The Gods' Machines Wun Chok Bong, 2008-05-27 Based on the author's decipherment of prehistoric carvings and the application of mathematical measurements The Gods Machines shows how unknown phenomena from Angkor Wat to Stonehenge to crop circles are actually powerhouses built by an advanced extraterrestrial civilization for tapping electromagnetic energy The book traces the development of that civilization on Earth over 5 000 years revealing how all these structures are aligned according to a universal formula an angle of 135 degrees at which Earth's energy has been tapped by the alien creators of these monuments These fascinating theories not only explain our distant past but also open the door to a future of power technology and space travel Megalithic sites such as Newgrange and Stonehenge are constructed with quartz and iron rich stones with electrical conduction properties minerals also found atop Aztec temple and inside crop circles These stones according to the author served as dry cell batteries when heated and stressed and supplied energy to the builders traveling vehicles Most interestingly the author has tested his theory on today's crop circles The Gods Machines is certain to stimulate debate among readers interested in alternative history ancient civilization and extraterrestrial intelligence

Clean Virginia Sarah Smith, 2008 From pre historic grooming rituals to New Age medicine from ascetics to cosmetics Clean looks at how different cultures have interpreted and striven for personal cleanliness and shows how throughout history this striving for purity has brought immense social benefits as well as great tragedies Looking at human history through the lens of public baths lavatories laundry teeth cleaning cosmetics food storage and panty liners Virginia Smith here combines archeology

Noorbergen, 2001. An increasing number of historical and archaeological finds made around the world have been classified as out of place artifacts ooparts. They have been called this because they appear unexpectedly among the ruins of the past with no evidence of a preceding period of development; their technological sophistication seems far beyond the capabilities of ancient peoples. Drawing on the literature and art of the Chaldeans Sumerians Babylonians and others, Rene Noorbergen's contention is that a superior race of man was responsible for these scientific marvels that bear testimony to a civilization with technology comparable to our own. Mysteries and Secrets: The 16-Book Complete Codex Patricia Fanthorpe, Lionel

Archaeological explorations in the Anthropocene Savino di Lernia, 2025-05-30. Marking the 70th anniversary of the Libyan Italian archaeological Mission in the Tadrart Acacus and Messak, this volume offers a multidisciplinary reflection on Africa's deep past and its enduring legacies in the Anthropocene. By tracing the echoes of human environment interactions across time, it highlights how archaeological research continues to reshape our understanding of adaptation resilience and transformation in African societies. Drawing on interdisciplinary approaches including palaeoecology bioarchaeology rock art analysis the archaeology of food production and their various connections and networks, this book challenges outdated

Eurocentric narratives by foregrounding African agency and complexity Key themes include among others the Holocene environmental changes that influenced settlement patterns the significance of rock art in interpreting past belief systems and the impact of colonial trade and imperial expansion on indigenous communities Echoes of Africa s Past serves as a resource for archaeologists historians anthropologists and heritage scholars offering fresh perspectives on Africa s dynamic past and its relevance to debates on sustainability and cultural heritage in the Anthropocene Archaeological knowledge is incremental and hard won It is assembled through time intensive study of fragmentary evidence and its corpus represents intergenerational effort Though sometimes based on the study of stones our interpretations are not written in them Our working hypotheses typically run ahead of the evidence needed to assess them Expanded investigations new methods and changing premises compel revision and sometimes outright rejection of earlier ideas Typological aids deemed useful by earlier generations may outlive their usefulness at the same time as the evidence they organize remains pertinent and available for rethinking The cumulative character of archaeological knowledge enables scalar perspectives across space and through time casting what we know of one location in relief through comparison to others These revisions rethinkings and scalar reflections encourage us to appreciate the complexity and diversity of past contexts as amply illustrated in contributions to this volume In short resuscitating echoes of Anthropocene Africa is painstaking work In this way and others archaeology is and should be slow science Ann B Stahl University of Victoria BC Canada
