Farkas,Arie Rip,2012-12-06 Countries establish defence industries for various reasons Chief among these are usually a concern with national security and a desire to be as independent as possible in the supply of the armaments which they believe they need But defence industries are different from most other industries Their customer is governments Their product is intended to safeguard the most vital interests of the state The effectiveness of these products in the real rather than the experimental sense is not normally tested at the time of purchase If or when it is tested many other factors such as the quality of political and military leadership enter into the equation so complicating judgments about the quality of the armaments and about the reliability of the promises made by the manufacturers All of these features make the defence sector an unusually political industrial sector This has been true in both the command economies of the former Soviet Union and its satellites and in the market or mixed economies of the west In both cases to speak only a little over generally the defence sector has been particularly privileged and particularly protected from the usual economic vicissitudes In both cases too its centrality to the perceived vital interests of the state has given it an unusual degree of political access and support

Professional Journal of the United States Army ,1990 Bulletin of the Atomic Scientists ,1988-09 Soviet Military Power In A Changing World Susan L Clark,2019-06-04 Many people have been instrumental in helping see this book through to completion First I want to thank Robbin Laird not only for his professional encouragement over the years but especially for his suggestion to do this book in the first place Nor would this effort have been possible or nearly as enjoyable without the support and friendship of Susan McEachern I would also like to thank Jackie Evans for her assistance in helping to prepare the manuscript Problems and Perspectives of Conventional Disarmament in Europe United Nations Institute for Disarmament Research UNIDIR,2021-01-26 This book first published in 1989 explores the ideas proposals and counterproposals surrounding the thorny issue of Cold War conventional force disarmament in Europe European nations acknowledged the need to reduce military tensions but divergences remained as to the concrete ways and means for the attainment of the security objectives on the basis of mutually acceptable reductions of their respective forces A UNIDIR organized conference examined these issues and presented here are the conference reports and findings together with speaker responses Conventional Arms Control and East-West Security Institute for East-West Security Studies,1989 This important and timely work prepared by the leading researchers planners and policymakers from both Eastern and Western alliances analyzes the major issues in the Vienna talks on conventional forces in Europe involving NATO and Warsaw Pact nations It is likely to have a significant influence on the course of these negotiations and on emerging debate on conventional arms control The contributors met in Moscow prior to the Vienna conference to review and compare their analyses and revised them thereafter for publication in this work The Future of the U.S.-Soviet Nuclear Relationship National Academy of Sciences,Committee on International Security and Arms Control,1991-02-01 The United States and the Soviet Union could drastically reduce their nuclear arsenals below the levels prescribed by the new Strategic Arms Reduction

Treaty START The end of the Cold War and the transformation of international security now under way present the United States with opportunities to develop new policies based on greater international cooperation with the Soviet Union and other major powers This new book describes two lower levels of nuclear forces that could be achieved as well as other related measures to improve international security The New Germany and the New Europe Paul B. Stares, 2010-12-01 Since the first heroic and largely spontaneous acts precipitated the end of the Cold War Europe has been transformed in a truly remarkable and wholly unforeseen manner Germany has been unified the Warsaw Pact has collapsed and the Soviet Union has disintegrated leaving in its wake many new independent states These momentous events have taken place so rapidly and often in such confused circumstances that their full meaning has barely been comprehended let alone assimilated A clearer and deeper appreciation of the forces and processes unleashed by the recent changes is vitally important however to meet the challenges and exploit the opportunities that now present themselves in Europe This volume therefore is intended to promote wider understanding of the key issues and it represents the most comprehensive assessment to date of the new Germany and the new Europe The volume begins with detailed accounts by U S and German scholars of how unification came about and the resulting changes to the political economy security policy and foreign relations A complementary section discusses the implications for the rest of Europe as well as Japan While the focus of the book is on the new Germany two separate chapters provide specific designs for a new adoption of a general system of cooperative security French Security Policy Robbin F. Laird, 2019-03-11 Beginning with a look at continuity and change in French policy since de Gaulle this book presents the evolution of French security policy in the 1970s and 1980s Dr Laird pays special attention to the French nuclear modernization process and to the trend in the last two decades toward a greater emphasis on security interdependence within the Western alliance at the expense of the classic Gaullist stance of independence He examines the major dimensions of French security policy particularly French nuclear employment policy and doctrine the Franco German relationship and France s role in Europe and in East West relations The book features the first time translation of some of the most significant recent papers by leading French analysts of security affairs Handbook of the Sociology of the Military Giuseppe Caforio, 2007-07-23 Never before has there been so extensive a collection of what has been thought said and written about the sociology of the military This accessible handbook is the first of its kind to delve into the sociological approach to the study of the military This book is compiled of documents coming from various researchers at universities around the world as well as military officers devoted to the sector of study Covered in this volume is a historical excursus of studies prior to contemporary research interpretive models and theoretical approaches developed specifically for this topic civic military relations including issues surrounding democratic control of the armed forces military culture professional training conditions and problems of minorities in the armed forces an examination of the structural change within the military over the years including new duties and functions following the Cold War This book is ideal for scholars of the subject as well as those coming to the sociology of the military for the first time The A to Z of NATO and Other International Security Organizations Marco Rimanelli, 2009-09-14 The North Atlantic Treaty Organization NATO is a military alliance established by the signing of the North Atlantic Treaty on April 4 1949 The treaty was signed by Belgium the Netherlands Luxemburg France United Kingdom United States Canada Portugal Italy Norway Denmark and Iceland Today there are a total of 26 countries that belong to NATO The A to Z of NATO and Other International Security Organizations covers the Atlantic Alliance s origins structure and organization through a chronology an introductory essay a bibliography and over 1 000 cross referenced dictionary entries on its Secretaries Generals its Supreme Allied Commanders Europe plus all affiliated organizations created to enhance NATO s reach in a broader Euro Atlantic security architecture e g North Atlantic Consultative Council Euro Atlantic Partnership Council NATO Russia Charter NATO Ukraine Charter and NATO Mediterranean Dialogue Partners This book also covers other related regional organizations with security responsibilities in Europe and worldwide where they interact with NATO either currently e g ANZUS ASEAN European Union Organization of African Unity Organization of American States Organization on Security and Cooperation in Europe and United Nations or in the past e g CENTO European Defence Community SEATO Warsaw Pact and Western European Union Department of State Publication ,1994 Each issue covers separate country The Arms Race in an Era of Negotiations David Carlton, Carlo Schaerf, 1991-08-05 The countries of NATO and the Warsaw Pact have begun to negotiate for nuclear and conventional arms reductions The world is no longer bipolar as the arsenals of China France and Britain become more significant This book looks at strategic realities and current global and European problems Background Notes, Poland ,1994
