Motivation, Career Striving, and Aging Joel O. Raynor, Elliot E. Entin, Eileen T. Brown, 1982 Motivation, Career Striving, and Aging Joel O. Raynor, Elliot E. Entin, Eileen T. Brown, 1982 Cognition in Human Motivation and Learning G. D'ydevalle, Willy Lens, 2013-05-13 Published in the year 1982 Cognition in Human Motivation and Learning is a valuable contribution to the field of Cognitive Psychology Frontiers of Motivational Psychology Donald R. Brown, Joseph Veroff, 2012-12-06 Expectations and Actions Norman T. Feather, 2021-12-29 Originally published in 1982 this book examines the current status of expectancy value models in psychology The focus is upon cognitive models that relate action to the perceived attractiveness or aversiveness of expected consequences A person's behavior is seen to bear some relation to the expectations the person holds and the subjective value of the consequences that might occur following the action Despite widespread interest in the expectancy value valence approach at the time there was no book that looked at its current status and discussed its strengths and its weaknesses using contributions from some of the theorists who were involved in its original and subsequent development and from others who were influenced by it or had cause to examine the approach closely This book was planned to meet this need The chapters in this book relate to such areas as achievement motivation attribution theory information feedback organizational psychology the psychology of values and attitudes and decision theory and in some cases they advance the expectancy value approach further and in other cases point to some of its deficiencies Human Motivation David C. McClelland, 1988-01-29 Human Motivation originally published in 1987 offers a broad overview of theory and research from the perspective of a distinguished psychologist whose creative empirical studies of human motives span forty years David McClelland describes methods for measuring motives the development of motives out of natural incentives and the relationship of motives to emotions to values and to performance under a variety of conditions He examines four major motive systems achievement power affiliation and avoidance reviewing and evaluating research on how these motive systems affect behaviour Scientific understanding of motives and their interaction he argues contributes to understanding of such diverse and important phenomena as the rise and fall of civilisations the underlying causes of war the rate of economic development the nature of leadership the reasons for authoritarian or democratic governing styles the determinants of success in management and the factors responsible for health and illness Students and instructors alike will find this book an exciting and readable presentation of the psychology of human motivation Agency, Motivation, and the Life Course Lisa J. Crockett, 2002-01-01 In what ways do individuals influence the course of their lives How do people construct a unique life path within the opportunities and constraints afforded by their world This volume examines how agency in the life course can be conceptualized and investigates the specific ways in which personal characteristics and contextual variables play a role in shaping individual lives The contributors offer differing perspectives on agency how its expression changes over a lifetime and how it is constrained channeled or altered by cultural and social

Annals of Theoretical Psychology Joseph R. Royce, Leendert P. Mos, 2013-11-11 As such things happen several manuscripts in the present volume were under review prior to the ones that appeared in Volume I of the Annals A major difficulty encountered in the preparation of these volumes apart from working up to three years in advance of publication is eliciting appropriate commentary If this format is to succeed the commentary must be both engaging to the reader and satisfying to the author It is not yet clear how successful we have been in this regard and indeed we do not feel bound to publish commentary with each manuscript that is accepted for publication Nevertheless we do invite readers commentaries on published materials The contributions by Jan Smedslund and Benjamin Wolman in this volume have been through an inordinately long publication lag We have been in receipt of both manuscripts since early in 1981 and Dr Smedslund especially has since clarified and advanced his views elsewhere in print K B Madsen and Joseph Rychlak submitted their manuscripts in the fall of 1981 while Michael Hyland and J Philippe Rushton had first drafts of their manuscripts accepted for publication in the fall of 1982 We are grateful to our contributors for their expressed commitment to the Annals and assure potential contributors that the delay in publication is a mere matter of getting the series off the ground

Achievement Motivation Fyans, 2013-06-29 This book started as a symposium on Achievement Motivation at the 1978 American Educational Research Association Convention The participants in that symposium were Jack Atkinson Martin Maehr Dick De Charms Joel Raynor and Dave Hunt The subsequent response to that symposium indicated a coming of age for motivation theory in terms of education Soon afterward at a Motivation in Education Conference at University of Michigan Ann Arbor it became apparent that due to this emergence of motivation what was needed was a comprehensive perspective as to the state of the art of achievement theory Achievement theory had by now well surpassed its beginnings in the 1950s and 1960s and was ready for a composite presentation and profile of the recent research and theories of motivation Thus this volume was born I would like to take this opportunity to thank each contributor to this book as well as Robert L Linn who critically reviewed several of the manuscripts Thanks are also due to my former graduate advisors Martin L Maehr Maurice Tatsuoka and Harry Triandis for the viewpoints given me in graduate school education which I hope have benefitted this undertaking Joyce Fitch did a splendid job typing many of these chapters and special gratitude should be given to Judy Cadle of Professional Services Inc for the composition and proofing of this book

