Protected Area Management:

Integrated Protected Area Management Michael Walkey, Ian R. Swingland, Shaun Russell, 2012-12-06 Protected areas have become an increasingly important tool both in the conservation of biodiversity and in revenue generation through sustainable use This is the only sure way to guarantee the protection necessary for many species habitats and ecosystems in the future Integrated Protected Area Management features contributions that consider the design management and sustainable use of these regions Three principal aspects are considered the theory and practice of designation community based conservation and the concept of sustainability identifying priorities for management The emphasis throughout is on the importance of an interdisciplinary approach to planning and the active involvement of all stakeholders in decision making processes as a means of ensuring long term sustainability Protected Area Management Graeme Worboys, Michael Lockwood, Terry De Lacy, 2005 Protected Area Management Principles and Practice 2e examines the multi disciplinary task of managing protected areas This second edition of this authoritative text has been updated expanded and includes new Australian and international case studies Guidelines for Applying Protected Area Management Categories Nigel Dudley, 2008 IUCN s Protected Areas Management Categories which classify protected areas according to their management objectives are today accepted as the benchmark for defining recording and classifying protected areas They are recognized by international bodies such as the United Nations as well as many national governments As a result they are increasingly being incorporated into government legislation These guidelines provide as much clarity as possible regarding the meaning and application of the Categories They describe the definition of the Categories and discuss application in particular biomes and management approaches National System Planning for Protected Areas Adrian G. Davey, 1998 A system plan is the design of a total reserve system covering the full range of ecosystems and communities found in a particular country identifying the range of purposes of protected areas and the relationships among the system components i e individual areas protected areas and other land uses and different sectors and levels of society Highlighting key linkages with other aspects of economic development it shows how various stakeholders can interact and cooperate to support effective and sustainable management of protected areas and help to establish priorities A valuable resource for all those involved with national system planning Guidelines for Protected Area Management Categories IUCN World Commission on Protected Areas, IUCN Commission on National Parks and Protected Areas, 2000 Evaluating Effectiveness Marc Hockings, Sue Stolton, Nigel Dudley, 2000 This publication proposes a framework for assessing management effectiveness recognising the need for a variety of responses depending on needs and resources It aims to help all those who wish to assess protected areas both in suggesting what needs to be done and in providing some guidelines It includes six practical case studies from Australia the Congo Basin Central America South America and the USA Managing Protected Areas Michael Lockwood, Graeme Worboys, Ashish Kothari, 2006 First Published in 2006 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Protected Area Governance and Management Graeme L. Worboys, Michael Lockwood, Ashish Kothari, Sue Feary, Ian Pulsford, 2015-04-08 Protected Area Governance and Management presents a compendium of original text case studies and examples from across the world by drawing on the literature and on the knowledge and experience of those involved in protected areas. The book synthesises current knowledge and cutting edge thinking from the diverse branches of practice and learning relevant to protected area governance and management. It is intended as an investment in the skills and competencies of people and consequently the effective governance and management of protected areas for which they are responsible now and into the future. The global success of the protected area concept lies in its shared vision to protect natural and cultural heritage for the long term and organisations such as International Union for the Conservation of Nature are a unifying force in this regard. Nonetheless protected areas are a socio political phenomenon and the ways that nations understand govern and manage them is always open to contest and debate. The book aims to enlighten educate and above all to challenge readers to think deeply about protected areas their future and their past as well as their present. The book has been compiled by 169 authors and deals with all aspects of protected area governance and management. It provides information to support capacity development training of protected area field officers managers in charge and executive level managers Guidelines For Management Planning Of Protected Areas Lee Thomas, Julie Middleton, 2003 A Management Plan is a document which sets out the management approach and goals together with a framework for decision making to apply in a specific protected area over a given period of time. Critical to the plan is the widest possible consultation with stakeholders and the development of objectives that can be agreed and adhered to by all who have an interest in the use and ongoing survival of the area concerned. These Guidelines based on global best practice drawn from many areas around the world represent a working framework for protected area planners to consider and adapt to their needs and circumstances.

Management Guidelines for IUCN Category V Protected Areas Adrian Phillips, 2002 Protected Landscapes IUCN Protected Area Category V are lived in working landscapes. In the past there has been a tendency to see them as a rather Eurocentric approach to protected areas but increasingly the category is being designated in other parts of the world including in a number of developing countries. The Guidelines include sections on the background and on the planning of such areas and chapters on the principles policies process and the means for their management. The text includes more than twenty case studies from more than fifteen countries in every region of the world.
