Modern life has led to an increase in traumatic deaths such as accidents, murders, suicide, and other types of unanticipated violent death. Family members and friends grieving a traumatic death face enormous shock, numbness, and despair, as well as the need to find hope and God's mercy and grace in the midst of chaos, difficult questions, and confusion. The Christian church and faith community often do not provide appropriate pastoral care to help the bereaved overcome their despair. Jeonghyun Park explores the unique characteristics and dynamics of traumatic grief or grief in response to traumatic death and presents several approaches to pastoral care. The survivors of a traumatic death are likely to ask pastors spiritually despairing and tough questions such as: Where is God in this tragic death? If we have to accept this new reality, where can we find God's grace and mercy, power and justice? Pastors and other spiritual leaders can provide comfort to the loved ones of victims of traumatic death by assisting them with their questions concerning a helpless God and a cruel God. This book offers new insights through specific pastoral care models and guidance for families needing healing, recovery, and meaningful rituals. Current Catalog National Library of Medicine (U.S.), First multi-year cumulation covers six years 1965-70. Faithful Living, Faithful Dying End of Life Task Force of the Standing Commission on National Concerns, 2000-03-01. An important examination of the theological, spiritual, and ethical issues surrounding death. At the end of a life of faithfulness comes our dying. To approach it as faithfully as we have our living calls for some serious forethought. Because one of the simplest facts of life is that we all die, it seems like the most complicated thing we do. Not only have advances in medical technology saved lives, but they also have prolonged death and raised a number of ethical, moral, social, and theological issues. How far should we go to sustain life? Is it right to withdraw artificial feeding from the dying? Is it wrong to end the lives of those in pain? No matter who we are dealing with, these sorts of choices near the end of life are difficult to do on our own. Faithful Living, Faithful Dying: Anglican Reflections on End of Life Care brings together the wisdom of a task force created by the 72nd General Convention of the Episcopal Church to study what faithful living and faithful dying mean today. The task force's reflections, published for the first time in this book, assist individuals, congregations, and the Church as a whole to disentangle the thicket of ethical theological pastoral and policy concerns
