Residential Environments And Households In The Randstad:

Residential Environments and Households in the Randstad Helen M. Kruythoff,1993 Residential Environments and Households in the Randstad Helen Marie Kruythoff,1993 Households and Housing Frans Dieleman,2017-07-12

Residential relocation is the household decision that generates housing consumption changes It is not merely a decision about changing locations it is also a decision about tenure about whether to own or to rent Research into housing markets has been largely focused on the process of changing from renting to owning as most countries in the Western world have moved from predominantly rental societies to societies of homeowners Households and Housing is designed to demonstrate the interconnections between the housing stock and households The focus is on understanding the demand for housing and the way in which the demand is fulfilled as households select housing This book is concerned with both the decision to move one's residence and the resulting type of housing choice The housing supply the stock of dwellings is the context within which households make choices and acquire housing The authors use the concepts of life course housing career and housing hierarchy to trace the movement of households through the housing market They paint a comprehensive picture of housing consumption by age income and tenure choice illustrated with nearly 150 figures and tables US housing market data are contrasted with data from the Netherlands to document the differential effects of government intervention This is the most up to date analysis available on the dynamics of housing choices and housing markets The Randstad: A Research and Policy Laboratory F.M. Dieleman,S. Musterd,2013-06-29

Randstad Holland is the urbanized western part of the Netherlands It contains the four largest cities of the country Amsterdam Rotterdam The Hague and Utrecht The name Randstad rim city refers to the distinctive shape of the conurbation a horseshoe of cities around an open agricultural and recreational area known as the Green Heart This book analyzes the restructuring of the region The volume summarizes the research of the Urban Networks research program The discussion is focused on four themes housing labor market and employment infrastructure and transportation and the provision of public services The Randstad is internationally known as the playground of urban and regional planners Their debates on present policy issues are extensively reviewed in the book Teachers and students of urban change and planning and policy makers and planners in The Netherlands and abroad will find much valuable information in this book , The Measurement and Analysis of Housing Preference and Choice Sylvia J.T. Jansen,Henny C.C.H. Coolen,Roland W. Goetgeluk,2011-05-12

What are the current trends in housing Is my planned project commercially viable What should be my marketing and advertisement strategies These are just some of the questions real estate agents landlords and developers ask researchers to answer But to find the answers researchers are faced with a wide variety of methods that measure housing preferences and choices To select and value a valid research method one needs a well structured overview of the methods that are used in housing preference and housing choice research This comprehensive introduction to this field offers just such an overview It discusses and compares numerous methods detailing the potential limitation of each one and it reaches beyond methodology illustrating how thoughtful consideration of methods and techniques in research can help researchers and other professionals to deliver products and services that are more in line with residents needs

Home Ownership J. F. Doling, Marja Elsinga, Richard Ronald, 2010 Provides an overview of the effects of home ownership This book refers to processes in the development of the homeownership stock including problems of access which in turn implies issues of affordability the viability of financial institutions and subsidies It also provides an overview of the research results in this field

European Territorial Governance Wil Zonneveld, 2012 The 1990s ended with the birth of the concept of European spatial planning which became a unique catalyst of change in Europe and in EU member states and regions This book examines both the evolution of territorial governance at a European and transnational level and how this new type of governance affects planning at the local and regional level It not only brings together a number of papers written by academic scholars but also several reflective contributions by practitioners As such this book seeks to contribute to various theoretical and empirical discussions the institutionalization of European policy and integration the Europeanisation of policy and planning multi level and multi actor policy making the contested nature of the knowledge base of European territorial governance and the role of visualization in politics and planning

Home Ownership. Getting In, Getting From, Getting Out. Part II J. Doling, 2006-06-29 Home ownership sectors in most European countries have grown in size Whatever assets European households have acquired in recent decades real estate appears to form a significant element in wealth portfolios Frequently national governments have been active in promoting the shift in tenure balance The general question pursued in this book is about the gains and losses accruing to individual households by virtue of their position as home owners The focus here is on financial gains and losses It also concerns the losses in the form of repayment risk related to difficulties that some households may experience in meeting housing loan repayment schedules The immediate background to this volume is the Conference Housing in Europe New Challenges and Innovations in Tomorrow's Cities held in Reykjavik Iceland Hosted by the Urban Studies Institute of the University of Iceland and Centre for Housing and Property Research Bifr st School of Business it was held under the auspices of the European Network of Housing Researchers

