

THE NEW NATURALIST

"A series which has set a new standard in Natural History Books."
THIRD LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

THE SEA COAST by J. A. Steers

"As our greatest authorities on coastal topography never in former centuries than Professor Steers to write the natural history of our sea coast. This book is a complete study showing the contours, the evolution and origin of the cliffs, rocks, sea stacks, beaches and dunes, together with the plants and animals that support."
NATURALIST LITERARY SUPPLEMENT

BIRDS AND MEN by E. M. Nicholson

The Bird Life of British Towns, Villages, Gardens and Farmland "Explores a new subject and reveals themes: what exactly has been the impact of modern civilization upon bird life? A notable blend of high scholarship with graphic writing."
NATURALIST

THE FULMAR (Special Volume) by James Fisher

"The species of British bird has never been monographed so completely as the Fulmar in its splendid volume, and none can be a more worthy subject for so exhaustive a study. The author's researches have given us a book that is an example of scientific bird ornithology as no book. He is to be congratulated on successfully accomplishing this monumental work, which will be a standard for many years to come."

realm of nature s wonders few creatures capture our imagination like the seabirds of the Gulf Coast With their graceful flight captivating calls and intriguing behaviors these avian marvels have long held a special place in our hearts In this comprehensive and engaging book we take you on a journey into the world of these extraordinary creatures Discover the incredible diversity of seabirds that call the Gulf Coast their home From the diminutive least tern with its delicate plumage and lightning fast dives to the majestic brown pelican with its enormous wingspan and impressive fishing skills each species possesses its own unique charm and ecological significance Learn about their intricate courtship rituals their remarkable navigational abilities and their vital role in maintaining the delicate balance of the marine ecosystem However the world of seabirds is not without its challenges In recent decades these avian wonders have faced a multitude of threats including habitat loss pollution climate change and bycatch These factors have led to a decline in seabird populations raising concerns about the long term survival of these iconic creatures Yet amidst these challenges there is hope Dedicated individuals and organizations are working tirelessly to protect seabirds and their habitats Through conservation efforts such as habitat restoration pollution reduction and public education we can help ensure that future generations can continue to marvel at the beauty and wonder of these magnificent seabirds Within these pages you will find a wealth of information on the seabirds of the Gulf Coast Explore their biology behavior and ecology gaining a deeper understanding of these fascinating creatures Examine the threats they face and the conservation efforts underway to protect them Through this journey we hope to inspire

Tisdell,Clevo Wilson,2012-01-01 This book tackles the two edge sword of non consumptive wildlife tourism on net does it add to or detract from species conservation The book does so with a treasure trove of original survey research on the supply and demand for wildlife tourism on both public and private lands from Antarctica to rainforests to marine wildlife The economic analysis is one of the first to apply new behavioral economics to analyzing tourists choices John Loomis Colorado State University US Does nature based tourism help or hinder biodiversity conservation The answer provided by this authoritative volume is that it depends on context and type of tourism and is no easy panacea. Indeed it can result in an under supply of nature conservation from an economic point of view. This book provides an excellent synthesis supported by case studies of the tourism conservation trade off problem. It will appeal to both academic and practitioner audiences. R Kerry Turner CBE University of East Anglia UK. This book encapsulates a lifetime's scholarly work between the authors. It sets out the platform upon which nature based tourism may be discussed and debated which it then enriches by a series of case examples mostly drawn from personal experience. In doing so it performs a valuable service to all interested in this field by capturing those detailed insights into nature based tourism that are often only acquired by experience. Stephen Wanhill Editor Tourism Economics. In today's world even nature seems to have to pay its own way. Nature based Tourism and Conservation provides detailed real life examples of how this is working in various parts of the world from rainforests to Antarctica and how the tradeoffs can best be measured. Clem Tisdell and Clevo Wilson provide a unique economic perspective to the various issues involved providing practical illustrations of how others can incorporate the various ways of considering costs and benefits when deciding how to define the role nature based tourism when planning conservation measures. This book will be useful to a wide range of audiences from national protected area agencies to private land owners who are establishing their own nature based tourism enterprises. Jeffrey McNeely International Union for Conservation of Nature Switzerland. Nature based Tourism and Conservation unearths new or neglected principles relevant to tourism and recreational economics, environmental valuation and economic theory. Its three parts have chapters on nature based tourism and its relationships to conservation including case studies dealing with the consequences of World Heritage listing of natural sites, Antarctic, subtropical and tropical national park based tourism and an NGO's conservation efforts modelled on ecotourism. The final part focuses on tourism utilizing particular wildlife including sea turtles, whales, penguins, royal albatross, glow worms and tree kangaroos.
