In the background, there are three large, arched windows that let in bright light, creating a high-contrast, airy atmosphere. The floor appears to be a light-colored, reflective surface.

to Art and Architecture New York Public Library. Art and Architecture Division, 1975 The Search for Wholeness and Diaspora Literacy in Contemporary African American Literature Silvia Castro-Borrego, 2011-05-25 This volume has as a cohesive argument the exploration of the different manifestations of the search for wholeness and spirituality in the writings of contemporary African American women writers covering different literary genres such as fiction both novels and short stories drama and poetry Together with the issue of spirituality the African American search for wholeness is analyzed as a source of creativity and agency As expressed in the contemporary literature of black women writers starting in the 1980s the search for wholeness reflects a beauty realized through the healing of the spirit and the body and is a process that takes on dimensions of reconciling the past and the present the mythical and the real the spiritual and the physical all in the context of an emerging world view that welcomes synthesis and expects both synthesis and generative contradictions The book will be a valuable collection for scholars of African American literature comparative American Ethnic literature American literature and spirituality as well as women s studies In addition it will be an important text for both undergraduate and graduate students in those fields As Professor Johnnella Butler 2006 points out the African American search for wholeness is tightly linked to the search for freedom and agency Ever since the 19th century African American writers have given expression to an African American self which functions in Western civilization simultaneously as a colonized other and an assertive self Due to the continuous ordeal of the African Diaspora this self is caught in between the binaries proposed by the material and the spiritual world seeking a balance where the person can become whole The search for wholeness feeds from cultural roots that imply the presence of ancestral spiritualism rememory and double consciousness Contemporary black women writers reflect the metaphor of building spiritual bridges seeking the possibilities of building a bridge to the archetypal African past that is carried in their memories as a presence that offers sustenance via spiritual reconnection Their works seek to bridge the gap between the myths and traditions of the past and contemporary African American culture The texts included in this collection are examples of writing as an exercise of what V v Clark calls Diaspora literacy The texts written by contemporary African American women writers explicitly show how to recognize and read the cultural signs left scattered along the road of progress In this way material acquisition is achieved along with cultural dispossession becoming a metaphor for the history of the African in America The powerful message is that one should not exclude the other

Music and the Functions of the Brain: Arousal, Emotions, and Pleasure Mark

Reybrouck, Tuomas Eerola, Piotr Podlipniak, 2018-04-12 Music impinges upon the body and the brain As such it has significant inductive power which relies both on innate dispositions and acquired mechanisms and competencies The processes are partly autonomous and partly deliberate and interrelations between several levels of processing are becoming clearer with accumulating new evidence For instance recent developments in neuroimaging techniques have broadened the field by encompassing the study of cortical and subcortical processing of the music The domain of musical emotions is a typical example with a major focus on the pleasure that can be derived from listening to music Pleasure however is not the only emotion to be induced and the mechanisms behind its elicitation are far from understood There are also mechanisms related to arousal and activation that are both less differentiated and at the same time more complex than the assumed mechanisms that trigger basic emotions It is imperative therefore to investigate what pleasurable and mood modifying effects music can have on human beings in real time listening situations This e book is an attempt to answer these questions Revolving around the specificity of music experience in terms of perception emotional reactions and aesthetic assessment it presents new hypotheses theoretical claims as well as new empirical data which contribute to a better understanding of the functions of the brain as related to musical experience A critical appraisal of research in arts, health and wellbeing Stephen
