Feature Interactions in Telecommunications Systems, III Kong E. Cheng, Tadashi Ohta, 1995 In an information society heavily dependent on communications and distributed systems feature interactions are likely to become an even more important problem than they are today A particularly interesting issue given the current work on agents is whether feature interactions will be more likely in systems with many autonomous agents performing tasks The current demand for better and more convenient communications requires development of a variety of new services as quickly as possible As the number of services becomes larger however feature interactions create incompatibilities between the various functions needed to implement them In developing telecommunication systems we now spend huge numbers of person hours on software modifications and testing whenever a new function is added Much of this time is spent on detecting and eliminating problems arising from feature interaction In the future as ever more services are offered feature interactions will become a major bottleneck in the development of software for telecommunications systems This book presents opinions on the technical problems involved in feature interactions and definitions of features and feature interactions     Testing of Communicating Systems Myungchul Kim,Sungwon Kang,Keesoo Hong,2013-03-19 The aim of this book is to bring together the research of academics and practitioners in the field of communication systems testing It covers four major topic areas types of testing including conformance testing inoperability testing performance and QoS testing phases of testing including test case generation means of testing test execution and test results analysis classes of systems tested and the theory and practice of testing including test related algorithms practical testing methodology and practical testing experience
