

NUTRITIONAL METHODS OF INTESTINAL REGENERATION

By Dr R. Bernard (A.B., M.A., Ph.D.)

PART ONE

The normal chemical composition of the blood is disturbed either by deficiency of required constituents - which it is the purpose of vitamin and mineral therapy to replace — and also by the presence within it of toxins absorbed from the intestinal tract. These tend to work against the beneficial effects of the vitamins and minerals we take. This fact is often overlooked by people who think that merely swallowing a few vitamin capsules each day solves their health problem. As important as it is to replace chemical efficiencies of the blood by intake of vitamin dietary supplements, it is equally important to avoid autointoxication, or the poisoning of the bloodstream by toxins derived from putrefactive decay of food residues in the intestinal tract. As the result of modern researches definite nutritional methods have been developed for accomplishing this. These will be presented in this Study Course.

A bloodstream that is free from toxins and also rich in all of its necessary constituents will maintain in the body in a state of health. By normalizing intestinal functions, so that there will be complete freedom from constipation and autointoxication, the biological conditions are provided so that vitamin and mineral therapy produce optimal results.

Intestinal Regeneration is the first step in health regeneration. Blood regeneration is the next step. A third step is Endocrine Regeneration. Just as intestinal regeneration is the precondition of blood regeneration, so blood regeneration is the precondition of endocrine regeneration. The endocrine glands, in turn, determine our general vitality, our cerebral efficiency and our life span. Since it is known that the general endocrine regeneration that brings on the symptoms of senility is a product of intestinal autointoxication, we can understand why

Gastrointestinal Damage and Metabolic Disorders

Daniele Maria-Ferreira,Marcelo Biondaro Gois,Elizabeth S. Fernandes,2025-08-19 Gastrointestinal GI disorders can be described as physiologic and or morphologic changes in the GI system and include motility disorders changes in mucosal and immune function and alterations in the intestinal microbiota Inflammatory bowel diseases such as ulcerative colitis and Crohn s disease are the most serious disorders causing chronic inflammation while other chronic inflammatory diseases that cause severe damage include irritable bowel syndrome and gastroesophageal reflux The main causes of these diseases include genetic predisposition unhealthy lifestyles pharmacological therapies and infections Regardless of the specific disorder it is known to cause considerable discomfort and a reduced quality of life for those affected and there is increasing evidence that damage to the gastrointestinal tract can influence the development of metabolic diseases For example impaired release of gut hormones responsible for signaling the feeling of satiety could be associated with the occurrence of obesity long term alterations in the composition of the gut microbiota may play a role in the development of metabolic diseases among others

Plaza-Díaz,2021-01-20 Health is defined as the state of the organism when it functions optimally without evidence of disease
Surprisingly the words microbes or microorganism are missing in this definition The regulation of gut microbiota is mediated by an enormous quantity of aspects such as microbiological factors host characteristics diet patterns and environmental variables Some protective structural and metabolic functions have been reported for gut microbiota and these functions are related to the regulation of homeostasis and host health Host defense against pathogens is in part mediated through gut
