Restructuring Rural Saskatchewan The Challenge Of The 1990s:

Saskatchewan's Communities in the 21st Century Jack C. Stabler, Margaret Rose Olfert, University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, 2002 This report traces the evolution of Saskatchewan's trade centre system for the 40 years between 1961-2001 For assessing/classifying communities into functional categories 68 variables are used In assessing a community's status/future prospects the systematic trade centre relationships the demand thresholds required to support trade/service activities and the impact of non-systematic events such as the establishment of a manufacturing plant or mine are taken into account The relationship between infrastructure/economic development is also discussed The events summarized emphasize a continuous extension of the geographic framework within which people journey to work/shop/attend school/obtain health care and in general live their everyday lives In this process the concept of community as a functional entity has evolved from village or town to a region large enough to satisfy the everyday requirements of rural dwellers

Restructuring Rural Saskatchewan Jack C. Stabler, Margaret Rose Olfert, University of Regina. Canadian Plains Research Center, 1992 This report chronicles the changes occurring in the system of communities serving rural Saskatchewan It briefly discusses theory and method and provides an overview of the changes in the structure of the trade centre system during the past thirty years It also focuses on particular factors that may have had a greater influence in some areas of the province than others or on some types of communities than others

Perspectives of Saskatchewan Jene M. Porter, 2008-11-01 At the turn of the nineteenth century Saskatchewan was one of the fastest growing provinces in the country In the early 1900s it revolutionized the Canadian political landscape and gave rise to socialist governments that continue to influence Canadian politics today It was the birthplace of Canada's publicly funded health care system and home to a thriving arts and literary community that helped define western Canadian culture In Perspectives of Saskatchewan twenty-one noted scholars present an in-depth look at some of the major developments in the province's history including subjects such as art/literature/demographics/politics/northern development and religion It lays the foundations for a greater understanding of Saskatchewan's unique history/identity and place in Canada

Canadian Agriculture in the 21st Century Dr. Marvin S. Anderson, The Canadian Farming Community is facing numerous ongoing challenges including rapidly changing technologies the gradual erosion of the rural lifestyle growing consumer concerns about the healthiness of food and growing environmental concerns including climate change This book begins with an historic overview of agriculture in Canada followed by a statistical profile of the contemporary Canadian farm/ranch/supporting agri-industrial complex and the innumerable farm organizations in Canada The vital role of international trade and government support in the evolution of Canadian agriculture is also highlighted Resource management issues and related hot button issues e.g. climate change/GMOs are also addressed in considerable detail In addition Dr. Anderson identifies the likely trends in Canadian agriculture in the immediate years ahead Emphasizing the diversity complexity strength and vitality of the agricultural sector Canadian Agriculture in the 21st Century ultimately highlights how it effectively molds and remains integral to the socioeconomic fabric of both rural and urban Canada An underlying theme is the importance of having Canadian agriculture become increasingly ecofriendly in the challenging years ahead particularly the need to gradually adopt more sustainable regenerative organic technologies and the need to more pro actively serve as a vital CO2 sink in climate change mitigation Dr Anderson also suggests that the public should financially compensate farmers ranchers for protecting environmental amenities that accrue to everyone A complimentary theme is the need for Canadian agriculture to become increasingly sensitive to consumer concerns particularly with respect to rigorous health standards animal welfare and sustainable resource management

Saskatchewan Politics Howard A. Leeson,2001 The essays in this volume cover a broad range of topics on Saskatchewan politics including the role of the legislature and the Governor General political institutions premiers cabinets public service judiciary commissions political parties and their history and social issues the economy public finance health care reform economic development rural life demographics First Nations public welfare federal relations the media Appendices include a table of provincial electoral results 1905 99 and lists of Saskatchewan premiers Lieutenant Governors and presidents chiefs of the Federation of Saskatchewan Indian Nations

