Color - Communication in Architectural Space Gerhard Meerwein, Bettina Rodeck, Frank H. Mahnke, 2007-06-08 Colors are an element of both the natural and the man made environments They convey messages of all kinds and perform a wide variety of functions informing organizing warning But they also serve an aesthetic purpose affecting the statement effect and acceptance of objects and spaces While people s reactions to color vary widely in design questions it is still possible to establish generally valid color concepts to match the expectations of the various groups of users This book offers a guide based on a wide range of scientific findings and may be consulted as an authoritative reference by the architecture student and the professional alike The three editors Dr B Rodeck Prof G Meerwein and F H Mahnke have taught for many years at the Salzburger Seminare f r Farbe und Umwelt der IACC Culinary Taste Donald Sloan, Prue Leith, 2012-05-04 Culinary Taste Consumer Behaviour in the International Restaurant Sector looks at the factors that influence our culinary tastes and dining behaviour illustrating how they can translate into successful business in industry With a foreword from Prue Leith restaurateur author teacher and prolific cookery writer and novelist and a list of well known and respected international contributors from the UK France Australia and Hong Kong this text discusses the issues involved from a multitude of angles

European Gastronomy into the 21st Century Caillein Gillespie, John Cousins, 2012-05-23 Gastronomy is the art and science of good eating and drinking a concept that extends outwards to embrace wider notions of tradition culture society and civilisation This book provides a rigorous well researched and much needed treatment of the subject systematically outlining the development of European gastronomic tradition and the social economic philosophical and geographical contexts of change the experiences philosophies and relative contributions of great gastronomes past and present the interplay of traditional and contemporary influences on modern gastronomy the relationship between gastronomy and and travel and tourism salient issues of nutrition food hygiene and health promotion Taking an all encompassing look at the subject of gastronomy past present and future European Gastronomy into the 21st Century uses example menus and case studies to demonstrate the theory It also provides an insight into the business arena using key destination restaurants to illustrate management techniques and marketing issues Accessible and highly structured the book guides the reader through its wide ranging and thought provoking content Food and Architecture Subhadip Majumder, Sounak

Majumder, 2020-10-02 Food and architecture the two pillars of human civilization have intertwined to such extents to sustain the civilization itself that the connection between the two has visually ceased to exist The apparent diverse fields of human life have worked upon similar principles through ages from the beginning of mankind and they complemented our existence Food is fundamental to cross cultural studies of behavior thought and imagery We eat for many reasons than just to satisfy our appetite The act of eating is now a way of socializing with others Hence all major institutes of food service are trying hard to amaze their users with a built environment that complements the served delicacy Although most of the users might not understand the thought consciously but subconscious mind keeps alarming when things don't fall in place The book surfs through all the aspects of such two diverse fields and tries to show a parallel through a very socialistic and holistic perspective It's interesting to understand the intangible logics behind the very tangible aspects of human life
