What should the criteria be for deployment of scarce treatment resources How do we determine such criteria What are the ethical implications of applying such criteria In this pioneering work an international team of eminent psychiatrists epidemiologists health administrators economists and health planners examine these questions The result will inform and encourage all concerned with the equitable provision of mental health care

Community Mental Health Graham Thornicroft, Atalay Alem, Robert E. Drake, Hiroto Ito, Jair Mari, Peter McGeorge, R. Tara, Maya Semrau, 2011-09-09 There are wide inconsistencies between and even within countries in how community orientated care is defined and interpreted The analysis presented in this book takes as a starting point an evidence based balanced care model in which services are provided in community settings close to the populations served with hospital stays being reduced as far as possible usually located in acute wards in general hospitals The surprising conclusion from the research is that the same problems arise in all countries regardless of resource status and thus the recommendations of this book apply to mental health provision everywhere This book reviews the implementation of community orientated care using the balanced care model It summarizes the steps obstacles and mistakes that have been encountered in the implementation of community mental health care worldwide and presents guidelines on how to avoid them It proposes realistic and achievable recommendations for the development and implementation of community orientated mental health care over the next ten years These guidelines will be of practical use to psychiatrists and other mental health and public health practitioners at all levels worldwide including policy makers commissioners funders non governmental organisations service users and carers A core message of the book is that the mental health sector will more powerfully advocate for better services in future through strong and unified alliances especially with powerful representation from consumer service user and carer groups

Community orientated care draws on a wide range of practitioners providers care and support systems both professional and non professional though particular components may play a larger or lesser role in different settings depending on the local context and the available resources especially trained staff Research by a WPA task force has demonstrated that most of the challenges are common and global but with local variations The book is therefore relevant to psychiatrists and mental health workers in developed countries who are trying to deliver better health care on reduced budgets and for those in the developing economies who are in the position to modernise their mental health care It provides clear concise guidance on policy and practice decisions learning from what has and has not worked in regions in the world The book contains many tables documenting the evidence supported by an essential reference list and a Key Points summary for each chapter Highly Commended in the Psychiatry section of the 2012 BMA Book Awards Mental Health in a Multi-Ethnic Society Dr Suman Fernando, Frank Keating, 2008-08-21 This new edition of Mental Health in a Multi Ethnic Society is an authoritative comprehensive guide on issues around race culture and mental health service provision It has been updated to reflect the changes in the UK over the last ten years and features entirely new chapters by over twenty authors expanding the range of topics by including issues of particular concern for women family therapy and mental health of refugees and asylum seekers Divided into four sections the book covers issues around mental health service provision for black and minority ethnic BME communities including refugees and asylum seekers critical accounts of how these issues may be confronted with examples of projects that attempt to do just that programs and innovative services that appear to meet some of the needs of BME communities a critical but constructive account of lessons to be drawn from earlier sections and discussion of the way ahead With chapters on training service user involvement policy development and service provision Mental Health in a Multi Ethnic Society will appeal to academics professionals trainers and managers as well as providing up to date information for a general readership Oxford Textbook of Community Mental Health Graham Thornicroft, Robert E. Drake, Oye Gureje, Kim T. Mueser, George Szmukler, 2025-01-03 Community mental health has evolved as a field of practice and as a research discipline during the last 50 years Now newer concepts such as shared decision making the recovery approach evidence based practice implementation science telemedicine and mobile device technology are adding layers of texture to this domain These developments require an ever more sophisticated understanding of the very latest evidence and experience in community mental health care to respond to the values goals needs and preferences of people with lived experience of mental health conditions This second edition of the Oxford Textbook of Community Mental Health addresses recent changes and achievements current controversies and future challenges while emphasizing areas of convergence where social values health medical sciences and policy formation converge and meet This edition also features a new section on global mental health to emphasise what is known about the mental health gap in low and middle income countries and the evidence of how to respond to these huge global challenges Like community mental health care itself the authors are multidisciplinary international and bring both clinical and scientific perspectives to this volume This textbook will be an invaluable and authoritative source of reference for all mental health specialists for people with mental health conditions for staff in non governmental and governmental organisations and indeed for all who are dedicated to creating better mental health services and systems
