

The background of the book cover is a black and white photograph of a forest path. The path is covered in fallen leaves and branches, leading towards a bright, circular light source in the distance, which creates a strong lens flare effect. The overall tone is somewhat somber and contemplative.

This double volume work focuses on socio demographics and the use of such data to support strategic resource management and planning initiatives. Papers go beyond explanations of methods technique and traditional applications to explore new intersections in the dynamic relationship between the utilization and management of resources and urban development. International authors explore numerous experiences characteristics of development and decision making influences from across Asia and Southeast Asia as well as recounting examples from America and Africa. Papers propound techniques and methods used in geographical research such as support vector machines socio economic correlates and travel behaviour analysis. In this volume the contributions examine issues such as natural resource and environmental management livelihoods issues in the context of climate change land markets and land trusts adaptive management of wildlife sanctuaries ground water scarcity flood hazards and flood plain management non conventional energy resources community forestry and management and land use and land cover change. The significance of these topics lie in the pace and volume of change as is reflected through continued development within established fields of inquiry and the introduction of significantly new approaches during the last decade. Readers are invited to consider the dynamics of spatial expansion of urban areas and economic development and to explore conceptual discussion of the innovations in and challenges on urbanization processes urban spaces themselves and both resource management and environmental management.
