Restoration Of Forests:

Forest Restoration in Landscapes Stephanie Mansourian, Daniel Vallauri, 2005-08-12 This book published in cooperation with WWF International integrates the restoration of forest functions into landscape conservation plans The contents represent the collective body of knowledge and experience of WWF and its many partners collected here for the first time This guide will serve as a first stop for practitioners and researchers in many organizations and regions and as a key reference on the subject

Restoring Forests and Trees for Sustainable Development Pia Katila, Carol J. Pierce Colfer, Wil de Jong, Glenn Galloway, Pablo Pacheco, Georg Winkel, 2024 Restoring Forests and Trees for Sustainable Development utilizes a multidisciplinary perspective to analyze and discuss the various opportunities and challenges of restoring tree and forest cover It examines forest restoration commitments policies and programs their implementation at different scales and contexts and how forest restoration helps to mitigate environmental societal and cultural challenges This book explores how restoration affects forest ecosystem services contributes to biodiversity conservation and generates benefits and synergies while recognizing the considerable costs tradeoffs and variable feasibility of its implementation

A Goal-Oriented Approach to Forest Landscape Restoration John Stanturf, Palle Madsen, David Lamb, 2012-12-05 While restoration ecology has traditionally aimed to re create some putative more natural ecological state forest landscape restoration FLR has emerged over the last decade as an approach aimed more at restoring natural functions while focusing on meeting human needs With a view to exploring the practical potential of this approach this book draws together a team of experts from the natural and social sciences to discuss its success so far in addressing critical issues such as biodiversity ecological function and human livelihoods Applying principles of landscape ecology restoration ecology planning theory and conflict management the book presents a series of case studies which document the approach and discusses how the approach can help with priority setting for the future The book will provide a valuable reference to graduate students and researchers interested in ecological restoration forest ecology and management as well as to professionals in environmental restoration natural resource management conservation and environmental policy

Forest Landscape Restoration John Stanturf, David Lamb, Palle Madsen, 2012-11-28 Restoration ecology as a scientific discipline developed from practitioners efforts to restore degraded land with interest also coming from applied ecologists attracted by the potential for restoration projects to apply and or test developing theories on ecosystem development Since then forest landscape restoration FLR has emerged as a practical approach to forest restoration particularly in developing countries where an approach which is both large scale and focuses on meeting human needs is required Yet despite increased investigation into both the biological and social aspects of FLR there has so far been little success in systematically integrating these two complementary strands Bringing experts in landscape studies natural resource management and forest restoration together with those experienced in conflict management environmental economics and urban studies this book bridges that gap to define the nature and potential of FLR as a truly multidisciplinary approach to a global environmental problem The book will provide a valuable reference to graduate students and researchers interested in ecological restoration forest ecology and management as well as to professionals in environmental restoration natural resource management conservation and environmental policy

The Forest Landscape Restoration Handbook Stewart Maginnis, Jennifer Rietbergen-McCracken, Alastair Sarre, 2012-05-04 Forest loss and degradation have caused a decline in the quality of ecosystem services around the world But fixing the problem takes more than just planting trees practitioners increasingly realize that a landscape approach is essential This handbook authored and edited by international authorities in the field of forestry is the first practical guide to using forest landscape restoration FLR to repair the damage done to forest lands by poor land management practice Using research backed by respected institutions such as ITTO and the World Conservation Union IUCN it explains how to increase the resilience of landscapes and the communities they support through FLR The main aim of FLR is not to re establish pristine forest even if this were possible rather the objective is to make landscapes more resilient and thereby keep future management options open It also aims to support communities as they strive to increase and sustain the benefits they derive from land management This book explains the concept of FLR and guides the reader through the steps that must be taken to put it into practice It is an indispensable aid for practitioners in all aspects of forestry and natural resource management

