s constitutive dynamics and processes Non-Governmental Organizations in World Politics Peter Willetts, 2010-12-15 Non governmental organizations NGOs from Amnesty International and Oxfam to Greenpeace and Save the Children are now key players in global politics This accessible and informative textbook provides a comprehensive overview of the significant role and increasing participation of NGOs in world politics Peter Willetts examines the variety of different NGOs their structure membership and activities and their complex relationship with social movements and civil society He makes us aware that there are many more NGOs exercising influence in the United Nations system than the few famous ones Conventional thinking is challenged in a radical manner on four questions the extent of the engagement of NGOs in global policy making the status of NGOs within international law the role of NGOs as crucial pioneers in the creation of the Internet and the need to integrate NGOs within mainstream international relations theory This is the definitive guide to this crucial area within international politics and should be required reading for students NGO activists and policy makers

Reshaping World Politics Craig Warkentin, 2001 This text examines the ways in which non governmental organizations NGOs contribute to the development and maintenance of global civil society The author investigates eight NGOs and connects their organizational activities to global civil society s constitutive dynamics and processes Civil Society in the Global South Palash Kamruzzaman, 2018-12-07 In recent years civil society has been seen as a key route for democracy promotion and solving development problems in low income countries However the very concept of civil society is deeply rooted in European traditions and values In pursuing civil society reform in non Western countries many scholars along with well meaning international agencies and donor organisations fail to account for non Western values and historical experiences Civil Society in the Global South seeks to redress this balance by offering diverse accounts of civil society from the global South authored by scholars and researchers who are reflecting on their observations of civil society in their own countries The countries studied in the volume range from across Africa Latin America Asia and the Middle East to give a rich account of how countries from the global south conceptualise and construct civil society The book demonstrates how local conditions are often unsuited to the ideal type of civil society as delineated in Western values for instance in cases where numerous political racial and ethnic sub groups are fighting for autonomy By disentangling local contexts of countries from across the global South this book demonstrates that it is important to view civil society through the lens of local conditions rather than viewing it as something that needs to be discovered or manufactured in non Western societies Civil Society in the Global South will be particularly useful to high level students and scholars within development studies sociology anthropology social policy politics international relations and human geography Beyond Networks -

Interlocutory Coalitions, the European and Global Legal Orders Gianluca Sgueo, 2016-04-06 This book explores the activism promoted by organised networks of civil society actors in opening up possibilities for more democratic supranational governance. It examines the positive and negative impact that such networks of civil society actors named interlocutory coalitions may have on the convergence of principles of administrative governance across the European legal system and other supranational legal systems. The book takes two main controversial aspects into account: the first relates to the convergence between administrative rules pertaining to different supranational regulatory systems. Traditionally, the spread of methods of administrative governance has been depicted primarily against the background of the interactions between the domestic and the supranational arena both from a top down and bottom up perspective. However, the exploration of interactions occurring at the supranational level between legal regimes is still not grounded on adequate empirical evidence. The second controversial aspect considered in this book consists of the role of civil society actors operating at the supranational level. In its discussion of the first aspect, the book focuses on the relations between the European administrative law and the administrative principles of law pertaining to other supranational regulatory regimes and regulators including the World Bank, the International Monetary Fund, the World Trade Organization, the United Nations, the Organization for Economic Cooperation and Development, the Asian Development Bank and the Council of Europe. The examination of the second aspect involves the exploration of the still little examined but crucial role of civil society organised networks in shaping global administrative law. These interlocutory coalitions include NGOs, think tanks, foundations, universities and occasionally activists with no formal connections to civil society organisations. The book describes such interlocutory coalitions as drivers of harmonized principles of participatory democracy at the European and global levels. However, interlocutory coalitions show a number of tensions, e.g. the governability of coalitions, the competition among them that may hamper the impact they have on the reconfiguration of individuals' rights, entitlements and responsibilities in the global arena.

Digital Formations Robert Latham, Saskia Sassen, 2009-09-19 Computer centered networks and technologies are reshaping social relations and constituting new social domains on a global scale from virtually borderless electronic markets and Internet based large scale conversations to worldwide open source software development communities, transnational corporate production systems and the global knowledge arenas associated with NGO networks. This book explores how such digital formations emerge from the ever changing intersection of computer centered technologies and the broad range of social contexts that underlie much of what happens in cyberspace. While viewing technologies fundamentally in social rather than technical terms, Digital Formations nonetheless emphasizes the importance of recognizing the specific technical capacities of digital technologies. Importantly, it identifies digital formations as a new area of study in the social sciences and in thinking about globalization. The ten chapters by leading scholars examine key social, political and economic developments associated with these new configurations of organization space and interaction. They address the operation of digital formations and their implications for the development of longstanding institutions and for their wider contexts and fields and they consider the political economic and other forces shaping those formations and how the formations in turn are shaping such forces Following a conceptual introduction by the editors are chapters by Hayward Alker Jonathan Bach and David Stark Lars Erik Cederman and Peter A Kraus Dieter Ernst D Linda Garcia Doug Guthrie Robert Latham Warren Sack Saskia Sassen and Steven Weber

Global Lies? M. Alleyne, 2003-07-25 Mark D Alleyne analyzes the key role of the UN's public information department in the organization's pursuit of its objectives The prominence of concepts such as human rights and national self determination in the international arena is due to the activity of this UN department Alleyne explores the UN's use of propaganda to shape the agenda of international relations