Career Development and Systems Theory Wendy Patton, Mary McMahon, 2006-01-01 The 3rd edition of this classic book offers practitioners researchers and students a comprehensive introduction to and overview of career theory introduces the Systems Theory Framework of career development and demonstrates its considerable contemporary and innovative application to practice A number of authors have identified the framework as one of a small number of significant innovations in the career development literature The Systems Theory

Framework of career development was developed to provide coherence to the career development field by providing a comprehensive conceptualisation of the many existing theories and concepts relevant to understanding career development. It is not designed to be a theory of career development rather systems theory is introduced as the basis for an overarching or metatheoretical framework within which all concepts of career development described in the plethora of career theories can be usefully positioned and utilised in both theory and practice. It has been applied to the career development of children, adolescents and women. Since its first publication the Systems Theory Framework has been the basis of numerous publications focusing on theoretical application and integration practice and research with a growing number of these by authors other than the framework developers. Its application across cultures also has been emphasised. The theoretical and practical unity of the Systems Theory Framework makes this book a worthy addition to the professional libraries of practitioners, researchers and students new to or experienced in the field of career development.

Social Cognition and Aging Thomas M. Hess, Fredda Blanchard-Fields, 1999-06-18. Most of the research done in social cognition has been conducted with younger adults and may not be applicable to a much older population. Social Cognition and Aging provides a snapshot view of research that has been done with older adults or is directly applicable to this population. Focusing on issues of self identity, social interactions and social perceptions, this book provides a broad overview of how aging affects one's own perceptions and actions as well as how others perceive and interact with the aged. Coverage includes such topics as self control, memory, resilience, age stereotypes, moral development and the art of living. With contributions from top researchers in both gerontology and psychology, this book is an important reference for academics and professionals alike in personality, cognition, social psychology, adult development, sociology and gerontology.

Culture, Leadership, and Organizations Robert J. House, Paul J. Hanges, Mansour Javidan, Peter W. Dorfman, Vipin Gupta, 2004-04-29. Culture, Leadership, and Organizations reports the results of a ten year research program, the Global Leadership and Organizational Behavior Effectiveness (GLOBE) research program. GLOBE is a long term program designed to conceptualize, operationalize, test and validate a cross level integrated theory of the relationship between culture and societal, organizational and leadership effectiveness. A team of 160 scholars worked together since 1994 to study societal culture, organizational culture and attributes of effective leadership in 62 cultures. Culture, Leadership, and Organizations: The GLOBE Study of 62 Societies reports the findings of the first two phases of GLOBE. The book is primarily based on the results of the survey of over 17,000 middle managers in three industries: banking, food processing and telecommunications, as well as archival measures of country economic prosperity and the physical and psychological well being of the cultures studied. GLOBE has several distinguishing features. First, it is truly a cross cultural research program. The constructs were defined, conceptualized and operationalized by the multicultural team of researchers. Second, the industries were selected through a polling of the country investigators and the instruments were designed with the full participation of the researchers representing the different cultures. Finally, the data in each country were collected by investigators who were either natives of the cultures studied or had extensive knowledge and experience in that culture A unique feature of this book is that while it is an edited book and many experts have written the different chapters unlike other edited books it is a fully integrated seamless and cohesive book covering the many aspects of the theory underpinning the GLOBE

The Will to Learn Martin V. Covington, 1998 This book introduces the basic principles of motivation as they apply to classroom learning and management in a readable non technical form Covington argues against the popular notion that the problems existing in schools today stem primarily from a lack of student motivation Instead he asserts that students are motivated sometimes even overly motivated but often for the wrong reasons Traditional teaching methods including conventional grading procedures and an emphasis on competition can contribute to student demoralization and Covington identifies the ways in which students respond to misguided incentives For some students motivation is directed at avoiding failure by avoiding participation For others demoralization leads to withdrawal from an educational system that they believe to be irrelevant to their lives Still other students are driven to prove their worth by outperforming fellow students The book suggests practical concrete ways that teachers can use classroom incentives to inspire a desire to learn
