Protection Of Global Biodiversity Converging Strategies:

Protection of Global Biodiversity Lakshman D. Guruswamy, Jeffrey A. McNeely, 1998 The rate of extinction of biological species is greater today than at any time in the last 65 million years Some predict that if this rate continues two thirds of all living species will disappear during the next century Because reaching consensus on specific courses of action involves complex issues any adequate response to this impending crisis must include coverage of many areas of inquiry and understanding Protection of Global Biodiversity features essays by distinguished international experts who communicate with each other across disciplinary boundaries to address the challenge of formulating policies to protect biodiversity Although the global community has recently adopted a Convention of Biological Diversity the agreement sets forth only abstract goals Contributors to this volume advance the Convention s initial steps by providing workable solutions that can be implemented regionally nationally and locally The contributors including natural social and political scientists economists lawyers and environmentalists and decisionmakers in business agriculture and government have united to create a common discourse and to evaluate and propose strategies for halting this alarming loss of biodiversity In recognizing the diverse aspects of this task scientific economic institutional moral and legal this book presents a new picture of emerging action Contributors S James Anaya Gregory Benford Graciela Chichilnisky S Todd Crider Yvonne Cripps Robert T Fraley Anil K Gupta Lakshman D Guruswamy G M Heal Brent Hendricks Robert B Horsch Laura L Jackson Annie Lovejoy Ariel E Lugo Jeffrey A McNeely Brian G Norton Elinor Ostrom Peter H Raven John W Reid Walter V Reid Mark Sagoff Roger A Sedgo R David Simpson Ana Sittenfeld Christopher D Stone Gary H Toenniessen Routledge Handbook of International Environmental Law Shawkat Alam, 2013 This handbook is an advanced level reference guide which provides a comprehensive and contemporary overview of the corpus of international environmental law IEL Sustaining Liberal Democracy M. Wissenburg, J. Barry, 2001-04-19 Assuming that liberalism liberal democracy and the free market are here to stay this book asks how sustainability can be interpreted in ways that respect liberal democratic values and institutions Among the problems addressed are the compatibility of liberal proceduralism with substantive green ideals the existence and potential of eco friendly principles and ideas in classical liberal political theory the role of rights and duties and of democracy and deliberation and the greening potential of modern environmental focused practices in liberal democracies Development, Trade, and the WTO Bernard M. Hoekman, Aaditya Mattoo, Philip English, 2002 Publisher s description Developing countries are increasingly confronted with the need to address trade policy related issues in international agreements most prominently the World Trade Organization WTO New WTO negotiations on a broad range of subjects were launched in November 2001 Determining whether and how international trade agreements can support economic development is a major challenge Stakeholders in developing countries must be informed on the issues and understand how their interests can be pursued through international cooperation This handbook offers guidance on the design of trade policy reform surveys key

Plant Genetic Resources of Legumes in the Mediterranean Nigel Maxted, Sarita Jane Bennett, 2013-03-14 Genetic erosion that is the loss of native plant and genetic diversity has been exponential from the Mediterranean Basin through the Twentieth century This careless eradication of species and genetic diversity as a result of human activities from a hot spot of diversity threatens sustainable agriculture and food security for the temperate regions of the world Since the early 1900s there has been a largely ad hoc movement to halt the loss of plant diversity and enhance its utilisation The Convention on Biological Diversity and Food and Agriculture Organisation of the United Nations International Undertaking on Plant Genetic Resources both highlight the need to improve conservation methodologies and enhance utilisation techniques It has been argued that the most important component of biodiversity is the genetic diversity of crop and forage species used to feed humans and livestock These cultivated and related wild species provides the raw material for further selection and improvement Leguminosae species are of major economic importance peas chickpeas lentils and faba beans as well as numerous forage species and provide a particularly rich source of protein for human and animal foods Their distribution is concentrated in the Mediterranean region and therefore the improvement of their conservation and use in the region is critical This text is designed to help ensure an adequate breadth of legume diversity is conserved and to help maximise the use of that conserved diversity The subjects of conservation and use of legume diversity the Mediterranean ecosystem and taxonomy of legumes are introduced Generic reviews of the taxonomy centre of diversity ecogeographic distribution genetic diversity distribution conservation status conservation gaps and future research needs are provided along with a discussion of the importance of rhizobia to the maintenance of legume diversity Current ex situ and in situ conservation activities as well current legume uses are reviewed In conclusion future priorities for ex situ and in situ plant genetic conservation and use of Mediterranean legumes are highlighted All contributors look forward rather than simply reviewing past and current activities and therefore it is hoped that the identification of genetic erosion location of taxonomic and genetic diversity and promotion of more efficient utilisation of conserved material will be enhanced

Renegotiating Community William D. Coleman, Diana Brydon, 2009-01-01 Both as a concept and a set of social relationships community is central to contemporary debates about globalization Faced with finding a livable response to globalization many communities are renegotiating their identities and functions and in some instances entirely new communities are being formed Yet there is no clear consensus on why community matters or on how globalization affects particular communities Renegotiating Community asks what happens to the autonomy of individuals and communities under the influence of globalization Original case studies show how a range of communities are renegotiating the meanings of community and autonomy while living with and sometimes challenging the processes of globalization By addressing the coercive and comforting dimensions of community as well as the need to reconcile conflicting claims to autonomy this book redraws the conceptual maps through which community globalization and autonomy are understood Biological Diversity Louise E. Buck, Charles C. Geisler, John Schelhas, Eva Wollenberg, 2001-06-21 We live in a world of wide pendulum swings regarding management policies for protected areas particularly as they affect the involvement of local people in management Such swings can be polarizing and halt on the ground progress There is a need to find ways to protect biodiversity while creating common ground and building management capacity thr Hottest of the Hotspots Benjamin Neimark, 2023-11-28 Continually recognized as one of the hottest of all the world s biodiversity hotspots the island of Madagascar has become ground zero for the most intensive market based conservation interventions on Earth This book details the rollout of market conservation programs including the finding drugs from nature or bioprospecting biodiversity offsetting and the selling of blue carbon credits from mangroves It documents the tensions that exist at the local level and provides a voice for community workers many times left out of environmental policy discussions ultimately in the hope of offering critiques that build better conservation interventions with perspectives of the locals Saving Forests, Protecting People? John Schelhas, Max J. Pfeffer, 2009-03-16 Tropical forest conservation is attracting widespread public interest and helping to shape the ways in which environmental scientists and other groups approach global environmental issues Schelhas and Pfeffer show that globally driven forest conservation efforts have had different results in different places ranging from violent protest to the discovery of common ground among conservation programs and the various interests of local peoples The authors examine the connections between local values material needs and environmental management regimes Saving Forests Protecting People explores that difficult terrain where culture the environment and social policies meet Forest Certification Daniel J Vogt, Bruce C Larson, John C Gordon, Anna Fanzeres, 1999-11-29 Forest Certification examines the historical roots of forest certification the factors that guide the development of protocols the players involved the factors determining the customers to be certified and the benefits of certification It covers terminology and issues that direct the structure of standards the similarities between indicators of different human disturbances within the ecosystem landscape and certification standards It documents the roles of human values in the development of assessment protocols and demonstrates how elements should be used to produce non value based standards
