A History of Radioecology Patrick C. Kangas, 2022-12-26 This book presents a history of radioecology from World War II through to the critical years of the Cold War finishing with a discussion of recent developments and future implications for the field Drawing on a vast array of primary sources the book reviews synthesizes and discusses the implications of the ecological research supported by the Atomic Energy Commission AEC of the United States government from World War II to the early 1970s This was a critical period in the history of ecology characterized by a transition from the older largely descriptive studies of communities of plants and animals to the modern form of the science involving functional studies of energy flow and mineral cycling in ecosystems This transition was in large part due to the development of radioecology which was a by product of the Cold War and the need to understand and predict the consequences of a nuclear war that was planned but has never occurred The book draws on important case studies such as the Pacific Proving Grounds the Nevada Test Site El Verde in Puerto Rico the Brookhaven National Laboratory and recent events such as the nuclear disasters at Chernobyl and Fukushima By revisiting studies and archived information from the Cold War era this book offers lessons from the history of radioecology to provide background and perspective for understanding possible present day impacts from issues of radiation risks associated with nuclear power generation and waste disposal Post Cold War developments in radioecology will be also reviewed and contrasted with the AEC supported ecology research for further perspectives This book will be of great interest to students and scholars of radioecology environmental pollution environmental technology bioscience and environmental history

Tropical Forests: Management and Ecology Ariel E. Lugo, Carol

Lowe, 2012-12-06 Forestry professors used to remind students that whereas physicians bury their mistakes foresters die before theirs are noticed But good institutions live longer than the scientists who contribute to building them and the half century of work of the USDA Forest Service's Institute of Tropical Forestry ITF is in plain view an unprecedented corpus of accomplishments that would instill pride in any organization There is scarcely anyone interested in current issues of tropical forestry who would not benefit from a refresher course in ITF's findings its early collaboration with farmers to establish plantations its successes in what we now call social forestry its continuous improvement of nursery practices its screening trials of native species its development of wood processing technologies appropriate for developing countries its thorough analysis of tropical forest function and its holistic approach toward conservation of endangered species Fortunately ITF has a long history of information exchange through teaching like many others I got my own start in tropical forest ecology from just such a course in Puerto Rico And long before politicians recognized the global importance of tropical forestry the ITF staff served actively as ambassadors of the discipline visiting tropical countries everywhere to learn and when invited to do so to help solve local problems It is a general principle of biogeography that species turnover rates on islands are higher than those on continents Inevitably the same is true of scientists assigned to work on islands

Hviding, Tim Bayliss-Smith, 2018-05-08 This title was first published in 2000 An original and thought provoking analysis of modern initiatives in the tropical rain forest While issues such as logging eco timber eco tourism have been widely analyzed from an outsider's perspective this book considers them from the local people's viewpoint in terms of a long history of the rainforest uses The authors demonstrate that the relationship of indigenous people to the tropical forest is not essentially timeless nor is it primarily spiritual or mystical It is in fact firmly connected to modern realities while still being rooted in historical beliefs and practices Standing at the intersection of anthropology historical geography and rainforest ecology and also at the interface of the local and the global this ethnographically grounded study dispels a number of commonly held assumptions It reveals how processes of impact are actually two way interactions as local communities in Melanesia incorporate industries like logging into rapidly evolving post colonial society and economy Water and the Rainforest in Malaysian Borneo Ian Douglas,2022-01-01 This volume synthesizes and analyzes thirty years of hydrological research in the Danum Valley Conservation Area a lowland dipterocarp rainforest in Sabah Malaysia Ian Douglas explores the role of water in the rainforest ecosystem setting out the ecological climatological and geological context of present day hydrological processes soil erosion and stream sedimentation He emphasizes the role of extreme events and natural disturbances in sediment supplies and the evolution of drainage pathways and explains the pathways of rainfall and stream sediment Douglas then explores the impacts caused by logging the extreme pulses of sedimentation and the effects of log removal and logging road construction examining the effects of major storms in the 20 years after tree harvesting Methods of minimizing logging damage to soils and streams are discussed and the effects on flora and fauns are considered Earth Notes ,1991 Myth and Reality in the Rain Forest John F. Oates,1999 This book offers a timely clear headed and uniquely important contribution to conservation one that should be read by all bureaucrats scientists and others involved with development projects that supposedly benefit wildlife and wilderness George B Schaller author of Wildlife of the Tibetan Steppe Nuclear Science Abstracts ,1971 Tropical Forests Of Oceania Joshua A. Bell,Paige West,Colin Filer,2015-08-31 The tropical forests of Oceania are an enduring source of concern for indigenous communities for the migrants who move to them for the states that encompass them within their borders for the multilateral institutions and aid agencies and for the non governmental organisations that focus on their conservation Grounded in the perspective of political ecology contributors to this volume approach forests as socially alive spaces produced by a confluence of local histories and global circulations In doing so they collectively explore the multiple ways in which these forests come into view and therefore into being Exploring the local dynamics within and around these forests provides an insight into regional issues that have global resonance Intertwined as they are with cosmological beliefs and livelihoods as sites of biodiversity and Western desire these forests have been and are still being transformed by the interaction of foreign and local entities Focusing on case studies from Papua New Guinea the Solomon Islands and the Gambier Islands this volume brings new perspectives on how Pacific Islanders continue to creatively engage with the various processes at play in and around their forests