Regreening the Bare Hills David Lamb, 2010-10-14 In Regreening the Bare Hills Tropical Forest Restoration in the Asia Pacific Region David Lamb explores how reforestation might be carried out both to conserve biological diversity and to improve the livelihoods of the rural poor While both issues have attracted considerable attention in recent years this book takes a significant step by integrating ecological and silvicultural knowledge within the context of the social and economic issues that can determine the success or failure of tropical forest landscape restoration Describing new approaches to the reforestation of degraded lands in the Asia Pacific tropics the book reviews current approaches to reforestation throughout the region paying particular attention to those which incorporate native species including in multi species plantations It presents case studies from across the Asia Pacific region and discusses how the silvicultural methods needed to manage these new plantations will differ from conventional methods It also explores how reforestation might be made more attractive to smallholders and how trade offs between production and conservation are most easily made at a landscape scale The book concludes with a discussion of how future forest restoration may be affected by some current ecological and socio economic trends now underway The book represents a valuable resource for reforestation managers and policy makers wishing to promote these new silvicultural approaches as well as for conservationists development experts and researchers with an interest in forest restoration Combining a theoretical research perspective with practical aspects of restoration the book will be equally valuable to practitioners and academics while the lessons drawn from these discussions will have relevance elsewhere throughout the tropics

landscape restoration FLR is a planned process that aims to regain ecological integrity and enhance human wellbeing in deforested or degraded landscapes The aim of this book is to explore options to better integrate the diverse dimensions spatial disciplinary sectoral and scientific of implementing FLR It demonstrates the value of an integrated and interdisciplinary approach to help implement FLR focusing specifically on four issues understanding the drivers of forest loss and degradation in the context of interdisciplinary responses for FLR learning from related integrated approaches governance issues related to FLR as an integrated process and the management creation and use of different sources of knowledge in FLR implementation The emphasis is on recognising the need to take human and institutional factors into consideration as well as the more obvious biophysical factors A key aim is to advance and accelerate the practice of FLR given its importance particularly in a world facing increasing environmental challenges notably from climate change The first section of the book presents the issue from an analytical and problem orientated viewpoint while later sections focus on solutions It will interest researchers and professionals in forestry ecology geography environmental governance and landscape studies Restoration of Boreal and Temperate Forests John A. Stanturf, 2004-12-28 While the commitment to protect and restore forest ecosystems has become a policy goal in many countries since the Rio Conference there is still no general consensus on what constitutes restoration This authoritative reference presents the best practices for fostering increased sustainability enhancing biodiversity and repairing ecosystem func

A New Era for Collaborative Forest Management William H. Butler, Courtney A. Schultz, 2019-01-15 This book assesses the Collaborative Forest Landscape Restoration Program CFLRP and identifies lessons learned for governance and policy through this new and innovative approach to collaborative forest management Unlike anything else in US public land management the CFLRP is a nationwide program that requires collaboration throughout the life of national forest restoration projects joining agency partners and local stakeholder groups in a kind of decade long restoration marriage This book provides a comprehensive assessment of the governance dynamics of the program examining questions about collaborative governance processes and the dynamics of trust accountability and capacity how scientific information is used in making decisions and integrated into adaptive management processes and the topic of collaboration through implementation an underdeveloped area of collaborative governance literature Bringing together chapters from a community of social science and policy researchers who have conducted studies across multiple CFLRP projects this volume generates insights not just about the program but also about dynamics that are central to collaborative and landscape approaches to land management and relevant for broader practice This volume is a timely and important contribution to environmental governance scholarship It will be of interest to researchers and students of natural resource management environmental governance and forestry as well as practitioners and policy makers involved in forest and ecosystem restoration efforts and collaborative natural resource management more broadly Large-scale Forest Restoration David Lamb, 2014-09-19 Landscapes are being degraded and simplified across the globe This book explores how forest restoration might be carried out to increase landscape heterogeneity improve ecological functioning and restore ecosystem services in such landscapes It focuses on large landscape scale reforestation because that is the scale at which restoration is needed if many of the problems that have now developed are to be addressed It also shows how large scale forest restoration might improve human livelihoods as well as improve conservation outcomes A number of governments have undertaken national reforestation programs in recent years some have been more successful than others The author reviews these to explore what type of reforestation should be used where this should be carried out and how much should be done For example are the traditional industrial forms of reforestation necessarily the best to use in all situations How can forest restoration be reconciled with the need for food security And are there spatial thresholds that must be exceeded to generate economic and environmental benefits The book also examines the policy and institutional settings needed to encourage large scale reforestation This includes a discussion of the place for incentives to encourage landholders to undertake particular types of reforestation and to reforest particular locations It also considers forms of governance that are likely to lead to an equitable sharing of the costs and benefits of forest restoration

