Protein Structure And Protein Engineering Gesellschaft fuer Biologische Chemie Colloquium:

Protein Structure and Protein Engineering Ernst-Ludwig Winnacker, Robert Huber, 2012-12-06 Protein engineering has had considerable impact on basic and applied research in biochemistry and molecular biology. It is already in use as a tool in molecular biology but it is beginning to strongly influence the planning of experiments in biology everywhere and with even further reaching consequences the appointment politics in research institutions and industries. Protein engineering perhaps more than any other methods of protein analysis and peptide synthesis has shown that proteins are organic molecules governed by the universal laws of chemistry and physics. However as was the case with other new powerful methods and techniques protein engineering tempts to an exploration of its limitations and thus generates more questions than it answers. The 39th Mosbacher Colloquium on Protein Structure and Protein Engineering is not the first conference on this topic and it will not be the last. The important issues are obviously techniques of protein engineering examples of application and the basic framework of protein structure and stability within which reasonable experiments can be designed conversely also what we can learn about protein structure dynamics and folding from such experiments. Experiments in this direction aim at elucidating the folding code in the long run but help to exploit the role of individual amino acid residues in catalysis protein stability and binding specificity in selected proteins now.
