Residential Mobility Migration And Metropolitan Change:

Residential Mobility, Migration, and Metropolitan Change Alden Speare, Sidney Goldstein, William H. Frey, 1975

Household Mobility in America Brian Joseph Gillespie, 2016-12-22 This book provides an interdisciplinary analysis of the correlates and consequences of residential relocation Drawing on multiple nationally representative data sets the book explores historic patterns and current trends in household mobility individuals mobility related decisions and the individual family and community outcomes associated with moving These sections inform later discussions of mobility related policy practice and directions for future research Housing Desegregation and Federal Policy John M. Goering, 2012-12-30

Housing desegregation is one of America's last civil rights frontiers Drawing on the expertise of social scientists civil rights attorneys and policy analysts these original essays present the first comprehensive examination of housing integration and federal policy covering the last two decades This collection examines the ambiguities of federal fair housing law the shifting attitudes of white and black Americans toward housing integration the debate over racial quotas in housing and the efficacy of federal programs Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 banned discrimination in federally assisted housing and Title VIII of the Civil Rights Act of 1968 banned discrimination in most of the private housing market Housing Desegregation and Federal Policy shows that America has made only modest progress in desegregating housing despite these federal policies Providing a balanced assessment of federal policies and programs is complicated because of disagreement over the nature of the federal government's role in this area Disagreements over the meaning of federal law coupled with white and black disinterest in desegregation have compounded the difficulties in promoting residential integration The authors employ research findings as well as legal and policy analysis in examining these complex issues They consider a broad range of issues related to housing desegregation and integration offering new sources of evidence and ideas for future research and policymaking Originally published in 1986 A UNC Press Enduring Edition UNC Press Enduring Editions use the latest in digital technology to make available again books from our distinguished backlist that were previously out of print These editions are published unaltered from the original and are presented in affordable paperback formats bringing readers both historical and cultural value The Planning Role in Stretching the City Shlomit Flint Ashery, 2023-09-09 This research aims to uncover new insights into minority housing strategies and their impact on densely populated urban areas The study assumes that as space becomes scarce inter and intra groups interactions in the urban space motivate people to maximize the utility of the resources at their disposal This stretch of the built environment provides them with critical selective advantages and a sense of security and belonging Based on two neighbourhoods in London it contributes to our understanding of housing decisions in the context of illegality and shows the capacity of a given urban form for adaptation It creates a new semi private public space partly segregated yet deeply integrated a sphere that on the one hand enables traditional nested places and on the other a fertile environment for integration This manuscript contributes two new ideas to the knowledge base of residential selections and the geography of opportunities The first is a detailed analysis of a hyper segregation integration pattern resulting from complementary residential strategies operating at the individual unit level The second is multidimensional stretching a bottom up initiation that allows individuals to maximize resources through territorial and spatial practices

Sociological Human Ecology Michael Micklin,Harvey M Choldin,2019-09-18 First published in This volume grew out of concerns raised by the contributors and a few others over the current status of human ecology within the field of sociology Stemming from conferences and subsequent discussions by a group of sociologist demographers on recent developments in sociological human ecology which started at the annual meeting of the Population Association of America in 1976 the original essays contained in this book are designed to review and assess the current state of knowledge in the field

Commuting and Relocation of Jobs and Residences Jos Ommeren,2018-04-27 This title was first published in 2000 An analysis of commuting behaviour from an integrated labour and housing market perspective A theoretical search model is proposed and analyzed with an emphasis on two owner households The book provides insights into the relationship between job and residential moving and commuting behaviour

U.S. and West German Housing Markets K. Stahl,R.J. Struyk,2013-11-11 For many years countries have taken advantage of one another s experiences in formulating social policies and even in designing specific interventions Often such transfers have occurred on a fairly casual level sometimes greater rigor has been present In either case the goal has been to learn from previous experience at least to avoid repeating the mistakes of the past In light of the promise that such intercountry transfers hold it is somewhat surprising that so little energy has gone into careful analytic work on the behavior of households in differing countries and how they respond to various changes especially those resulting from shifts in public policy This lack of careful analysis was a major force that motivated The Urban Institute to establish an international studies program in 1982 This volume represents one of the early products of the collaborative efforts that this initiative has spawned The results of the comparison of the housing markets in West Germany and the United States presented here offer examples of the type of unexpected conclusions that may emerge from careful analyses as well as more anticipated outcomes Despite the many similarities in the economies of the United States and West Germany and the general free market orientation of their housing sectors the papers in this volume document important differences in the way households make decisions about their housing and the consequences of these decisions

Families and Housing Markets Margaret C. Simms,1980 Population Issues Leo J.G. van Wissen,Pearl A. Dykstra,2012-12-06 This volume marks the end of an eight year program of research on population issues launched in 1990 by the Netherlands Organization for Scientific Research The NWO Priority Program on Population Issues Initiatives for this program of research were taken over ten years ago by Hans Van Ginkel who became the first program chair and Dirk Van De Kaa The Dutch community of population scientists is deeply indebted to them for their early efforts At the time the program carried the name Between Individual Development and Social Solidarity Pop ulation and

