Ancient Africa Marijke van der Veen,2013-06-29 This volume presents a completely new and very substantial body of information about the origin of agriculture and plant use in Africa All the evidence is very recent and for the first time all this archaeobotanical evidence is brought together in one volume at present the information is unpublished or published in many disparate journals conference reports monographs site reports etc Early publications concerned with the origins of African plant domestication relied almost exclusively on inferences made from the modern distribution of the wild progenitors of African cultivars there existed virtually no archaeobotanical data at that time Even as recently as the early 1990s direct evidence for the transition to farming and the relative roles of indigenous versus Near Eastern crops was lacking for most of Africa This volume changes that and presents a wide range of exciting new evidence including case studies from Nigeria Burkina Faso Ethiopia Uganda Egypt and Sudan which range in date from 8000 BP to the present day The volume addresses topics such as the role of wild plant resources in hunter gatherer and farming communities the origins of agriculture the agricultural foundation of complex societies long distance trade the exchange of foods and crops and the human impact on local vegetation all key issues of current research in archaeology anthropology agronomy ecology and economic history

The Red Sea from Byzantium to the Caliphate Timothy Power, 2012 This book examines the historic process traditionally referred to as the fall of Rome and rise of Islam from the perspective of the Red Sea a strategic waterway linking the Mediterranean to the Indian Ocean and a distinct region incorporating Africa with Arabia The transition from Byzantium to the Caliphate is contextualized in the contestation of regional hegemony between Aksumite Ethiopia Sasanian Iran and the Islamic Hijaz The economic stimulus associated with Arab colonization is then considered including the foundation of ports and roads linking new metropolises and facilitating commercial expansion particularly gold mining and the slave trade Finally the economic inheritance of the Fatimids and the formation of the commercial networks glimpsed in the Cairo Geniza is contextualized in the diffusion of the Abbasid bourgeois revolution and resumption of the India trade under the Tulunids and Ziyadids Timothy Power's careful analysis reveals the complex cultural and economic factors that provided a fertile ground for the origins of the Islamic civilization to take root in the Red Sea region offering a new perspective on a vital period of history

The Red Sea Alexis Wick, 2016-01-19 The Red Sea has from time immemorial been one of the world's most navigated spaces in the pursuit of trade pilgrimage and conquest Yet this multidimensional history remains largely unrevealed by its successive protagonists Intrigued by the absence of a holistic portrayal of this body of water and inspired by Fernand Braudel's famous work on the Mediterranean this book brings alive a dynamic Red Sea world across time revealing the particular features of a unique historical actor In capturing this heretofore lost space it also presents a critical conceptual history of the sea leading the reader into the heart of Eurocentrism The Sea it is shown is a vital element of the modern philosophy of history Alexis Wick is not satisfied with this inclusion of the Red Sea into history and attendant critique of Eurocentrism Contrapuntally he explores how the world and the sea were imagined differently before imperial European hegemony Searching for the lost space of Ottoman visions of the sea The Red Sea makes a deeper argument about the discipline of history and the historian's craft
