Restoring The Land Environmental Values Knowledge And Action:

Restoring The Land Laurie Cosgrove, David G Evans, David Yencken, 2013-02-01 This provocative book brings together scholars and practitioners from many different disciplines Philosopher and churchman farmer and feminist politician and agronomist each considers environmental issues from a unique perspective Part I explores the clash between the Western world's traditional belief in progress and development and an emerging set of beliefs based on a new environmental ethic Part II demonstrates that scientific knowledge is not always enough to solve an environmental problem indeed to a politician or a farmer expert knowledge may be less important than the attitudes of voters consumers and the community and Part III takes agricultural sustainability and the degradation of farming lands as a case study The special concerns of the farming community and the practical difficulties imposed by the rural crisis are given due weight and specific problems such as salinity are discussed in detail To create a sustainable future we must make a renewed attempt to define a human relationship with the spirit of the land By drawing together authors with many different interests and backgrounds this book makes a valuable contribution to that dialogue It will be of interest to all who are involved with land use and environmental decision making and to all readers who are concerned about Australia's future World Yearbook of Education 1998

David Hicks, Richard Slaughter, 2012-09-10 One of the central roles of education is to prepare students for the future and yet its study is often a neglected issue This work focuses on the futures field as an educational resource using case studies from around the world and on the nature of education for sustainability Resetting the Compass David Yencken, Debra Wilkinson, 2001-11-05 Resetting the Compass Australia's Journey Towards Sustainability Updated Edition sets out Australia's environmental problems in their global context and explains what is now needed to fix them It also illustrates how ecological sustainability can be achieved together with economic social and cultural sustainability The book examines the pressures on our environment from population growth consumption patterns and technological change The specific actions needed to deal with each of the problems identified are described in detail This Edition includes Assessments from the Intergovernmental Panel on Climate Change Figures related to Australia's emissions from the National Greenhouse Gas Inventory Assessments of conditions and trends from the National Land and Water Audit Estimates of the volume of vegetation clearing and new information on wind farms This book is essential reading for politicians and public servants business leaders and managers environmentalists academics and students in environmental courses and all those interested in environmental issues

Lawscape Nicole Graham, 2010-07-07 Addressing law's relationship to land and natural resources through its property regime Lawscape Property Environment Law considers the ways in which property law transforms both natural environments and social economies Futures Education David Hicks, Richard Slaughter, 1998 First Published in 1998 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informa company Endurance Deb Anderson, 2014-11-05 Endurance presents stories of ordinary Australians grappling with extraordinary circumstances providing insight into their lives their experiences with drought and their perceptions of climate change The book opens with the physical impacts science politics and economics of drought and climate change in rural Australia It then highlights the cultural and historical dimensions taking us to the Mallee wheat belt where researcher Deb Anderson interviewed farm families from 2004 to 2007 as climate change awareness grew Each story is grouped into one of three themes Survival Uncertainty and Adaptation Illustrated with beautiful colour photographs from Museum Victoria Endurance will appeal to anyone with an interest in life stories rural Australia and the environment

The Havoc of Capitalism, 2010-01-01 Havoc of Capitalism brings together an interdisciplinary community of scholars from around the world to contribute to the dialogue about alternative global futures in the current context of environmental crisis uncertainty and inequality The contributors to this book provide insight into the havoc wrought by processes of capitalism colonialism and consumption Drawing on present environmental matters of concern such as the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina First Nation perspectives on ecological colonization and the possibilities for transformation and action this book makes a timely intervention in debates about accumulated historical debts ordinary ecological crises and the challenges for sustaining social and environmental alternatives

Old Land, New Landscapes Chris Williams, 2015-01-28 Old Land New Landscapes is the story of a farming community fighting to rehabilitate land degraded by more than a century of farming Chris Williams tells of the trials and triumphs of the Sutherland family and other volunteers based around Peak Hill in central western New South Wales as they set out to restore native vegetation and create the Genaren Hill wildlife sanctuary This authoritative and engaging book is essential reading for farmers and Landcare scheme participants but will also appeal to those who enjoy reading about the Australian bush and the resourceful characters who live there

