Restructuring Telecommunication A Study Of Europe In A Global Context:

Restructuring Telecommunications P. Curwen,1997-10-27 The first of January 1998 was the deadline for market liberalisation within the European Union which together with the passing of the USA Telecommunications Act has served to open up major markets in the Telecommunications Industry This book examines the changes that have been occurring in the industry in recent years seeking to impose a coherent structure upon a rapidly changing environment It includes case studies of the UK Germany and the USA The Privatisation of European Telecommunications Johan From,Kjell A.

Eliassen,2017-11-28 This international volume presents a comprehensive comparative study of the transformation of the European telecommunications industry from 1990 to the present The book focuses on the old incumbent operators and their dramatic change from state agencies to listed companies It analyzes the liberalization process as well as the corporatization and privatization of these companies The contributors assess the conditions for the transformations taking place the driving forces for change the effects to management the efforts of the EU during these processes and ultimately the role of the private owner Political science publications have all but excluded analysis of the newly privatized companies their contribution to the liberalization process both before and after privatization and the interplay between the national political and company levels The book redresses this shortcoming and also features a double empirical focus in that the main national incumbents in Europe are analyzed and compared to Telenor the Norwegian former incumbent The International

Telecommunications Regime: Domestic Preferences and Regime Change Juan Ratto-Nielsen,2009-12-26 This study examines the evolution of the international regime in telecommunications with the main objective of furthering our understanding of the process of regime transformation The dominant theories of international relations realism and institutional liberalism specify how states with shared interests use institutions to realize joint gains and to minimize the possibility of defection But these theories have little to say about when states will attempt to change the objectives that lead them to create the international institution in the first place The main goal of this book is to investigate and test the assumption that domestic politics by themselves can explain the dynamics of regime creation evolution and change as it happened within the International Telecommunications Union ITU Contemporary Issues and Debates in EU Policy apparatus is richly illustrated and the future prospects for further integration are examined      Cellular Daniel D. Garcia-Swartz, Martin Campbell-Kelly, 2022-10-18 Tracks the evolution of the international cellular industry from the late 1970s to the present The development of the mobile phone industry into what we know today required remarkable cooperation between companies governments and industrial sectors Companies developing cellular infrastructure cellular devices cellular network services and eventually software and mobile semiconductors had to cooperate not simply compete with each other In this global history of the mobile phone industry Daniel D Garcia Swartz and Martin Campbell Kelly examine its development in the United States Europe Japan and several emerging economies including China and India They present the evolution of mobile phones from the perspective of vendors of telephone equipment and network operators users whose lives have been transformed by mobile phones and governments that have fostered specific mobile phone standards Cellular covers the technical aspects of the cellphone as well as its social and political impact Beginning with the 1980s the authors trace the development of closed proprietary and open available to all cellular standards the impact of network effects as cellular adoption increased major technological changes affecting mobile phone hardware and the role of national governments in shaping the industry The authors also consider the changing roles that cellular phones have played in the everyday lives of people around the world and the implications 5G technology may have for the future Finally they offer statistics on how quickly the cellular industry grew in different regions of the world and how firms competed in those various markets Cellular is published in the History of Computing Series This distinguished series has played a major role in defining scholarship in the history of computing Hallmarks of the series are its technical detail and interpretation of primary source materials      Global Mobile Media Gerard Goggin, 2010-10-18 Global Mobile Media offers an overview of the complex topic of mobile media looking at the emerging industry structures new media economies mobile media cultures and network politics of mobiles as they move centre stage in media industries      Global Markets, Domestic Institutions Curtis J. Milhaupt, 2003-11-19 Markets for capital products and managerial talent are expanding rapidly across national borders yet domestic laws and practices have never had greater impact on corporate structures and cross border deals Investors pursuing high returns and diversification entrepreneurs seeking capital and managers endeavoring to restructure troubled enterprises now routinely face transaction counter parties who operate within different legal and political systems and who rank social priorities quite differently This dynamic tension between global markets and domestic institutions fuels the debate on corporate governance reform now raging in virtually every region of the world It also frames the intellectual agenda of the distinguished contributors to this volume who examine such issues as the possible convergence of corporate governance practices around the world national variations in the quality of corporate law and the fiduciary responsibilities corporate managers around the world owe to their shareholders Among the book s many insights is the contention that globalization and global markets are misleading terms because they mask the local quality of much of the activity occurring within those rubrics Case studies focus on France Germany Italy Japan Korea Taiwan and the transition economies of Eastern Europe      International Communication Daya Kishan Thussu,2018-12-27 The third edition of International

