Protecting Young Children In Violent Environments Building Staff And Community Strengths:

Protecting Young Children in Violent Environments Joy D. Osofsky, Emily Schrag Fenichel, 2000 Early Intervention for Trauma and Traumatic Loss Brett T. Litz, 2004-01-01 This authoritative volume describes the state of the science of early intervention for trauma and traumatic loss across the lifespan and in a variety of contexts While few would dispute the importance of helping people cope with severe life stressors important questions remain about how to identify those at risk for chronic problems and which interventions actually facilitate recovery over time Following a review of current knowledge on the predictors and course of acute stress disorder PTSD and traumatic grief the volume presents a range of early intervention models designed for very young children older children and adults Authors examine the empirical literature and recommend evidence based clinical strategies whenever possible while delineating an extensive agenda for future research Also covered are the lessons learned from early intervention with specific populations 9 11 survivors combat veterans emergency services personnel survivors of sexual violence and others Handbook of Stress, Trauma, and the Family Don. R. Catherall, 2013-01-11 The Handbook of Stress Trauma and the Family is broken down into three sections compiling research theory and practice The first section focuses on how traumatic stress affects intimate others what familial characteristics affect individual susceptibility to trauma as well as evaluation of the effectiveness of various interventions The section on theory explores concepts of stress and intrapsychic processes underlying the intergenerational transmission of trauma addresses how families can buffer or enhance anxiety The final section entitled practice covers assessment presenting both the Circumplex Model and Bowenian family theory models treatment models and treatment formats for specific populations The major family treatment models applicable to stress and trauma are discussed including contextual object relations emotionally focused and critical interaction therapy Children Exposed to Violence Margaret Mary Feerick, Gerald B. Silverman, 2006 This timely much needed resource identifies gaps in our understanding of the effects of exposure to violence on children and sets a direction for future research to support interventions and violence prevention

Children Who See Too Much Betsy Mcalister Groves, 2003-01-20 For the last ten years Betsy Groves has been working with children traumatized by witnessing violence In this book she shows how children understand respond to and are affected by violence especially domestic violence Groves makes the powerful case that traumatic events carried out by family members carry the most severe psychological risks for very young children She uses clinical case studies to show that being young does not protect against the lasting effects of witnessing violence and she offers ways adults can help Zero to Three , 2001 Handbook for Child Protection Practice Howard Dubowitz, Diane DePanfilis, 1999-12-22 The timing of the publication with the revised Working Together guidelines could not be more advantageous This book is a unique and important contribution to child care literature No agency should be without Child Abuse Review Professionals concerned with the protection of children face many challenges This work demands knowledge from several disciplines a wide variety of skills and interdisciplinary collaboration The editors Howard Dubowitz a pediatrician and Diane DePanfilis a social worker together with over 70 experts in this field offer what is known about how best to work with maltreated children and their families in a very practical concise and user friendly way Structured to follow the life of a case from the time a report of child maltreatment is made through the various pathways in the child protection system this edited volume synthesizes the best practice principles for responding to reports of child abuse and neglect engaging children and other family members in intervention developing cross cultural practice competencies assessing risk evaluating safety and conducting family assessments defining outcomes and planning intervention evaluating risk reduction and making permanency decisions and discusses the unique legal medical ethical and other practice issues that work in the child protection field involves Professionals facing tough dilemmas in practice should find valuable guidance in these pages ABA Child Law Practice