Society in a Period of Transition The goals of the Priority Program were threefold To reduce the fragmentation of research on population issues to increase collaboration among population researchers with different disciplinary backgrounds and to strengthen the position of population studies in Dutch academe and in international forums Looking back over eight years of programmed research we can safely say that the Priority Program has given an enormous impetus to population research in the Netherlands as this volume attests This program of research could not have been carried out successfully without the valuable contributions and constructive input of a large group of scientists The scope and the focus of the Priority Program were defined by a preparatory committee chaired by Gerard Frinking Societal Geo-innovation Arnold Bregt, Tapani Sarjakoski, Ron van Lammeren, Frans Rip, 2017-04-03 This book contains the full research papers presented at the 20th AGILE Conference on Geographic Information Science held in 2017 at Wageningen University Research in Wageningen the Netherlands The selected contributions show trends in the domain of geographic information science directed to spatio temporal perception and spatio temporal analysis For that reason the book is also of interest to professionals and researchers in fields outside geographic information science in which the application of geoinformation could be instrumental in sparking societal innovation Housing and Planning References, 1975 Applied Urban Analysis Ian Cullen, 2013-04-15 Much of the theoretical literature in planning and human geography at present is materialist in perspective This offers a powerful critique but locates the dynamics of urban systems too specifically in just one basic social relationship It fails to provide an intellectual base broad enough for constructive detailed urban analysis partly because it fails to do justice to the reflective awareness of the individual The alternative humanist position redresses the balance in favour of the individual but again cannot serve the practical requirements of urban analysis since it so often ignores social or contextual analysis Ian Cullen synthesizes these two apparently inconsistent theoretical positions and to render the increasingly obscure debate between them accessible This book was first published in 1984 Behavioral Problems in Geography Revisited Kevin R Cox, Reginald Golledge, 2015-12-22 This collection of papers originally published in 1981 reviews and evaluates past and possible future advances in a field of central importance to human geography behavioral geography The book includes critical studies which show how the approach has contributed substantially to work within four areas of major application in behavioral geography urban travel behavior environmental cognition residential mobility and spatial diffusion The final section of the book focuses on the shortcomings of the behavioral approach and considers the alternative modes of analysis available

Gentrification, Displacement, and Neighborhood Revitalization J. John Palen, Bruce London, 1985-06-30 Bringing an empirical objective approach to a topic that has often been the source of emotional and uninformed controversy Gentrification Displacement and Neighborhood Revitalization provides an introduction to major issues in urban revitalization new research findings and a discussion of theoretical perspectives This is the first broad based survey of a scattered literature that has not been readily accessible The book's comprehensive introduction leads to informative analyses of new research by sociologists planners geographers and urban studies faculty A concluding essay examines the present state of knowledge about gentrification and discusses its implications suggesting future developments and trends

Innovative Approaches to Understanding Transportation/societal Interactions: Study design reports, 1981

Interpreting the City Truman Asa Hartshorn, 1992-04-16 The Second Edition has been rewritten to provide additional coverage of topics such as urban development and third world cities as well as social issues including homelessness jobs housing mismatch and transportation disadvantages It has also been updated with 1990 Census data

Migration Decision Making Gordon F. De Jong, Robert W. Gardner, 2013-10-22 Migration Decision Making Multidisciplinary Approaches to Microlevel Studies and Developing Countries discusses several topics such as systematics review and evaluation of microlevel frameworks and models of the migration decision applicability of microlevel migration models and framework and general policy implications of microlevel models and frame works The opening chapter introduces the main themes and provides an overview of the book Chapter 2 discusses the motivation for migration an assessment and a value expectancy research model and the next chapter tackles macrolevel influences on the migration decision process Chapter 4 covers microeconomic approaches to studying migration decisions while Chapter 5 discusses information uncertainty and the microeconomic model of migration decision making The sixth chapter talks about moving toward a development paradigm of migration with particular reference to third world countries and the seventh chapter discusses village community ties village norms and ethnic and social networks Chapter 8 covers family structure and family strategy in migration decision making and then Chapter 9 discusses the migration decision making process emphasizing some social psychological considerations Chapter 10 tackles policy intervention considerations focusing on the relationship of theoretical models to planning and Chapter 11 discusses the utility of microlevel approach to migration using a Philippine perspective The last chapter is a review of micro migration research in the third world context This book will be of great interest to sociologists economists law makers and government agencies who are concerned with the implications of migrations

Selling Cities David P. Varady, Jeffrey A. Raffel, 1995-01-01 Shows that cities can be revitalized by attracting and retaining the middle class through schools and housing programs

Return Migration Decisions Ruth Achenbach, 2016-10-21 Ruth Achenbach develops a model of individual return migration decision making which examines both the process and the decisive factors in return migration decision making of Chinese highly skilled workers and students in Japan She proposes to answer a question yet insufficiently explained by migration research why do migrants deviate from their migration intentions and return sooner or later than planned or not at all Her study integrates factors from the spheres of career family and lifestyle and redefines stages in long term decision making processes thereby contributing to decision and migration theory She analyzes migrants shifting priorities over the course of migration including a perspective on life course and on the impact of the triple catastrophe of March 11 2011

Spatial Behavior in Haredi Jewish Communities in Great Britain Shlomit Flint Ashery, 2019-09-25

This book focuses on the strict orthodox Jewish Haredi community which comprises many sects whose communal identity plays a central role in everyday life and spatial organization. The research reveals and analyses powerful mechanisms of residential segregation acting at the apartment building and near neighbourhood levels. Identifying the main engines of spontaneous and organised neighbourhood change and evaluating the difficulties of liberalism dealing with non autonomous individuals in the housing market sheds light on similar processes occurring in other city centres with diverse population groups. Highlighting the impact of various organisational levels on the spatial structure of the urban enclave the book focuses on the internal dynamics of ethno religious enclaves that emerge from three levels of action: 1 individuals relationships with their own and other groups; 2 the community leadership's powers within the group and in respect of other groups; and 3 government directives and tools e.g. planning. The study examines how different levels of communal organisation are reflected in the residential patterns of four British communities: the Litvish communities of Golders Green and Gateshead and the Hassidic communities of Stamford Hill and Canvey Island.
