Protectionist Case In The 1840s:

The Protectionist Case in the 1840's Derek Walker-Smith,1933 The Historiography of Gladstone and Disraeli Ian St John,2016-08-03 This book traces the often sharply differing perspectives historians have formed with regard to the key incidents in the careers of the two foremost politicians of the Victorian age Gladstone and Disraeli Following the parallel careers of both men it focuses upon a series of contentious questions ranging from why Disraeli opposed Corn Law repeal in 1846 and Gladstone abandoned his High Tory politics for Peelism to whether Disraeli was ever an Imperialist and why Gladstone took up the cause of Irish Home Rule By juxtaposing the contrasting interpretations advocated by historians it brings home to students how history is a continually evolving subject in which every generation poses new questions or reformulates answers to old ones encouraging those studying the subject to realise that history is an ongoing dialogue to which they are called upon to contribute

Free Trade and Liberal England, 1846-1946 Anthony Howe,1997 The argument about the limits of Free Trade or Protectionism rages throughout the world to this day Following the Repeal of the Corn Laws in 1846 free trade became one of the most distinctive defining features of the British state and of British economic social and political life While the United States much of the British Empire and the leading European Powers turned towards protectionism before 1914 Britain alone held to a policy which had seemingly guaranteed power and prosperity This book seeks to explain the political history of this tenacious loyalty While the Tariff Reform opponents of free trade have been much studied this is the first substantial account based on a wide range of printed and archival sources which explains the primacy of free trade in nineteenth and early twentieth century Britain It also shows that by the centenary of the Repeal of the Corn Laws in 1946 although British free traders lamented the death of Liberal England they heralded under American leadership the rebirth of the liberal international order

An Economic History of the British Isles Arthur Birnie,2013-11-05 First Published in 2005 Economic History has been briefly defined as the study of material progress Economic History deals primarily with the material side of human progress but it is not therefore a materialistic study

The Fall of Protection, 1840-1850 Bernard Holland,1913 British Imperialism and Globalization, C. 1650-1960 Gareth Austin,2022 Examining the domestic politics of imperial expansion these essays question the role of the Industrial Revolution and British imperial leadership beyond the issue of hierarchy and The Great Divergence This volume brings together leading global economic historians to honour Patrick O'Brien's contribution to the establishment of global economic history as a coherent and respected field in the academy Inspired by O'Brien's seminal work on the British Industrial Revolution as a global phenomenon these essays expand the role of the Industrial Revolution and British imperial leadership beyond the issue of hierarchy and The Great Divergence The change from the protective Atlantic empire 1650-1850 to the free trade empire of the last half of the long nineteenth century is elaborated as are the conscious efforts of the free trade empire to develop markets and market economies in Africa British domestic politics associated with the change and the continuation to the recent politics of Brexit are fascinatingly narrated and documented including the economic rationale for imperial expansion in the first instance The narrative continues to the crises of globalization caused by the world wars and the Great Depression which forced the free trade British Empire to change course Further the effects of the crises and the imperial reaction on the East African colonies and on New Zealand and Australia are examined Given current concerns about the environmental impact of economic activities it is noteworthy that this volume includes the environmental impact of globalization in India caused by the free trade policy of the British free trade empire Protection and Politics Anna Gambles,1999

Examination of debate within the Conservative party over the principles of free trade The complex and troubled relationship between protectionism and Conservatism in nineteenth century Britain is the focus of this book It looks at how the developing free trade orthodoxy was challenged within Conservatism and offers new perspectives on the intellectual controversies which precipitated the Conservative party's split of 1846 and the intricate denouement of 1846-52 In contrast to traditional accounts it also seeks to explore the intellectual character of opposition to the evolving mid Victorian consensus framed around free trade laissez faire and sound money revealing how Conservatives debated key aspects of economic policy Through an exhaustive reading of Conservative journals pamphlets and contributions to parliamentary debates the author is able to expose an alternative set of ideas about the direction of British economic and social change and the role of government in moulding it Dr ANNA GAMBLES is lecturer in modern British history University of Kent at Canterbury

Politics and Trade in Britain, 1776-1914 Gordon Bannerman,2023-07-27 The period between 1880 and 1914 the subject of this volume sees increasing questioning of free trade especially in those sectors impacted adversely by foreign competition and within political circles where the notion of protecting native industries shifted from an agricultural to an industrial base There was a greater willingness especially in the Conservative party to consider it as a viable policy The constituencies or interest groups created by free trade however defended it fiercely among the Liberal party and in manufacturing industries primarily those highly dependent on export markets Debates on commercial policy in this period had another dimension which had been subsidiary in earlier periods the colonial empire and the economic political and cultural ties with it promoted The period between 1880 and 1914 was one where the language of empire was at its height and the economic relationship between the Mother Country and the colonies entered political debate in a forceful way The sources include several petitions from parliamentary papers attacking the system of commercial treaties pursued by the British government Towards this end extracts from the journal Fair Trade and a body of newspaper material detailing extra parliamentary movements against free trade from the Leeds Mercury Glasgow Herald Pall Mall Gazette and Daily Mail are also included Making the transition to the early twentieth century and the rise of the labour movement printed sources such as Fabian tracts on tariff reform as well as material from the International Free Trade Congress are incorporated The Agrarian History of England and Wales Edward John T. Collins,Joan Thirsk,2000 The unifying theme of this volume is the changing role of the countryside in national life and the impact upon it of the social and economic forces unleashed by industrialisation and the growth of towns The Factory Movement, 1830-1855 NA NA,2015-12-25