Home Ownership Beyond Asset and Security Marja Elsinga, 2008 Offers information by linking developments on home ownership with developments in the financial and labor markets in the context of globalization This book is the conclusion of a body of research that started with a workshop held at the University of York in October 2000 and which resulted in the book Globalisation and Home Ownership

Home Ownership. Getting In, Getting From, Getting Out. P. Boelhouwer, 2005 Home ownership sectors in most European countries have grown in size Whatever assets European households have acquired in recent decades real estate appears to form a significant element in wealth portfolios Frequently national governments have been active in promoting the shift in tenure balance The general question pursued in this book is about the gains and losses accruing to individual households by virtue of their position as home owners The focus here is on financial gains and losses This book is also concerned with the losses in the form of repayment risk related to difficulties that some households may experience in meeting housing loan repayment schedules The immediate background to this volume is the Conference on Housing Growth and Regeneration Hosted by the Cambridge Centre for Housing and Planning Research Department of Land Economy University of Cambridge it was held under the auspices of the European Network of Housing Researchers

Behavior and Environment T. Garling, R.G. Golledge, 1993-01-28 Active researchers in the areas of geography and psychology have contributed to this book Both fields are capable of increasing our scientific knowledge of how human behavior is interfaced with the molar physical environment Such knowledge is essential for the solution of many of today's most urgent environmental problems Failure to constrain use of scarce resources pollution due to human activities creation of technological hazards and deteriorating urban quality due to vandalism and crime are all well known examples The influence of psychology in geographical research has long been appreciated but it is only recently that psychologists have recognized they have something to learn from geography In identifying the importance of two way interdisciplinary communication a psychologist and a geographer have been invited to each write a chapter in this book on a designated topic so that close comparisons can be drawn as to how the two disciplines approach the same difficulties Since the disciplines are to some extent complementary it is hoped that this close collaboration will have synergistic effects on the attempts of both to find solutions to environmental problems through an increased understanding of the many behavior environment interfaces

Open House International, 2002 Social Sciences Index, 1996 OECD Territorial Reviews: Randstad Holland, Netherlands 2007 OECD, 2007-04-13 The Randstad is a poly centric urban area in western Netherlands comprising Amsterdam Rotterdam The Hague Utrecht and several smaller cities It is one of the most densely populated areas in the OECD and has developed into an advanced urban

Spatial Planning, Urban Form and Sustainable Transport Katie Williams, 2017-03-02 The ways in which we travel have a huge impact on sustainability This book addresses the relationship between travel patterns and the physical form of cities and considers the role of spatial planning in that relationship Three sections present empirical research and commentaries from leading academics and practitioners from Europe the USA Australia and Japan The first section considers the impact of urban form in combination with factors such as lifestyles and socio demographic change on sustainable transport The second addresses the impact of different elements of urban form such as density configuration and mix of uses on mobility The final section focuses on issues surrounding the implementation of spatial planning policies to support sustainable travel The book will be of interest to practitioners academics and students in the fields of planning transport and geography

Building Regulations in Europe: A comparison of the technical requirements in eight European countries Frits Meijer, Henk Visscher, Linda

Sheridan, 2003 The protection of safety and health of their citizens is a major reason for governments to draw up regulations for the built environment In the course of time other points of departure such as utility energy economy sustainability and economic motives have come to play a part For these subjects technical requirements are formulated and the procedures for checking building plans against the requirements and issuing the building permits have been laid down in laws In search for ingredients for a uniform system of building control in Europe Delft Technical University and the University of Liverpool carried out an international research project into the systems of building regulations implementation and control and the systems of technical requirements in the Netherlands England France Germany Sweden Norway Belgium and Denmark

Polynuclear Urban Regions and the Transnational Dimension of Spatial Planning B. W. Lambregts, Wil Zonneveld, 2003

This third volume on the EURBANET project focuses on the building blocks for transnational planning in North West Europe This research which looks at the different aspects of polynuclear urban regions in a North West European context shows the crucial Synergy in Polycentric Urban Regions Evert J. Meijers, 2007 Thanks to reality and the stubborn resistance of history to accommodate urban planning often cities of about the same size wind up fairly close to each other and although they do not merge or in other ways behave as one entity they become co dependent either formally or informally in terms of identity if not its services Meijers presents here his doctoral dissertation which was undertaken with the support of an urban research project in The Netherlands He describes polycentric urban regions and their nearly universal quest for synergy the division of labor of one set of cities in the Randstad Flemish Diamond and RheinRuhr areas moving from a central places theory too a network model realizing the potential of a polycentric urban region abandoning the idea that adding up small cities makes a metropolis and synthesizing theoretical and case study information