Federal Forest Restoration Lorena McGuire, 2015 Restoration of our national forests benefits the environment and creates jobs in rural communities Increasing the pace of restoration of the Nation's forests is critically needed to address a variety of threats including fire climate change the bark beetle infestation and others to the health of our forest ecosystems watersheds and forest dependent communities The Forest Service within the Department of Agriculture and the Bureau of Indian Affairs BIA Bureau of Land Management BLM Fish and Wildlife Service FWS and National Park Service NPS within the Department of the Interior have increasingly promoted landscape scale forest restoration as a way to improve forest health Through landscape scale projects agencies can treat tens or hundreds of thousands of acres in contrast to projects commonly of under 1 000 acres Such projects must comply with NEPA by assessing the effects of major federal actions that significantly affect the environment This book examines the number of such projects the agencies have conducted and how they are scoped the actions taken by agencies to track the projects progress successes and challenges experienced by agencies and steps taken by agencies to help increase NEPA efficiency for such projects

Post-Fire Management and Restoration of Southern European Forests Francisco Moreira, Margarita Arianoutsou, Piermaria Corona, Jorge De las Heras, 2011-11-02 In spite of all the efforts made in fire prevention and suppression every year about 45 000 forest fires occur in Europe burning ca 0.5 million hectares of forests and other rural lands The management of these burned forests has been given much less attention than fire prevention or fire suppression issues but the post fire management of burned areas raises strong concerns economic and social impacts soil erosion and water quality biodiversity loss forest restoration Although there are a few publications which address post fire management the focus of these has been either on general approaches to restoration or specific topics such as preventing post fire soil erosion This book is about the post fire management of fire prone forest types in southern Europe It provides the first comprehensive overview of the topic ranging from stand level to landscape level management and from emergency actions to long term restoration approaches Forest Landscape Restoration in Central and Northern Europe Taina Veltheim,2005 Principles and practice of forest landscape restoration : case studies from the drylands of Latin America Adrian C. Newton,2011 Restoring Tropical Forests Stephen D. Elliott,David Blakesley,Kate Hardwick,2013 Restoring Tropical Forests is a user friendly guide to restoring forests throughout the tropics Based on the concepts knowledge and innovative techniques developed at Chiang Mai University s Forest Restoration Research Unit this book will enable improvements in existing forest restoration projects and provide a key resource for new ones The book presents three aspects of the restoration of tropical forest ecosystems the concepts of tropical forest dynamics and regeneration that are relevant to tropical forest restoration proven restoration techniques and case studies of their successful application and research methods to refine such techniques and adapt them to local ecological and socio economic conditions Ecological Restoration and Management of Longleaf Pine Forests L. Katherine Kirkman,Steven B. Jack,2017-09-27 Ecological Restoration and Management of Longleaf Pine Forests is a timely synthesis of the current understanding of the natural dynamics and processes in longleaf pine ecosystems This book beautifully illustrates how incorporation of basic ecosystem knowledge and an understanding of socioeconomic realities shed new light on established paradigms and their application for restoration and management Unique for its holistic ecological focus rather than a more traditional silvicultural approach the book highlights the importance of multi faceted actions that robustly integrate forest and wildlife conservation at landscape scales and merge ecological with socioeconomic objectives for effective conservation of the longleaf pine ecosystem Restoration of Boreal and Temperate Forests, Second Edition John A. Stanturf,2015-09-01 This substantially updated new edition reflects the growing recognition that large areas of forests are degraded globally This edition describes forest restoration in the context of rapid social economic environmental and climate change Covering the last decade s significant advances in forest restoration concepts and practice this edition has 16 new chapters and 19 thoroughly revised chapters This book is an excellent source of information for researchers managers policymakers and graduate students in forestry and ecology Forest Landscape Restoration in the Caucasus and Central Asia Niels Thevs,2019 This study focusing primarily on the period from the collapse of the Soviet Union until the present day identifies the key drivers of forest degradation and the potential for forest landscape restoration in the Caucasus and Central Asia The study was undertaken to support the preparation of restoration pledges in the eight countries of the Caucasus and Central Asia in the run up to the Ministerial Roundtable on Forest Landscape Restoration and the Bonn Challenge in the Caucasus and Central Asia that took place in June 2018 in Astana Kazakhstan At this Roundtable Armenia Georgia Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan and Uzbekistan committed to restore over 2 5 million ha of forest landscapes by 2030 Forest Landscape Restoration for Asia-Pacific Forests Simmathiri Appanah,2016 Ecological Restoration and Our Partners ,2013
