Protection Of Intellectual Biological:

Protection of Intellectual, Biological and Cultural Property in Papua New Guinea Kathy Whimp, Mark Busse, 2013-03-01 Intellectual biological and cultural property rights are a powerful and debatable topic They offer the possibility for protection of rights to intangible resources including the products of knowledge and creativity The forces of globalisation have made this subject of immediate international concern Struggles for ownership of intellectual property occur between and within local and global arenas This book examines important questions which Papua New Guinea must ask in the development of intellectual property legislation The chapters are written by specialists in the fields of medicine law the environment music genetics and traditional cultural knowledge The wise and creative protection of intellectual biological and cultural property is important if Papua New Guinea is to successfully define and realise its future

Regulating Bioprospecting Padmashree Gehl Sampath, 2005 Bioprospecting the search for useful biochemical compounds and genes in nature has been the focus of international negotiations for more than a decade This book examines the optimal property rights structures and institutional mechanisms for regulating bioprospecting for drug research It includes examples of bioprospecting collaborations in several countries

International Law and the Conservation of Biological Diversity Michael Bowman, Catherine Redgwell, 1996-01-10 This work presents a thorough analysis of the biodiversity concept in international law and commentary on the 1992 United Nations Convention on Biological Diversity which was opened for signature following the 1992 UN Conference on Environment and Development This Convention is the first international treaty explicitly to address all aspects of biodiversity ranging from the conservation and sustainable use of biological resources to access to biotechnology and the safety of activities related to modified living organisms The work extends beyond the ambit of the Convention itself to examine the conservation of biodiversity in international law generally including measures for the protection of the terrestrial marine and Antarctic environment and particular features relating to sustainable use of biological resources ex situ conservation and plant genetic resources It further analyses the controversial issue of intellectual property rights the problems of implementation in the European Union and the United States differences between developing and developed states and the role of indigenous peoples This major new work has been written by members of the Committee on Environmental Law of the British Branch of the International Law Association following an earlier study on the subject of International Law and Global Climate Change

Graham Trotman 1991 It is the first major study of the Convention of the context in which it was negotiated and of the prospects for its implementation following the entry into force of the Convention on 29 December 1993

Transactions and Creations Eric Hirsch, Marilyn Strathern, 2006 In the early 21st century intellectual and cultural resources emerge on all sides as candidates for ownership claims Members of an anthropological research team investigating emergent economic relations in a part of the world renowned for its innovative approach to resources and transactions wish to open up the vocabulary In this unique volume they bring an unexpected comparative perspective to global debates on intellectual and cultural property rights IPR and CPR The contributors bring from Melanesia their collective experience of people initiating limiting and rationalizing claims through transactions in ways that challenge many of the assumptions behind the international language In a bold theoretical move property is put alongside two other terms transactions and creations The former have a place in the anthropological tradition that now needs to be brought into the foreground In turn increasing interest in protecting intellectual and cultural resources means that questions about creativity have suddenly become pertinent to what is or is not being transacted Yet is creativity a special preoccupation of modernity How are we to talk about people s creative practices when innovation becomes the basis for ownership claims This book is full of surprises Convention on Biological Diversity United States. President (1993-2001 : Clinton),1993 The Regulation of Agricultural Biotechnology Robert E. Evenson,V. Santaniello,2004-03-29 The regulatory systems in place prior to the development and expansion of agricultural biotechnology are still responding to this new form of technology Such systems include trade law intellectual property law contract law environmental regulations and biosafety regulations This book reviews these regulatory changes and consists of 24 chapters developed from papers presented at a conference of the International Consortium on Agricultural Biotechnology Research held in Italy in July 2002 It primarily considers the relationship between these changes and innovation market development and international trade Protecting Traditional Knowledge Evana Wright,2020-03-28 Protecting Traditional Knowledge examines the emerging international frameworks for the protection of Indigenous traditional knowledge and presents an analysis situated at the intersection between intellectual property access and benefit sharing and Indigenous peoples rights to self determination New Developments in Biotechnology: Patenting life ,1987 Patenting Life ,1989
