Protecting Children Challenges And Change:

Protecting Children John Bates, Richard Pugh, Neil Thompson, 1997 Child protection is a complex and demanding area of practice which is constantly evolving with new challenges appearing with every change that occurs This important book presents a set of readings produced by a range of academics and practitioners each with a significant contribution to make to our understanding of the challenges and change that characterize contemporary practice The book is divided into three parts The first part addresses a number of key issues which are having an important impact on child protection services The second part is concerned with children who hurt children who have not only experienced abuse but who also go on to abuse others The final part concerns itself with issues of staffing supporting staff in the difficult changes they face Protecting Children's Health in a Changing Environment World Health Organization. Regional Office for Europe, 2010 The Fifth Ministerial Conference on Environment and Health organized by WHO Europe and hosted by Italy is the latest milestone in the European environment and health process now in its twentieth year Focused on protecting children's health in a changing environment the Conference set Europe's agenda on emerging environmental health challenges for the years to come The Parma Declaration is the first time bound outcome of the environment and health process The 53 Member States in the WHO European Region set clear targets to reduce the harm to health from environmental threats in the next decade Safe urban settings locally sourced food and use of ecomaterials contributed to the first ever low carbon footprint conference on environment and health organized by WHO Europe More than ever children's health is at risk from a changing environment The health effects of environmental risk factors inadequate water and sanitation unsafe home and recreational environments lack of spatial planning for physical activity indoor and outdoor air pollution and hazardous chemicals are amplified by recent developments such as financial constraints broader socioeconomic and gender inequalities and more frequent extreme climate events They pose new challenges for health systems to reduce deaths and diseases through effective environmental health interventions Systems Approaches to Public Sector Challenges Working with Change OECD, 2017-08-11 This report produced by the OECD Observatory of Public Sector Innovation explores how systems approaches can be used in the public sector to solve complex or wicked problems Protecting Children Featherstone, Brid, Gupta, Anna, 2018-09-19 The state is increasingly experienced as both intrusive and neglectful particularly by those living in poverty leading to loss of trust and widespread feelings of alienation and disconnection Against this tense background this innovative book argues that child protection policies and practices have become part of the problem rather than ensuring children's well being and safety Building on the ideas in the best selling Re-imagining child protection and drawing together a wide range of social theorists and disciplines the book Challenges existing notions of child protection revealing their limits Ensures that the harms children and families experience are explored in a way that acknowledges the social and economic contexts in which they live Explains how the protective capacities within families and communities can be mobilised and practices of co production adopted Places ethics and human rights at the centre of everyday conversations and practices Good Practice in Safeguarding Children Hilary Owen,Liz Hughes,2009-01-15 This book draws together contributors experiences of working with safeguarding children on a broad range of issues including neglect trafficked children parents with learning difficulties and child protection supervision The contributors discuss current dilemmas in safeguarding children work and provide models of good practice Effective Social Work with Children, Young People and Families Steven Walker,2012-08-16 With case studies interactive activities summaries and guidance throughout this book looks at the changing context of children and young people s services heralded by the structural organizational and funding changes put forward in Eileen Munro s Review of Child Protection It is strongly grounded in research and theory and gives specific consideration to how systems theory can help practitioners in understanding families It highlights the need for every social work practitioner to develop the capacity to undertake unified assessments and interventions in a wide variety of settings with individuals families and groups where there are child protection and safeguarding concerns Time to Listen to Children Birgit Carolin,Pat Milner,2002-01-04 Time to Listen to Children is a practical guide to effective communication with children Professionals working with children in a variety of settings examine the skills required to help children articulate their problems and feelings They discuss issues such as training cultural background and religion and give accounts of their work in the following settings education social services voluntary organizations medical settings law Contributors practice a variety of therapeutic techniques including play music and art therapy Time to Listen to Children will be a valuable resource for social workers teachers and counsellors in training and for all professionals who wish to adopt a skilled reflective and active approach to their work with children Working for Children on the Child Protection Register Martin C. Calder,Jan Horwath,2018-11-08 First published in 1999 this innovative book explores in detail the essential components of working with families whose children are on the Child Protection Register It provides a comprehensive guide to professionals highlighting and addressing the gaps and ambiguities in central government guidance The chapters written by academics and leading professionals in the field offer multi disciplinary perspectives on models of assessment core group practice child protection plans and working in partnership with children and families Practical guidance is offered to those who participate in post registration practice and to those who supervise or train professionals working in this area This volume is of particular relevance to practitioners students managers and trainers in social work health education probation and voluntary settings It provides a unique collection of case examples checklists and exercises enabling the reader to develop their own practice or use the material as a framework for promoting inter agency practice within the supervision nor training context A Political History of Child Protection Ian Kelvin Hyslop,2022-01-26 Exploring the current and historical tensions between liberal capitalism and indigenous models of family life Ian Kelvin Hyslop argues for a new model of child protection in Aotearoa New Zealand and other parts of the Anglophone world He puts forward the case that child safety can only be sustainably advanced by policy initiatives which promote social and economic equality and from practice which takes meaningful account of the complex relationship between economic circumstances and the lived realities of service users Child Protection Issues United States.