Poverty Reduction Strategy in Bangladesh Palash Kamruzzaman, 2014-01-20 This book aimed at postgraduate level students analyzes government relationships with international financial institutions to evaluate the role of citizen participation in formulating national poverty reduction policies Palash Kamruzzaman first explores the rhetoric of participation in development policies and goes on to examine how such citizen participation efforts were outlined in the Poverty Reduction Strategy Paper of Bangladesh where local development brokers play an important economic role Ultimately he argues that participatory policies are not enough we need an entire overhaul of poverty reduction thinking and enough political will from citizens and politicians alike to implement it

French NGOs in the Global Era G. Cumming, 2008-11-14 This book provides a systematic account of the changing priorities procedures and practices of French NGOs active in overseas development work It explores whether French NGOs are eschewing wider trends in the Northern NGO sector and uses Resource Dependence theory and a case study of NGO field work in Cameroon to shed light on these actors

China and the Internet Song Shi, 2023-12-15 China and the Internet analyzes how Chinese activists NGOs and government offices have used the Internet to fight rural malnutrition the digital divide the COVID 19 pandemic and other urgent problems affecting millions of people It presents five theoretically informed case studies of how new media have been used in interventions for development and social change including how activists battled against COVID 19

Mark Deuze author of Media Life and Media Works This is a long overdue volume The distinguished contributors to The Handbook of Global Media Research have produced a challenging and authoritative guide to understanding the latest developments in global media Thomas R Lindlof University of Kentucky As new forms of media proliferate and communication becomes ever more global transnational media is increasingly capable of both enhancing political cultural and economic globalization and shaping worldviews and civic identity Research into the development of transnational media is therefore an essential element of understanding the changes created by advanced globalization The Handbook of Global Media Research explores and articulates the key themes and competing approaches of this dynamic and developing field Bringing together the ideas of more than 40 internationally respected authors from around the world it provides valuable and varied insights into a globalized media landscape setting the agenda for the future of transnational media and communications research

The Digital Media Reader Jonathan Bishop, 2017 The Digital Media Reader combines a number of chapters relating to media practice identity and culture and society and politics Its advantage over other textbooks is its focus on contemporary digital media and cultures A significant number of the chapters relate to the hacktivist movement Anonymous and contemporary events like the Arab Spring and Citizen Journalism

Media, Organizations and Identity Lilie Chouliaraki, 2009-12-09 The mass media press and television have always been central in the formation of corporate identity and the promotion of business image and reputation This volume provides a new perspective into the interrelationships between media and organizations across three dimensions Media as Business Media in business and Business in the media

Cyberwar, Netwar and the Revolution in Military Affairs E. Halpin, P. Trevorrow, D. Webb, S. Wright, 2006-04-26 The end of the Cold War the Revolution in Military Affairs 9 11 and the War on Terror have radically altered the nature of conflict and security in the Twenty first Century This book considers how developments in technology effect the prosecution of war and what the changing nature of warfare means for human rights and civil society

The Politics of Knowledge Patrick Baert, Fernando Domínguez Rubio, 2013-03-01 Social scientists often refer to contemporary advanced societies as knowledge societies which indicates the extent to which science knowledge and knowledge production have become fundamental phenomena in Western societies and central concerns for the social sciences This book aims to investigate the political dimension of this production and validation of knowledge In studying the relationship between knowledge and politics this book provides a novel perspective on current debates about knowledge societies and offers an interdisciplinary agenda for future research It addresses four fundamental aspects of the relation between knowledge and politics the ways in which the nature of the knowledge we produce affects the nature of political activity how the production of knowledge calls into question fundamental political categories how the production of knowledge is governed and managed how the new technologies of knowledge produce new forms of political action This book will be of interest to students of sociology political science cultural studies and science and technology studies

Nongovernmental Organizations in International Society V. Heins, 2008-04-14 Based on a wealth of original information and research this book offers both a critical introduction to NGOs and a discussion of recent theoretical approaches which have either dismissed or wildly exaggerated their political significance Global Communication and Transnational Public Spheres A.

Crack, 2008-02-04 Information and communication technologies ICT enable citizens to communicate across state borders with greater ease than ever before exciting much speculation about the emergence of transnational public spheres This highly original work introduces this debate to International Relations Peace in International Relations Oliver P.

Richmond, 2020-01-06 This updated and revised second edition examines the conceptualisation and evolution of peace in International Relations IR theory The book examines the concept of peace and its usage in the main theoretical debates in IR including realism liberalism constructivism critical theory and post structuralism as well as in the more direct debates on peace and conflict studies It explores themes relating to culture development agency and structure not just in terms of representations of IR and of peace but in terms of the discipline of IR itself The work also specifically explores the recent mantras associated with liberal and neoliberal versions of peace which appear to have become foundational for much of the mainstream literature and for doctrines for peace and development in the policy world Analysing war has often led to the dominance and mitigation of violence as a basic assumption in and response to the problems of IR This study aims to redress this negative balance by arguing that the discipline offers a rich basis for the study of peace which has advanced significantly over the last century or so It also proposes innovative theoretical dimensions of the study of peace with new chapters discussing post colonial and digital developments This book will be of great interest to students of peace and conflict studies politics and IR Perspectives on the Information Society Jonathan Bishop, 2019 Perspectives on the Information