Agriculture and Rural Economy Division,1990 Embracing and Managing Change in Tourism Bill Faulkner, Eric Laws, Gianna Moscardo,2003-09-02 Examines management responses to the major changes taking place in international tourism and considers tourism itself as an agent of change Handbook Of International Food And Agricultural Policies (In 3 Volumes) ,2017-11-28 Handbook of International Food and Agricultural Policies is a three volume set that aims to provide an accessible reference for those interested in the aims and implementation of food and farm policies throughout the world The treatment is authoritative comprehensive and forward looking The three volumes combine scholarship and pragmatism relating academic writing to real world issues faced by policy makers A companion volume looking at the future resource and climate challenges for global agriculture will be published in the future Volume I covers Farm and Rural Development policies of developed and developing countries The volume contains 20 country chapters together with a concluding comprehensive synthesis of lessons to be drawn from the experiences of the individual countries Volume II examines the experience of countries with food policies including those dealing with food safety and quality and the responsibility for food security in developing countries The chapters address issues such as obesity nutritional supplements organic foods food assistance programs biotech food acceptance and the place of private standards Volume III describes and explains the international trade dimension of farm and food policies both at the bilateral and regional level and also the multilateral rules that influence and constrain individual governments The volume also looks at the steps that countries are together taking to meet the needs of developing and low income countries The volumes are of value to students and researchers interested in economic development agricultural markets and food systems Policy makers and professionals involved in monitoring and regulating agricultural and food markets would also find the volumes useful in their practical work This three volume set is also a suitable source for the general public interested in how their food system is influenced by government policies

Rural Development Perspectives, 1993 The Urban Age Fiona Colligan-Yano, Saskatchewan Urban Municipalities Association, Mervyn Norton, 1996 Changing Prairie Landscapes Patrick Douaud, Todd A. Radenbaugh, 2000 Landscapes of the Northern Great Plains have been constantly changing but never so rapidly as under modern conditions of economic affluence and technological development This change is multifaceted and has an impact not only on the fabric of culture and its perception of landscape but also on the ecology and physical landforms Multidisciplinary research has therefore become an important tool in identifying the influences that human activities have not only on cultural landscapes but on biophysical ones as well This collection of articles originating in a conference held at the Royal Saskatchewan Museum in April 2000 focuses on just such an integration of research concerning the Great Plains of North America and involving the disciplines of geology archaeology biology geography sociology and agriculture Bibliography of Agriculture with Subject Index, 1993-07

Toward Defining the Prairies Robert Wardhaugh, 2001-04-30 New ways of thinking about literature and history have radically changed how we think about or even define a region like the Prairie West In fact the very concept of defining has come into question by new theoretical approaches and it may now seem a hopeless endeavour But the process of defining can be just as important as the actual production of a definition Toward Defining the Prairies highlights recent approaches to thinking about the Prairie West Bounded by pieces from well known historian Gerald Friesen and Governor General's Award winning writer Robert Kroetsch these 13 essays are as diverse as the region itself In their examination of different aspects of Prairie history literature climate society culture and identity they help to provide a new understanding of this place and of the complexities of its definition

Great Plains Research, 1995 River Road Gerald Friesen, 1996-12-03 The prairies are a focal point for momentous events in Canadian history a place where two visions of Canada have often clashed Louis Riel the Manitoba School Question French language rights the 1919 Winnipeg General Strike and the dramatic collapse of the Meech Lake Accord when MLA Elijah Harper voted No Gerald Friesen believes that it is the responsibility of the historian to tell local stories in terms and concepts that make plain their intrinsic value and worth that explain the relationship between the past and the present For local experiences to have any relevant meaning they must be put into the context of the wider world These essays were written for the general reader and the academic historian They include previously published works many of them revised and updated from a wide variety of sources and new pieces written specifically for River Road examining aspects of prairie and Manitoba history from many different perspectives They offer portraits of representatives from different sides of the prairie experience such as Bob Russell radical socialist and leader of the 1919 General Strike and J H Riddell conservative Methodist minister who represented sane and safe stewardship in the 1920s and 1930s They explore the changing relationship between Aboriginal peoples and the dominant society from the prosperous Metis community that flourished along the Red River in the 19th century and produced Manitoba's first Metis premier to the events that led to the Manitoba Aboriginal Justice Inquiry in the 1980s Other essays consider new viewpoints of the prairie past using the perspectives of ethnic and cultural history women's history regional history and labour history to raise questions of interpretation and context The time frame considered is equally wide ranging from the Aboriginal and Red River society to the political arena of current constitutional debates

Investing in Place Sean Markey, Greg Halseth, Don Manson, 2012-08-01 The future of northern British Columbia a vast resource rich region of vibrant cultures and diverse communities could be either driven by a narrow economic agenda or guided by innovative place based solutions that seek to build viable communities and resilient local and regional economies Investing in Place is about creating the foundations for renewing northern British Columbia's rural and small town economies Markey Halseth and Manson argue that renewal is not about nostalgic reliance on the policies and economic strategies of the past rather it is about building a pragmatic and innovative vision for development one that acknowledges both the opportunities and the challenges posed by resource development and global and technological change For policy makers and residents alike the path to renewal lies in place based development which consists of people working together at all levels of the community and region to take advantage of local opportunities in a sustainable responsible way
