Pseira V:

Philistor Philip P. Betancourt, Eleni Mantzourani, 2012-09-30 Contributions by 37 scholars are brought together here to create a volume in honor of the long and fruitful career of Costis Davaras former Ephor of Crete and Professor Emeritus of Minoan Archaeology at the University of Athens Articles pertain to Bronze Age Crete and include mortuary studies experimental archaeology numerous artifactual studies and discussions on the greater Minoan civilization Aphrodite's Kephali Philip P. Betancourt, 2013-10-15 The small site of Aphrodite s Kephali among several other Minoan and later sites took advantage of the valley topography in the Isthmus of Ierapetra in eastern Crete by establishing themselves along the nearby hills resulting in easy access to the natural trade route between the Aegean and the Libyan Seas A discussion of the architecture artifacts and ecofacts are presented from the excavation of this Early Minoan I watchtower The conclusions challenge some of the commonly held views about Crete in the third millennium B C It is suggested that rather than being a precursor to a socially complex state that would arise later early polities involving several communities probably already existed in the isthmus during the EM I period Social and economic differentiation existed on a regional not just a local level and decisions for mutual defense could involve collaboration by groups of workers including the building of the watchtower that is the focus of this volume

Prehistoric Crete Joanne M. Murphy, 2011-06-15 Since the inception of Minoan archaeology studies pertaining to tombs and tomb deposits have played seminal roles in our understanding of Minoan culture and the reconstruction of Bronze Age society For several geographical areas and chronological periods of Cretan history tombs are the most abundant source of data Each author in this volume takes a clear and distinct approach to the data including some that emphasize political geography on multi regional and multi scalar levels some that examine the commemoration of the dead and of the community for legitimizing purposes but also for maintaining and or creating elite positions in social systems and others that underline the overlap between mortuary rituals and religion The aim of this volume is not to present all tombs in all periods on Crete comprehensively but the breadth of these papers is intended generate a discourse not just among archaeologists working in different areas and time periods on Crete but also among archaeologists in Greece and a broader anthropological audience