Communication examines the profound changes that have taken place and are continuing to take place at an astonishing speed in international media and communication Building on the success of previous editions this book maps out the expansion of media and telecommunications corporations within the macro economic context of liberalisation deregulation and privatisation It then goes on to explore the impact of such growth on audiences in different cultural contexts and from regional national and international perspectives Each chapter contains engaging case studies which exemplify the main concepts and arguments      Applied Welfare Economics Massimo Florio,2014-02-05 What is the effect of a new infrastructure on the well being of a local community Is a tax reform desirable Does the privatization of a telecommunication provider increase social welfare To answer these questions governments and their policy advisors should have in mind an operative definition of social welfare and cannot rely on simple official statistics such as GDP The price we observe are often misleading as welfare signals and costs and benefits for the society should be based on shadow prices revealing the social opportunity costs of goods and of changes of the world This book explains how to apply these welfare economics ideas to the real world After a theoretical discussion of the concept of social welfare a critical analysis of the traditional doctrine of welfare economics embodied in the Two Fundamental Theorems and a presentation of social cost benefit analysis the book introduce the readers to an applied framework This includes the empirical estimation of shadow prices of goods of the social cost of labour and capital the assessment of risk This book also includes the state of the art of international experience with CBA including ex post evaluation of major projects economic rates of return in different sectors and a case study on privatisation is presented This book offers a unique and original blend of theory empirics and experience The theoretical discussion clarifies why shadow prices are not virtual market equilibrium prices as they arise as the solution of a planning problem often with governments and economic agents constrained in their information and powers The empirical chapters show how to compute proxies of the shadow prices in simple ways The experience chapters draw from first hand research gained by the Author and his collaborators over many years of advisory work for the European Commission and other international and national institutions      Human Resource Management in a Business Context John Kew,John

A Tale of Two Global Cities Jonathan Rutherford,2004 Since the mid 1980s telecommunications and information technologies IT have become more intensely bound up than ever before in the social economic political and cultural processes and transformations which are increasingly concentrated in and between key strategic urban places across the globe By analysing telecommunications developments in Paris and London this book offers an explicit comparative and cross national approach to the development of urban telecommunications infrastructures and to the development of global cities through a focus on these crucial infrastructures engagement with the most relevant and recent debates and theories in urban studies geography and planning By examining differing but parallel influences of national urban and local contexts processes and practices bound up in telecommunications developments the book firmly underlines the inherently territorial basis of these developments and their multi scalar elements and implications all of which are being reinforced by the current stringent strategic retrenching of telecommunications operations around the globe

The Official History of Privatisation Vol. I David Parker,2009-01-29 This first volume of the Official History studies the background to privatisation and the privatisations of the first two Conservative Governments led by Margaret Thatcher from May 1979 to June 1987 First commissioned by the then Prime Minister Tony Blair as an authoritative history this volume addresses a number of key questions To what extent was privatisation a clear policy commitment within the Thatcher Governments of the 1980s or did Government simply stumble on the idea Why were particular public corporations sold early in the 1980s and other sales delayed until well into the 1990s What were the privatisation objectives and how did they change over time if at all How was each privatisation planned and executed how were different City advisers appointed and remunerated what precise roles did they play How was each privatisation administered in what ways did the methods evolve and change and why How were sale prices determined Which government departments took the lead role what was the input of the Treasury and Bank of England and what was the relationship between Ministers and civil servants The study draws heavily from the official records of the British Government to which the author was given full access and from interviews with leading figures involved in each of the privatisations including ex Ministers civil servants business and City figures as well as academics that have studied the subject This new official history will be of much interest to students of British political history economics and business studies
