Seaside Piers:

The Architecture of British Seaside Piers Fred Gray, 2020-09-01 Of all the architectural delights of British seaside resorts the most astonishing and idiosyncratic is the seaside pier Remarkable visual spectacles piers are architecturally extraordinary in concept and at times outrageous in execution They brought together the Victorian genius for technological and material innovation architectural ambition and engineering ingenuity in the search for new designs for leisure as well as profit over the sea This superbly illustrated book explores the history of the design processes leading to the architectural and engineering innovations that have allowed people to walk on water in such diverse and delightful ways Coverage includes the development of piers into the crowning architectural glory of British seaside resorts the key people materials inventions and technologies in the field particularly the work of Eugenius Birch the greatest pier designer the remarkable diversity of piers ranging from the earliest simple landing stages through staid promenade piers and the glories of fully fledged pleasure piers to the boisterous joys of funfair and amusement piers the rich variety of architectural styles including exotic Orientalism and streamlined Modernism and finally today's contemporary prospects for renewal and reinvention Lancashire's Seaside Piers Martin Easdown, 2009-11-19 In this a companion volume to his definitive history of Yorkshires pleasure piers Martin Easdown turns his expert attention westward to the Lancashire coast His highly illustrated survey of the piers constructed at famous resorts like Blackpool Morecambe Southport and St Annes on Sea celebrates structures that are among the most exuberant and evocative of the Victorian age Each of these historic piers has its own character and story yet all of them represent the optimistic style of the British seaside resort at the peak of its popularity In those days the Lancashire coast and Blackpool in particular became the principal holiday destination for the workers of the nearby industrial towns during their Wakes Weeks The piers that survive are fascinating relics of that lost age In this meticulously researched account Martin Easdown describes how these extraordinary buildings came to be constructed how they were designed and financed how they were used and how hazards beset them fire storm ship collision war damage and ever present threat of insolvency His entertaining book reveals and records a neglected aspect of the history of Lancashire and the northwest Seaside Piers Simon H. Adamson, Antony Dale, 1977 British Seaside Piers Anthony Wills, Tim Phillips, 2014 This is the only guide to all 58 extant British seaside piers including details of location history and current operations archive and contemporary photography and a gazetteer "Iron, Ornament and Architecture in Victorian Britain " Paul Dobraszczyk, 2017-07-05 Vilified by leading architectural modernists and Victorian critics alike mass produced architectural ornament in iron has received little sustained study since the 1960s yet it proliferated in Britain in the half century after the building of the Crystal Palace in 1851 a time when some architects engineers manufacturers and theorists believed that the fusion of iron and ornament would reconcile art and technology and create a new modern architectural language Comprehensively illustrated and richly researched Iron Ornament and Architecture in Victorian Britain presents the most sustained study to date of the development of mechanised architectural ornament in iron in nineteenth century architecture its reception and theorisation by architects critics and engineers and the contexts in which it flourished including industrial buildings retail and seaside architecture railway stations buildings for export and exhibition and street furniture Appealing to architects conservationists historians and students of nineteenth century visual culture and the built environment this book offers new ways of understanding the notion of modernity in Victorian architecture by questioning and re evaluating both Victorian and modernist understandings of the ideological split between historicism and functionalism and ornament and structure

Walking Over the Waves Chris Foote Wood, 2008 In 2007 author and broadcaster Chris Foote Wood achieved a lifelong ambition to visit every seaside pier in England Wales and the Isle of Man all 56 of them In words and fascinating pictures he conveys the history personalities past and present the stories and legends associated with each seaside pleasure pier From initial construction to later repair through storms shipwrecks and fires that sometimes led to complete destruction they are all here the longest the shortest the oldest and youngest the finest to the most mundane As the author enthuses Each pier is different with its own personality some piers are much as they were when they were built in the Victorian and Edwardian eras while others are wholly given over to entertainment and modern amusements There s something about a pier that has universal appeal to all ages generations and most nationalities Enthusiasts appreciate a pier s form and structure while most holidaymakers are more concerned about the facilities on offer Some are content to stroll along the pier deck enjoying the fresh air exercise and views over the sea while others immerse themselves in the amusement arcades and funfairs that are a major feature of most of our remaining seaside piers Food drink and entertainment are all the more enjoyable when taken over the waves As well as the piers themselves Chris describes the pier railways a welcome facility on some of the longer piers and their associated cliff lifts As a bonus the multitude of facts and information make an ideal quiz questions and answers are provided Sustainable Tourism VIII S. Syngellakis, U. Probstl-Haider, F. Pineda, 2018-07-23 This volume includes papers from the 8th International Conference on Sustainable Tourism Today tourism is becoming accessible to a growing number of people and is an important component of development not only in economic terms but also for knowledge and human welfare This collection of research aims to find ways to protect the natural and cultural landscape through the development of new solutions which minimise the adverse effects of tourism The phenomenon has many more advantages than disadvantages New forms of economic development and increasing wealth of human societies depend on tourism Our knowledge of the world now includes a strong component due to tourism Human welfare has physiological and psychological elements which tourism promotes both because of the enjoyment of knowing new territories and increasing contacts with near or far away societies and cultures The tourism industry has nevertheless given rise to some serious problems including social costs and ecological impacts Many ancient local cultures have practically lost their identity Their societies have oriented their economy only to this industry Both the natural and cultural rural or urban landscapes have also paid a high price for certain forms of tourism These problems will persist if economic benefit is the only target leading to economic gains that eventually become ruinous It is also a grave error to disregard the fact that visitors nowadays are increasingly demanding in cultural and environmental terms The Global Change is a set of natural environmental changes that are strongly affected by technological and social developments Natural changes are inherent in the Earth's ecosystem the ecosphere Also technological and social changes are inherent to mankind the noosphere and are now becoming widespread Cities are growing rapidly and industry requires increasingly larger areas Many traditional rural areas are being abandoned Tourism should also play an important role in this context Thus interestingly many historic agricultural districts have maintained or even recovered their local population numbers through intelligent strategies of tourism focused on nature and rural culture Natural landscapes and biodiversity are becoming increasingly appreciated The tourism industry must be able to respond to these aspirations