Reshaping Environments Helena Bender, 2012-10-08 Reshaping Environments An Interdisciplinary Approach to Sustainability in a Complex World draws together a team of specialist authors from disciplines including urban planning social sciences engineering and environmental science to examine the diverse influences humans have upon the natural environment This interdisciplinary approach presents multifaceted responses for complex environmental issues The book explores current environmental science theories to provide a solid foundation of theoretical knowledge Drawing on a range of case studies it develops core analytical skills for application to real world environmental issues Reshaping Environments gives environmental science students the tools and insight to comprehend the range of influences society imposes on the natural environment It is essential reading for those interested in creating a mutually beneficial future for human society and the natural environment

Education and Sustainability International Union for Conservation of Nature and Natural Resources. Commission on Education and Communication, 2002 A publication from IUCN s Commission on Education and Communication CEC this book tells the stories of people who work with communities to motivate them to create a more sustainable future The accounts range from engaging communities through theatre to a revival of indigenous stories to pass on good environmental practice The publication was produced both to share what educators around the world have learnt and to give them a platform to tell their stories Sustainable Agriculture in Print Louis L'Amour,1998-12 An annotated bibliography of current books on sustainable and alternative agriculture Entries include title author editor publisher and annotation Indexed by author and editor Includes update of current books for 1998 Sustainable Agriculture in Print ,1997 Special Reference Briefs ,1983 La Niña and the Making of Climate Optimism Julia Miller,2019-07-12 This book examines the deep connection Australians have with their climate to understand contemporary views on human induced climate change It is the first study of the Australian relationship with La Niña and it explains how fundamental this relationship is to the climate change debate both locally and globally While unease with the Australian environment was a hallmark of early settler relations with a new continent this book argues that the climate itself quickly became a source of hope and linked to progress Once observed weather patterns coalesced into recognizable cycles of wet and dry years and Australians adopted a belief in the certainty of good seasons It was this optimistic response to climate linked to La Niña that laid the groundwork for this relationship with the Australian environment This book will appeal to scholars and students of the environmental humanities history and science as well as anyone concerned about climate change Education for Sustainable Development Brian Chalkley,Martin Haigh,David Higgitt,2013-09-13 In 2005 The United Nations launched its Decade of Education for Sustainable Development which recognises that education including Higher Education is the key to the change in social attitudes that will be needed to protect the welfare of future generations This involves helping learners to live as though the future matters and to achieve ecoliteracy This includes the understanding that personal lifestyle decisions may have consequences ranging from climate change through loss of biodiversity to pollution and resource depletion that may permit environmental degradation on a planetary scale It also involves helping them to develop the skills needed to cope with such challenges This international collection of research papers and position statements from special issues of the Journal of Geography in Higher Education and Applied Environmental Education and Communication written by many of the leading practitioners in the field aims to provide resources and practical guidance for all seeking to promote and engage in education for a sustainable future Rabindranath Tagore encouraged each learner to make their actions demonstrate a harmonious union between education and environment David Orr argued that the world needs people who live well in their places to make the world both habitable and humane and that the main challenge for education is to help learners make their minds fit for life on Earth This book tries to chart a practical route towards these objectives This book was previously published as special issues of the Journal of Geography in Higher Education and Applied Environmental Education and Communication Law as Change Paul Babie,Paul Leadbeter,2014 In 2011 Professor Adrian J Bradbrook retired from a distinguished scholarly career spanning over forty years During this time he made a significant contribution to teaching and scholarship not only in property law specifically to leasehold tenancies law and easements and restrictive covenants but also to energy law especially the emerging and growing field of solar energy This book brings together those people who worked closely with Bradbrook each an expert in their own right to honour a career by critically engaging with the contributions Bradbrook made to property and energy law Each author has chosen a topic that both fits with their own cutting edge research and explores the related contributions made by Bradbrook Most unusually this collection ranges widely across property law energy law and human rights
